Bonn's Upper House Approves Franco-German Treaty

Adenauer's Appeal Aids Supporters

Action Follows Three-Hour Debate In Parliament

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's upper house of Parliament approved Friday the treaty signed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle to end four centuries of enmity between Germany and France.

Adenauer made a personal appeal in the three-hour debate to support the treaty, signed in Paris on Jan. 22.

The treaty of friendship and cooperation still requires ratification by the lower house of Parliament. It will be taken up there later this month and Adenauer will have to do some hard bargaining to win approval.

Seven members of the upper house voted in favor and three abstained. The house is made up of representatives of the 10 federal states.

"We are determined to end once and for all the 400 years of rivalry between France and Germany," Adenauer said. "European union cannot come about unless the two central powers, France and Germany, reach agreement."

The 87-year-old chancellor insisted that the treaty does not interfere with West Germany's other international obligations or force it to side with De Gaulle in all matters.

The upper house was not fully reassured, however. It simultaneously voted for a resolution asking the government to make sure that the application of the treaty does not hurt West Germany's relations with its other allies, particularly the United States.

The opposition Socialists, who control four of the 10 states, sought to write safeguards to this effect into the body of the treaty. It lost out to Adenauer's Christian Democrats on straight party line votes.

The Socialist mayor of the city-state of Hamburg, Paul Neverman, openly accused Adenauer of trying to make the treaty look harmless by treating it as a mere expression of friendship. He and his party demanded that similar treaties be offered to all other European Common Market nations, plus Britain, to avoid a special Bonn-Paris alliance.

The treaty calls for the leaders of France and West Germany to meet frequently for consultations on common policies in foreign affairs, defense and culture.

The Soviet Union and the Communist bloc have condemned the treaty as the formation of a war-like axis in Europe. Some Western leaders have expressed misgivings over it, especially in the light of De Gaulle's opposition to Britain's membership in the Common Market and U.S. leadership in the defense of Europe.

Outer Space Law Aired

GENEVA (AP)—Parliamentarians from the Big Four powers, Japan, Netherlands and Czechoslovakia met here today to draw up an international law governing outer space.

The findings of the two-day study will be submitted to the International Parliamentary Union's spring assembly in Lausanne next month.

Main topics deal with the peaceful use of space, accidents and rescue of astronauts, laws governing space experiments, and the extension of international law to space.

Discrimination Ban Ordered By Archbishop

Md. Catholics Get Reminder Of Obligation

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan, spiritual leader of 430,000 Roman Catholics in Maryland, officially banned and condemned Friday all racial discrimination and prejudice in his archdiocese.

The 65-year-old prelate also urged his flock to make integration part of their personal relationships. He specifically mentioned public accommodations, housing and crime.

In a 3,000-word pastoral letter published in the diocesan weekly newspaper, the Catholic Review, Archbishop Shehan banned discrimination based on racial or social origin from all Catholic schools, churches, social organizations and charitable institutions.

A similar edict by Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel of New Orleans, in September 1961, desegregated Catholic schools of his archdiocese. Catholic schools in the Baltimore archdiocese already are integrated.

Special Duty

Archbishop Shehan said the Christian faith imposes a special duty of justice and charity toward all men and "within this household of the faith, there can be no room for racial discrimination."

"We Catholics must acknowledge," he wrote, "that we have been all too slow in the correction of our shortcomings, although in the light of the experience of many of our forefathers, we should have been particularly sensitive to the unjust inequalities suffered by other groups.

"For this reason, we have a special obligation to place ourselves in the forefront of movements to remove the injustices and discriminations which still remain."

Prominent Catholic laymen praised the archbishop for his stand.

"I am in complete agreement with Archbishop Shehan's statement," said Judge J. Harold Grady of the Baltimore Supreme Bench, former Baltimore mayor. "I believe he is a perfect shepherd of his flock."

Curran Support

J. Joseph Curran Jr. of Baltimore, Democratic member of the Maryland Senate, said:

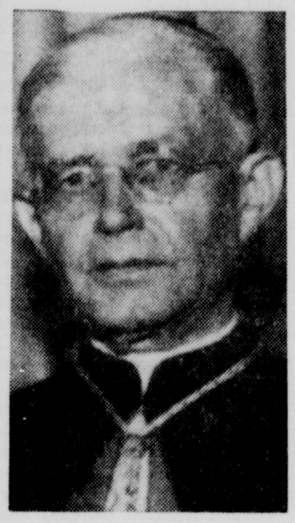

"We Catholics suffered somewhat similar circumstances not many years ago. This would be but another reason why we should certainly be in the forefront in helping those who are being discriminated against receive a fair opportunity in all walks of life."

The Baltimore archdiocese embraces Baltimore City and 9 of the state's 23 counties in the central and western portions of the state. Southern Maryland Catholics are in the Washington, D.C., archdiocese and those on the Eastern Shore in the Wilmington, Del., archdiocese.

Archbishop Shehan said he wrote the letter "in fulfillment of my own duty of conscience," adding that he felt it particularly appropriate in the year of the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

The archbishop said that "much —very much — remains to be done" in Maryland, nothing that

12 Children Are Killed In Home Fires

By United Press International

Home fires, one of them complicated by a tie-up on a party telephone line, killed 12 children and a heroic 18-year-old youth Thursday night and Friday.

Five young children and their teen-age brother who tried to rescue them perished in a fire that swept their 1½ story frame home at Sayre, Pa., Friday. All died of suffocation.

The bodies of Allen Johnston, 18, his brothers, William, 9, and Kevin, 6, and sisters, Jane, 4, and Carol, 3, were found huddled together in a second floor bedroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Johnston, the parents, who escaped the blaze with three other children, said Allen was trapped with the four children when he dashed up stairs to try to save them.

Frozen fire hydrants and nine-degree temperature hampered firemen. Firemen said the fire broke out around a chimney on the second floor.

The lives of four children were snuffed out in a fire that razed their four-room frame home about one mile south of Wardell, Mo.

Dead were Anna May Comander, 8, Bobby Jean, 6, Eugene, 4, and Imogene, 2. Their bodies were found in a bedroom where the children slept in one bed. They were the children of Mrs. Robbie Lee Commander, 35.

The mother and six other persons fled to safety.

Deputy sheriff Raymond Ings said he believed the blaze originated in a bucket placed under a leaky oil line near a stove to catch dripping oil.

The party line tie-up delayed fire fighters in reaching a fire at Ashfield, Mass., which killed four children in a 100-year-old farm house Thursday night.

The state fire marshal's office said Mrs. Barbara Zalenski, the mother, was talking on the four-party line when she smelled smoke. She dropped the telephone in her haste to reach four children trapped upstairs, and the open line prevented her three nearby neighbors from using the telephone to call firemen.

Swedes Storm Grog Shops As Strike Dries Supply

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A storm is threatening Sweden's grog shops, and many of the Swedes are storming them.

Some 370 foremen at the State Liquor Monopoly are on strike over the way their bosses figure vacation benefits.

Swedes are crowding the liquor stores to buy what they can while they can. But they can't get much and they won't get it for long.

A rationing system has been imposed—one bottle of hard liquor plus one bottle of wine per customer, as long as present stocks last.

Business boomed for Stockholm's "after hours" bootleggers despite a sharp rise in black market liquor prices. But the illegal purveyors—who normally sell you a bottle when the state store is closed—know that their chances of replenishing their dwindling stocks are slight.

A few Stockholm restaurants started rationing the "snaps" which many diners consider an essential part of their meal. Two shots is the maximum.

Beer, produced and distributed by private breweries not affected by the strike, will be available as usual. The normal consumption of beer in Sweden is among the lowest in Europe.

Small Plane Down Near Luxury Liner

Queen Elizabeth Finds No Survivors After Crash

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — A small plane, far off course and apparently out of fuel, crash-landed astern of the Queen Elizabeth in the Atlantic on Friday and plunged beneath the waves.

The British luxury liner immediately put about, but radioed the Coast Guard at Portsmouth, Va., she could find no survivors.

A stern lookout said the single-engine plane circled the ship and came in for a pancake landing in the ocean one-quarter mile off the stern at 7:10 a.m.

A Navy ship and two Coast Guard land-based planes continued a search for survivors during the day at the scene, 235 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The Federal Aviation Agency in Washington said the pilot left San Juan, Puerto Rico, on Thursday night for St. Petersburg, Fla.

Three versions of the name of the owner of the aircraft came from the FAA and the makers of the plane, but all agreed that his address was 1204 N. Linden St., Bloomington, Ill.

The FAA in Washington listed him as E. W. Harmon, the FAA in Oklahoma City as Donald William Haarman, and Beech, the manufacturer in Wichita, Kan., recorded the original buyer as Donald W. Haaman.

Miss Ora Larson said in Bloomington that the pilot probably was Donald W. Haarman, 53, who she said had flown to Puerto Rico about 10 days ago. She said he planned to return to Illinois through Florida this weekend.

A friend and business associate of Haarman for 20 years, she said he was a former Air Force colonel and retired in 1945. He was unmarried. She said they had been business associates for 17 years in a small engineering firm in Bloomington.

It was not known whether the pilot was alone in the plane.

The red-nosed Beech 35 plane was far north of its planned course and carried only a nine-hour fuel supply.

A Coast Guard C130 turboprop plane in contact with the Queen Elizabeth reported that crewmen on the liner "saw plane coming in, her prop apparently dead, headed for the water. The plane pancaked and immediately went under. Saw no survivors and was on scene immediately."

United States Proposes Aid For Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States proposed Friday a broad aid program to make the Congo a self-supporting nation now that Katanga's secession is ended.

Recommendations by a U.S. mission headed by Asst. Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, have been approved by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk and presented at the United Nations, a State Department spokesman said.

No specific aid figures have yet been worked out. Much depends on what other nations contribute. But the spokesman voiced hope that U.S. assistance to the Congo, now running about $120 million a year, soon will decrease.

Much of the outside assistance would continue under a U.N. framework in order to help keep the cold war out of the strategic Central African land.

Joseph J. Sisco, the State Department spokesman, director of the Office of U.N. Political Affairs, said the United States already has contacted a number of foreign governments in its quest for more generous Congo contributions. The Belgians, British, West Germans and others including the Japanese may contribute, he indicated.

The Congo's current economic aid need is figured at about $175 million a year.

Perryville Gets $223,000 Grant

The money, plus $228,000 in town funds, will finance construction of a sewer system.

"March Lion" Snow Storm Hits Nation

By United Press International

A "March lion" snow storm Friday closed schools and factories in winter-weary Indiana, created mammoth traffic jams on New York City expressways and touched off snow emergencies in Cleveland and Indianapolis.

Heavy snow warnings, with alerts for up to eight inches accumulation, were up for a broad area of the Northeast.

The storm grew out of predicted flurries and brought March in like the traditional lion in Indiana. Ten inches of snow hit Shelbyville, and Indianapolis and Spencer had nine inches by late afternoon.

Schools closed down and some factories sent workers home in the Shelbyville area. Indianapolis Mayor Albert Losche declared an emergency to cope with the pile-up.

A similar emergency was declared by Cleveland's safety director, John McCormick, after about three inches of snow had hit the northern Ohio city. Three persons died of heart attacks in Cleveland after shoveling snow.

The snow stacked eight inches deep in Cleveland and other northern Ohio cities by nightfall. Dayton had seven inches, Marion six inches.

Eleven cars and two tractor-trailer trucks piled up in a chain-reaction crash near Dayton and five persons were hospitalized.

Scientists Launch Giant Balloon

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI) — Princeton University scientists Friday launched a giant unmanned balloon carrying delicate instruments to make a close electronic study of the planet Mars.

The launch ended a month of frustration for the scientists, who 16 times had been forced to postpone a scheduled launching. The balloon rose effortlessly in the air.

The balloon payload carries a 36-inch electronic telescope which will rise high in the earth's atmosphere and make an infra-red study of the red planet. It will be man's first unrestricted look at Mars.

Alderman's Death Probe Continues

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police Friday night began a roundup of reputed racket hoodlums with crime syndicate ties to quiz them about alleged death threats received by Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis before he was slain Thursday.

First to be questioned was Jimmy Wilson, 41, former heavyweight boxer and aide to purported policy wheel operator Tommy Anderson, 51.

Anderson also was sought.

Police said Wilson had an alibi for the time of the slaying but would be palm printed. Authorities found a palm print on a television set in the room where Lewis was shot to death.

Red China "Hard Line" Continues

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, pressing its "hard line" attack on Kremlin policies, Friday accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other "self-styled Leninists" of talking "drivel on the question of war and peace."

The Peking Communists, spurning recent Soviet peace overtures, sarcastically charged that Khrushchev and his fellow critics of China's tough communism consider themselves to be the sole "reincarnations of Lenin."

The Chinese quoted Lenin, the father of Soviet communism, in a renewed effort to convince the Kremlin that war is inevitable unless communism is established throughout the world.

The blast came in the second installment of a 100,000-word article in the magazine Red Flag.

The first installment published Thursday charged the Soviet-bloc leaders were "cowardly as mice" for following a policy of peaceful-coexistence with the United States and its Western allies, who, it said, were mere "paper tigers" deserving nothing but contempt.

Friday's blast, broadcast by Peking Radio and monitored in Tokyo, ostensibly was directed at Italian Communist party chief Palmiro Togliatti. But in fact it was China's strongest condemnation to date of Khrushchev's policies.

The article, quoting statements by Chinese party leader Mao Tse-Tung and Lenin, immediately launched into a defense of China's contention that wars are inevitable as long as capitalism thrives.

It said there can be no peaceful coexistence between the Communist and capitalist worlds, as Khrushchev had contended, and attacked Togliatti for suggesting that the Communist bloc follow a policy of peaceful coexistence with Italy.

Bhutto Honored

TOKYO (AP) — A Pakistani delegation led by Foreign Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto was honored at a banquet in Peking Friday night, the New China news agency reported Saturday.

Bhutto arrived in Peking earlier to sign a border treaty with the Chinese government.

French Plan Thermonuclear Test In 1964

PARIS (UPI)—French sources said Friday that France plans to explode its first thermonuclear device on a South Pacific island by mid-1964 under a speed-up program to give the French an independent national nuclear force regardless of U.S. objections.

The sources said the test would involve a "baby" H-device about halfway between an atomic bomb and a true hydrogen bomb and probably would take place in the Gambier Islands, about 1,000 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Some 1,500 French technicians already were reported to be either at Mangareva Island in the Gambiers or en route there to prepare for the test which President Charles de Gaulle's government feels will speed by at least four years the time needed for France to attain full H - bomb capacity.

Previous French nuclear tests have been held at Reggane in the Sahara of southern Algeria.

Under the Evian agreement of last March ending the Algerian War, the French are permitted to use the Sahara test range until 1967. But the Algerian government has made known its hostility to further testing in the Sahara and other neighboring countries also have complained.

French sources said that in the Pacific test, the plan is to trigger their H-device with a top - secret plutonium detonator instead of the usual enriched uranium.

64 Perish As Speeding Bus Crashes, Burns

GUATEMALA (AP)—An overcrowded bus speeding to a fair turned over and burned Thursday, killing 64 persons including 16 children, police said.

The driver, who was seriously hurt, was accused of drunken driving and speeding.

Twelve other persons were hurt in the crash and 10 escaped injury. The bus had a capacity of 60.

The accident occurred near the town of Tecunuman on the Mexican border.

British Corporal Shines Russian General's Boots

LONDON (AP)—The sight of a British corporal polishing a Russian general's boots had the British writhing today.

It happened in West Germany when a group of Soviet brass visited the British Rhine army. A picture of the shoeshine hit British front pages this morning and the headlines were far from shining.

"This is military protocol gone mad," roared the Daily Sketch.

"Europe," it added, "is rocking with its biggest laugh since Mr. Macmillan stopped Princess Margaret from going to Paris."

A similar beef came from Mrs. Arthur Bradley, wife of the corporal who shined the shoes.

"I'm furious," she said.

"Arthur is not the bootlicking type.

"This is an insult not only to my husband but to the entire British army."

Mrs. Bradley said Arthur, 24, a member of the Royal Horse Guards, stands 6 foot 3 and weighs 224 pounds.

"It's a safe bet he was grinding his teeth as he squatted down at the Russian's feet," she said.

The man who got the shoeshine was Lt. Gen. I. I. Pstgyo, commander of the Soviet air force in the East zone.

The War Office said Pstgyo saw a British officer getting a shine from the corporal and asked if he could have one too.

"It was quite a normal courtesy to a visiting officer," the spokesman said.

McCone Tells Of Training For Latins

CIA Director Describes Action In Nearby Cuba

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's intelligence director says a dangerous, widespread, highly organized Communist subversion apparatus is being built around Latin Americans trained in Cuba.

Despite the gravity of the threat to hemisphere governments as described by John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, a Republican critic charged the administration "is not leveling with us."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, a member of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, complained McCone "was not very lucid on a lot of this stuff" when he appeared before the subcommittee Feb. 19. His censored testimony was released Friday.

Part Of Pattern

Gross claimed McCone's appearance was part of a pattern of "coverup of what has happened and then build up a case for giving more money to the Alliance for Progress."

President Kennedy insists that the threat of Communist subversion in Latin America never can be effectively overcome until there are effective economic and political reforms to meet the poverty and discontent on which the Reds trade. The Alliance for Porgress is the administration's chief weapon in this fight.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., the subcommittee chairman, released the testimony which appeared to consist of McCone's prepared statement and did not include the question-and-answer exchanges between him and subcommittee members.

McCone testified that at least 1,000 to 1,500 "students" from all except one Latin-American country went to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba in 1962 to receive practical training in guerrilla warfare, sabotage and terrorism. The flow is continuing this year, he added, "despite the limited facilities for reaching Cuba at present."

McCone said the trainees are organized into national units, "in effect forming a packaged cadre which can be returned to the homeland at the appropriate time to lead a 'liberation army.'" He said Cubans call the trainees "our international brigade."

Kennedy has made reference to these "students" being trained in Cuba and McCone's testimony actually contained little that has not been disclosed piecemeal before by one source or another.

Draft Vital To Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's manpower chief today labeled the draft one of the most vital elements in our national defense and asked Congress to extend it for four years.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Norman S. Paul said the Army estimates it will need an average of 90,000 men each of these years.

"It is my firm conviction that extension of the induction authority is absolutely essential for maintenance of our military strength," Paul told the House Armed Services committee.

The proposed bill also would extend for four years the present ceilings on active duty forces. If that isn't done, Paul said, the Pentagon will have to cut military strength by more than a half-million men—and "it would be impossible for our armed services to meet their commitments."

Robert Kennedy Will Not Run For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy whipped out an "emphatically not" when asked if he is planning to run for president in 1968.

But the consenus among Washington politicians Friday is that time possible could change what most of them feel is about the only reply the President's brother could make to such an inquiry at this point.

Interviewed during a limousine ride from a hotel speaking engagement to his Justice Department office, Kennedy tried to scotch some other rumors that have been bouncing around in Washington recently.

United States Proposes Aid For Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States proposed Friday a broad aid program to make the Congo a self-supporting nation now that Katanga's secession is ended.

Recommendations by a U.S. mission headed by Asst. Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, have been approved by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk and presented at the United Nations, a State Department spokesman said.

No specific aid figures have yet been worked out. Much depends on what other nations contribute. But the spokesman voiced hope that U.S. assistance to the Congo, now running about $120 million a year, soon will decrease.

Much of the outside assistance would continue under a U.N. framework in order to help keep the cold war out of the strategic Central African land.

Joseph J. Sisco, the State Department spokesman, director of the Office of U.N. Political Affairs, said the United States already has contacted a number of foreign governments in its quest for more generous Congo contributions. The Belgians, British, West Germans and others including the Japanese may contribute, he indicated.

The Congo's current economic aid need is figured at about $175 million a year.

"March Lion" Snow Storm Hits Nation

By United Press International

A "March lion" snow storm Friday closed schools and factories in winter-weary Indiana, created mammoth traffic jams on New York City expressways and touched off snow emergencies in Cleveland and Indianapolis.

Heavy snow warnings, with alerts for up to eight inches accumulation, were up for a broad area of the Northeast.

The storm grew out of predicted flurries and brought March in like the traditional lion in Indiana. Ten inches of snow hit Shelbyville, and Indianapolis and Spencer had nine inches by late afternoon.

Schools closed down and some factories sent workers home in the Shelbyville area. Indianapolis Mayor Albert Losche declared an emergency to cope with the pile-up.

A similar emergency was declared by Cleveland's safety director, John McCormick, after about three inches of snow had hit the northern Ohio city. Three persons died of heart attacks in Cleveland after shoveling snow.

The snow stacked eight inches deep in Cleveland and other northern Ohio cities by nightfall. Dayton had seven inches, Marion six inches.

Eleven cars and two tractor-trailer trucks piled up in a chain-reaction crash near Dayton and five persons were hospitalized.

Scientists Launch Giant Balloon

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI) — Princeton University scientists Friday launched a giant unmanned balloon carrying delicate instruments to make a close electronic study of the planet Mars.

The launch ended a month of frustration for the scientists, who 16 times had been forced to postpone a scheduled launching. The balloon rose effortlessly in the air.

The balloon payload carries a 36-inch electronic telescope which will rise high in the earth's atmosphere and make an infra-red study of the red planet. It will be man's first unrestricted look at Mars.

Alderman's Death Probe Continues

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police Friday night began a roundup of reputed racket hoodlums with crime syndicate ties to quiz them about alleged death threats received by Alderman Benjamin F. Lewis before he was slain Thursday.

First to be questioned was Jimmy Wilson, 41, former heavyweight boxer and aide to purported policy wheel operator Tommy Anderson, 51.

Anderson also was sought.

Police said Wilson had an alibi for the time of the slaying but would be palm printed. Authorities found a palm print on a television set in the room where Lewis was shot to death.

Red China "Hard Line" Continues

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, pressing its "hard line" attack on Kremlin policies, Friday accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other "self-styled Leninists" of talking "drivel on the question of war and peace."

The Peking Communists, spurning recent Soviet peace overtures, sarcastically charged that Khrushchev and his fellow critics of China's tough communism consider themselves to be the sole "reincarnations of Lenin."

The Chinese quoted Lenin, the father of Soviet communism, in a renewed effort to convince the Kremlin that war is inevitable unless communism is established throughout the world.

The blast came in the second installment of a 100,000-word article in the magazine Red Flag.

The first installment published Thursday charged the Soviet-bloc leaders were "cowardly as mice" for following a policy of peaceful-coexistence with the United States and its Western allies, who, it said, were mere "paper tigers" deserving nothing but contempt.

Friday's blast, broadcast by Peking Radio and monitored in Tokyo, ostensibly was directed at Italian Communist party chief Palmiro Togliatti. But in fact it was China's strongest condemnation to date of Khrushchev's policies.

The article, quoting statements by Chinese party leader Mao Tse-Tung and Lenin, immediately launched into a defense of China's contention that wars are inevitable as long as capitalism thrives.

It said there can be no peaceful coexistence between the Communist and capitalist worlds, as Khrushchev had contended, and attacked Togliatti for suggesting that the Communist bloc follow a policy of peaceful coexistence with Italy.

Bhutto Honored

TOKYO (AP) — A Pakistani delegation led by Foreign Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto was honored at a banquet in Peking Friday night, the New China news agency reported Saturday.

Bhutto arrived in Peking earlier to sign a border treaty with the Chinese government.

French Plan Thermonuclear Test In 1964

PARIS (UPI)—French sources said Friday that France plans to explode its first thermonuclear device on a South Pacific island by mid-1964 under a speed-up program to give the French an independent national nuclear force regardless of U.S. objections.

The sources said the test would involve a "baby" H-device about halfway between an atomic bomb and a true hydrogen bomb and probably would take place in the Gambier Islands, about 1,000 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Some 1,500 French technicians already were reported to be either at Mangareva Island in the Gambiers or en route there to prepare for the test which President Charles de Gaulle's government feels will speed by at least four years the time needed for France to attain full H - bomb capacity.

Previous French nuclear tests have been held at Reggane in the Sahara of southern Algeria.

Under the Evian agreement of last March ending the Algerian War, the French are permitted to use the Sahara test range until 1967. But the Algerian government has made known its hostility to further testing in the Sahara and other neighboring countries also have complained.

French sources said that in the Pacific test, the plan is to trigger their H-device with a top - secret plutonium detonator instead of the usual enriched uranium.

64 Perish As Speeding Bus Crashes, Burns

GUATEMALA (AP)—An overcrowded bus speeding to a fair turned over and burned Thursday, killing 64 persons including 16 children, police said.

The driver, who was seriously hurt, was accused of drunken driving and speeding.

Twelve other persons were hurt in the crash and 10 escaped injury. The bus had a capacity of 60.

The accident occurred near the town of Tecunuman on the Mexican border.

British Corporal Shines Russian General's Boots

LONDON (AP)—The sight of a British corporal polishing a Russian general's boots had the British writhing today.

It happened in West Germany when a group of Soviet brass visited the British Rhine army. A picture of the shoeshine hit British front pages this morning and the headlines were far from shining.

"This is military protocol gone mad," roared the Daily Sketch.

"Europe," it added, "is rocking with its biggest laugh since Mr. Macmillan stopped Princess Margaret from going to Paris."

A similar beef came from Mrs. Arthur Bradley, wife of the corporal who shined the shoes.

"I'm furious," she said.

"Arthur is not the bootlicking type.

"This is an insult not only to my husband but to the entire British army."

Mrs. Bradley said Arthur, 24, a member of the Royal Horse Guards, stands 6 foot 3 and weighs 224 pounds.

"It's a safe bet he was grinding his teeth as he squatted down at the Russian's feet," she said.

The man who got the shoeshine was Lt. Gen. I. I. Pstgyo, commander of the Soviet air force in the East zone.

The War Office said Pstgyo saw a British officer getting a shine from the corporal and asked if he could have one too.

"It was quite a normal courtesy to a visiting officer," the spokesman said.

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's intelligence director says a dangerous, widespread, highly organized Communist subversion apparatus is being built around Latin Americans trained in Cuba.

Despite the gravity of the threat to hemisphere governments as described by John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, a Republican critic charged the administration "is not leveling with us."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, a member of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, complained McCone "was not very lucid on a lot of this stuff" when he appeared before the subcommittee Feb. 19. His censored testimony was released Friday.

Part Of Pattern

Gross claimed McCone's appearance was part of a pattern of "coverup of what has happened and then build up a case for giving more money to the Alliance for Progress."

President Kennedy insists that the threat of Communist subversion in Latin America never can be effectively overcome until there are effective economic and political reforms to meet the poverty and discontent on which the Reds trade. The Alliance for Porgress is the administration's chief weapon in this fight.

Rep. Armistead Selden, D-Ala., the subcommittee chairman, released the testimony which appeared to consist of McCone's prepared statement and did not include the question-and-answer exchanges between him and subcommittee members.

McCone testified that at least 1,000 to 1,500 "students" from all except one Latin-American country went to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba in 1962 to receive practical training in guerrilla warfare, sabotage and terrorism. The flow is continuing this year, he added, "despite the limited facilities for reaching Cuba at present."

McCone said the trainees are organized into national units, "in effect forming a packaged cadre which can be returned to the homeland at the appropriate time to lead a 'liberation army.'" He said Cubans call the trainees "our international brigade."

Kennedy has made reference to these "students" being trained in Cuba and McCone's testimony actually contained little that has not been disclosed piecemeal before by one source or another.

Draft Vital To Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's manpower chief today labeled the draft one of the most vital elements in our national defense and asked Congress to extend it for four years.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Norman S. Paul said the Army estimates it will need an average of 90,000 men each of these years.

"It is my firm conviction that extension of the induction authority is absolutely essential for maintenance of our military strength," Paul told the House Armed Services committee.

The proposed bill also would extend for four years the present ceilings on active duty forces. If that isn't done, Paul said, the Pentagon will have to cut military strength by more than a half-million men—and "it would be impossible for our armed services to meet their commitments."

Robert Kennedy Will Not Run For President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy whipped out an "emphatically not" when asked if he is planning to run for president in 1968.

But the consensus among Washington politicians Friday is that time possible could change what most of them feel is about the only reply the President's brother could make to such an inquiry at this point.

Interviewed during a limousine ride from a hotel speaking engagement to his Justice Department office, Kennedy tried to scotch some other rumors that have been bouncing around in Washington recently.

U. S. Fighters Kept Close Tab On Red Planes

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—A West Virginia printing company executive related Friday how American fighter planes kept close surveillance on Russian reconnaissance aircraft that flew over the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Forrestal a week ago.

Louis A. Plank, general manager of the News Lithograph & Printing Co. of Wheeling, W. Va., said he was informed by the pilot of one U. S. plane that he had flown so close to a Soviet plane he could see its pilot waving a white handkerchief.

Plank was among a group of editors who made a Mediterranean cruise aboard the Forrestal to observe naval exercises. He said the carrier was overflown by the Russian planes off the coast of Gibralter last Friday. He estimated the Soviet aircraft was at 1,200 feet altitude at the time.

Plank also said he and the other editors were aboard the carrier U.S.S. Enterprise when it was overflown earlier by Russian planes which were not seen because of their altitude and overcast skies.

William Peeples, associate editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, said the editors were asked not to file anything until clearance was obtained from the Defense Department.

"Even if I had been able to get a story filed it would have been incomplete, because we didn't have all the details," Peeples said.

"It looks as if (Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara stole our thunder," Peeples said. McNamara made the announcements of the Soviets flights Thursday.

Negotiators Agree On New Issues

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union Friday reached agreement in principle on turning to other disarmament issues because of the deadlock in the nuclear test ban talks.

U. S. Chief Delegate William C. Foster said of the nuclear deadlock: "We want to negotiate. Unfortunately, we have found that thus far the Soviet Union does not."

Foster met with Soviet Delegate Semyon K T.sarapkin for almost two hours to plan the future work of the 17-nation Disarmament Conference. At the end of the talks, their second meeting in 10 days, a U.S. spokesman said they had reached an "understanding." The interpretation was that the Soviets have accepted an American proposal to shift the talks to the field of general disarmament.

School Principal Hanged In Effigy

CAMDEN, N. J. (UPI) —High school Principal Chester V. Koppenhaver was hanged in effigy from a tree Friday in a disagreement over mustaches.

Students are angry about a school board "good grooming" decree. It outlaws mustaches, sideburns and goatees.

Thursday about 450 students boycotted the high school cafeteria under banners proclaiming "no mustache, no lunch."

Friday only 100 students boycotted the cafeteria. It was snowing outside.

Eight Papers Resume Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Publishers of eight strike-affected metropolitan newspapers closed ranks Friday and resumed joint negotiations with striking printers despite the New York Post's decision to resume publication before the 84-day-old dispute is settled.

Union leaders disagreed about the effect the surprise move by the Post would have on the talks. Publishers said it was "unwise" and that it might prolong the strike by stiffening the union's position.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called the talks a "last-ditch" effort to end the dispute. He said he would not let them "drift on an on."

Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, the Post publisher, announced late Thursday that she had resigned from the Publishers' Association of New York City and would resume publication Monday under an agreement with strike leader Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6 of the International Typographical Union (ITU).

Powers said he thought the Post's resumption of publication would "speed up settlement of the strike."

Fuel Oil Delivered

ALGIERS (UPI) — The U. S. freighter San Angelo Victory, in another American aid shipment, Friday unloaded 1,200 tons of fuel oil in Port Philippeville for use in Algeria's industry.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State Air Transportation Survey Commission has presented Gov. Tawes a 107-page report analyzing the ills of air transportation in Maryland.

The report cited an immediate need for a publicly owned airport in Southern Maryland and improved commercial air service to the Eastern Shore, including seasonal service to Ocean City.

BALTIMORE (AP — Integrationists have announced plans to test segregation policies at restaurants along U.S. 50—the main east-west route across the Eastern Shore.

Some 100 demonstrators from the Brooklyn, N.Y., chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will meet with Maryland integrationists at Easton before beginning the tests.

An integrationist spokesman said a group would stop at the Choptank Inn in Cambridge—scene of violence during racial demonstrations last year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—More than 240 persons who took part in a five-day campaign to stop smoking attended a graduation ceremony Thursday night on the University of Maryland campus.

E. J. Folkenberg of South Lancaster, Mass., one of the group leaders, said at least 240 smokers who took part no longer smoke. Exactly how many did kick the nicotine habit will not be known until an "alumni" meeting scheduled Monday night at a Washington, D.C., hotel.

The program was sponsored by the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital of Takoma Park. Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene was told Friday that Maryland's epidemic of Asian flu is "pretty well out of the way now."

Dr. Perry F. Prather, state health commissioner, said laboratory work had confirmed that the illness which struck the state last month was Asian flu.

"A number of deaths occurred," he said, "mostly of elderly and debilitated people, the kind we had advised to receive inoculations."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles Mathias, R-Md., objected Friday to what he said was the practice of some congressmen breaking news of a contract award to his state in an effort to take part of the credit for it.

Terming the practice a confidence game, Mathias said such action carries the implication "that he is making a personal benefaction to his constituents."

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 teenagers rioted near a junior high school Thursday night after learning the main attraction was only a recreation department program and not a dance as rumored.

Police cancelled the program as the crowd increased in and around Backus Junior High School in Northeast Washington.

The youths, all Negroes, were told to leave the school and its grounds. As they left, they started fights among themselves, threw rocks, broke bottles and windows of nearby homes, trampled lawns, turned in two false fire alarms and, as one police officer said, "raised hell in general."

Reinforced police including canine corps teams finally headed the youngsters for home without making any arrests. No injuries but numerous cases of property damage were reported.

Ducks Attract Tot To River; Body Sought

ALGONQUIN, Ill. (AP)—David Ernsting, 3, fascinated by ducks on the partly frozen Fox River a few yards from his home, darted out of the house Thursday while his parents were dressing to take him for a walk.

The boy's father, Elmer, said he found the child's footprints in the snow, marking his route down the bank, across shore ice, to the edge of open water.

Today Ernsting, a well driller, neighbors and firemen continued probing beneath ice of the shallow river for the boy's body.

Plane Violation

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China charged that a U. S. military plane violated its airspace over the Paracel Islands in the South China Sea Friday, according to a Radio Peking broadcast heard here.

Police Chief's Son Confesses Killing Him

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (UPI) — A teen-aged art student confessed to authorities Friday that he shot and killed his police chief father and wounded a younger brother in a wild shooting spree brought on by his father's "nagging."

Beaver County Dist. Atty. Richard Stewart announced Friday afternoon that Walter Hlista Jr., 18, had admitted shooting his father, Walter Sr., 44, five times with the victim's own service revolver.

The district attorney said young Walter also confessed to wounding his brother, Ronald, 15, when the younger boy threatened to go for help. Ronald was in serious condition in Sewickley Valley Hospital with bullet wounds of the back and arm.

Stewart disclosed Walter Jr. made a statement in which he said he and Ronald were watching television in their Harmony Twp. home Thursday night when their father returned from a meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police. Coincidentally, Mrs. Hlista was attending a meeting of the FOP Auxiliary, but returned home later.

According to the statement, Walter Jr. said he became angry when his father told him it was time for bed. He said he went to another room, obtained his father's gun and inserted three bullets. Returning to the living room, he said he fired one shot into the back of his father's neck then shot twice more as his father fell to the floor.

Ronald ran to the basement and Walter Jr. followed. When Ronald threatened to go for help, Walter Jr. said he shot him twice.

"The boy seemed genuinely sorry for what he had done," Stewart said after announcing the confession. He said charges against the youth probably would be made Saturday.

Stewart quoted the youth as saying the father had been "too strict and nagging".

The elder Hlista, described as being a man "without an enemy in the world," had been police chief in Harmony Borough, 30 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, for the last 10 years.

Lee Mortimer Dies Of Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Mortimer, newspaper columnist and author of a series of "confidential" books, died today of a heart attack. He was 56.

Known for digging out intimate information about the famed and the ill-famed, Mortimer only Thursday night had addressed a meeting of the society of professional investigators.

He awoke this morning at his Beaux Arts Hotel apartment with a pain in his chest, an associate said, and died shortly afterward.

For about 20 years, Mortimer had turned out a column in the New York Mirror called "New York Confidential."

That label was the basis for the title of a series of books.

Police Fire Upon Demonstrators

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Police opened fire on about 7,000 mill workers demonstrating at a plant on the outskirts of Karachi Friday. At least six persons were reported killed.

Demanding higher wages, the mill workers have been forcing mills to close. Police fired when rioting broke out.

Coal Officials Give Support For Merger

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Coal officials from seven states announced Friday their support of the proposed merger of Ingersoll-Rand Co. with three mining equipment manufacturing firms.

Ingersoll-Rand attorneys introduced into testimony in U. S. District Court letters supporting the proposal.

The Justice Department opposes the merger on grounds it would create a monopoly in the industry and violate the Clayton-Anti-Trust Act. The government obtained an order restraining the merger from going into effect.

Ingersoll-Rand seeks to purchase the Lee-Norse Co. of Charleroi, Pa.; the Galis Electric & Machine Co. of Morgantown, W. Va. and a subsidiary of the Goodman Manufacturing Co. of Chicago.

Starts Monday

Hearing on the anti-trust action opened Monday before Federal Judge Louis Rosenberg. Judge Rosenberg had extended the temporary injunction until March 10. The merger was scheduled to go into effect Friday.

Attorneys for Ingersoll-Rand introduced letters from 30 coal firms supporting the merger. Other letters were from West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron, Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Workers of America.

"I believe this merger will result in great benefit to the coal industry and to the consumers of coal," Lewis said. "We wish you success in this effort."

Barron called the merger "extremely important" to West Virginia's economy. The governor said "we need strong companies to develop and produce machinery which will place our coal industry in a stronger competitive position with other fuels."

Supporters

Coal officials supporting the proposed merger included president C. J. Potter, Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Co., Indiana, Pa.; president Peter P. Ferretti, Pocahontas Fuel Co., Pocahontas, Va.; president R. K. Bogert, Badger Coal Co. Inc., Philippi, W. Va.; president W. A. Haslam, The New River Co., Mt. Hope, W. Va.; president F. X. Carroll, Virginia Iron Coal and Coke Co., Roanoke, Va.; president Herbert E. Jones Jr., Amherst Coal Co., Charleston, W. Va.

Support also was voiced by Frank Nugent, president of the Freeman Coal Mining Co., Chicago; F. Stillman Alfred, chairman of the Peabody Coal Co. of St. Louis, Mo. and H. G. Schmidt of the North American Coal Corp., Cleveland, Ohio.

French Miners Walk Off Jobs

PARIS (AP) — Coal miners walked off their jobs in virtual unanimity throughout France Thursday in defiance of President Charles de Gaulle. Uranium, iron ore and potassium miners joined the strike that threatens to spread to all nationalized industries.

The miners claim France's economy is booming and want to share in it with higher wages and shorter working hours. De Gaulle's government ordered them back to work by Tuesday or be drafted into the army. Failure of the miners to work then could mean fines and jail terms.

In the northern coal belt, producer of half the nation's coal, the strike was reported 98 per cent effective. In the Lorraine fields of the northeast, 93 per cent of the underground workers and 65 per cent of the above-ground workers went out.

The strike was weaker, however, among iron ore miners who get 30 per cent higher wages than coal miners. Reports said more than half of them showed up for work.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (UPI)—Chrisitaan Hattingh, 90, said Friday he will marry for the fifth time because "I'm lonely and besides a man is as old as he feels and I don't feel 90." He met his bride-to-be, Mrs. Lily Roodt, 54, in the old folks, home where he lives.

Open Space Discussion Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal and local government officials in the greater Washington area will meet here Wednesday to discuss open space and park land plans.

The meeting is expected to serve as a first step toward identifying promising opportunities for federal-local cooperation in acquisition of open space and park land.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Charles Horsky, advisor to President Kennedy on national capital affairs, have invited to the meeting planning and zoning officials and members of the governing boards of: Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in Maryland; the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church and the counties of Arlington, Fairfax, Loudoun and Prince William in Virginia; and the District of Columbia.

Udall notde that President Kennedy has expressed "concern that wise and farsighted land - use planning be followed in the national capital region so that Washington and its environs will continue to be a place of unusual scenic beauty—a region that attracts national pride and interest."

Parolee Admits Killing Girl

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A slender young reformatory parolee confessed Friday he killed a pretty 15-year-old baby-sitter in a wooded lovers lane area near famed Minnehaha Falls.

Ronald Leroy Steeves, 19, who had blamed an 18-year-old companion for the killing in questioning Thursday night, changed his story Friday after detectives took him to the scene of the slaying, police Chief Pat Walling said.

Mary Louise Bell, described by a former teacher as a "lovely girl," was lured from a baby sitting job and beaten and slashed to death in Minnehaha Park early Thursday—only a few hours after she had gone to Ash Wednesday services.

Pipe-Smoking Woman Marks 90th Birthday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)— Pipe-smoking Rose Yockers, just tturned 90, says she "don't hold much stock" in the commonly held notions of how to reach a ripe old age.

"I've smoked practically all my life, and I'd never advise against it," she says, puffing on her favorite pipe.

She likes a nip of brandy now and then, too. "The doctor advises it," she told a reporter.

Mrs. Yockers, a widow, observed her 90th birthday Wednesday in a home for the aged, where she spends most of her time in a rocking chair.

McCone Tells

tified, said he did not even go to the meeting to hear McCone because he regards such a briefing as an exercise in futility. He added he has practiced such absenteeism for years so he would not be bound to hold in confidence information he might develop from other sources.

McCone's testimony and the reaction to it served to dramatize anew how the focus of congressional concern over Cuba has shifted to the subversion peril and away from talk of a direct military threat to the United States from the presence in Cuba of Soviet military peronnel—now officially estimated at around 17,000.

Goldwater Comment

For example, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who often has lambasted the administration for not clearing Soviet military personnel out of Cuba, had this to say of McCone's report:

"I am not too disturbed about the military equipment installed in Cuba. They could load the island down with enough stuff of its kind to sink it without becoming a military threat to us.

"But the training of 1,000 to 1,500 Latin Americans in sabotage and guerrilla tactics presents great danger. We must be in the position where we regard any Communist attack on any hemisphere country as an attack on us."

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said the activity described by McCone is "highly dangerous for the hemisphere. This only serves to make it clear again that we have got to get rid of the Communist stronghold in Cuba."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., whose Senate Preparedness subcommittee is investigating the Cuban situation, said, "I'm not surprised. It adds to the over-all problem and clearly illustrates what to expect in the future."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said McCone's testimony should stimulate efforts to "get the other Latin-American countries to join hands in as tight an economic blockade of Cuba as possible, and to do all they can to prevent their people from going to Cuba. I would think the Organization of American States would be very willing."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said a report from the OAS itself has made clear that classes in subversion and sabotage are under way. "We've got to tighten down against commerce to Cuba," Lausche said.

Cowboy Singer Hamblen Shoots Black Panther

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — "Shucks, I can get it."

Cowboy singer Stuart Hamblen made that comment to his wife Friday morning when they heard a radio news broadcast about a search for a potentially dangerous black panther that escaped from its cage at Jungleland, a private zoo.

Friday afternoon Hamblen shot the hunted animal after his specially trained dogs rousted it out from under a building on the grounds of the Jungleland compound. The wounded panther ran under another building where more shots were fired and its body was dragged out a half-hour after first being sighted.

The 60-pound, 2-year-old panther escaped from its cage Thursday morning and apparently had kept hidden within the zoo grounds while sheriff's deputies and professional trackers searched nearby hills.

Animal handlers at Jungleland had described the animal as potentially dangerous and residents of the area not far from the heavily populated Los Angeles suburbs were warned to "keep the children in the house."

Authorities explained the panther was normally afraid of people, but that it could become dangerous if cornered — and advised searchers to shoot the animal on sight. Brought to this country from Thailand three weeks ago, the panther was valued at $2,000.

Flight From Havana Scheduled Tuesday

HAVANA (AP)—The Swiss Embassy has scheduled the next repatriation flight of Americans for next Tuesday, an embassy source said today.

Some 100 persons, including immediate Cuban relatives of repatriates, are scheduled to return home that day.

Cuban authorities earlier this week lifted a ban on repatriation, but there has been no time to complete all formalities, the informant said.

Soviet Denies Jamming Red China Radio

MOSCOW (AP)—An official denied today that the Soviet Union is jamming broadcasts from Communist China.

The official, Sergei Romanovsky, chief of the Cultural Relations Department, said at a news conference, "There must be a misunderstanding."

He made the comment after a newsman advised him of Peking's allegation that the Soviets were jamming their broadcasts. Such a report Romanovsky said, was not correct.

He added, "We jam individual broadcasts—Voice of America, the BBC and some other anti-Soviet programs such as Radio Free Europe."

Pa. Cafeteria Worker Dies Of Meningitis

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP)—The death of a junior high school cafeteria worker of meningitis touched off extensive medical activity here Friday.

Mrs. Leah Deitrick, 43, Waynesboro, died at 5:20 p.m. EST, Thursday afternoon in the nearby Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown, Md. She had worked at her job as a server in the East Junior High School cafeteria the day before.

As soon as the hospital diagnosed the cause of death it notified Waynesboro and Pennsylvania State medical authorities. Meningitis is a highly contagious, fast-acting blood infection.

Dr. Robert S. Baylor, Waynesboro school physician, and Dr. Walter L. Wolfinger, Mrs. Deitrick's physican and former school doctor, immediately began a program of disinfecting the school area where Mrs. Deitrick had been.

The State Health Department advised the school's 525 pupils to consult immediately with their family physicians. It recommended the pupils be given a preventive anti biotic to head off any possibility of contraction of the disease.

Thursday night teams of school maintenance workers spent five hours scrubbing down the cafeteria area with soapy 185-degree water.

Mrs. Deitrick's husband, Joseph M. Deitrick, said his wife had complained of chills and fever late Wednesday. He discovered her in a coma Thursday. She was taken to Hagerstown because the Waynesboro Hospital was filled to capacity.

Per capita beer consumption in the United States surpasses 18 gallons annually.

U. S. Fighters Kept Close Tab On Red Planes

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—A West Virginia printing company executive related Friday how American fighter planes kept close surveillance on Russian reconnaissance aircraft that flew over the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Forrestal a week ago.

Louis A. Plank, general manager of the News Lithograph & Printing Co. of Wheeling, W. Va., said he was informed by the pilot of one U. S. plane that he had flown so close to a Soviet plane he could see its pilot waving a white handkerchief.

Plank was among a group of editors who made a Mediterranean cruise aboard the Forrestal to observe naval exercises. He said the carrier was overflown by the Russian planes off the coast of Gibralter last Friday. He estimated the Soviet aircraft was at 1,200 feet altitude at the time.

Plank also said he and the other editors were aboard the carrier U.S.S. Enterprise when it was overflown earlier by Russian planes which were not seen because of their altitude and overcast skies.

William Peeples, associate editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, said the editors were asked not to file anything until clearance was obtained from the Defense Department.

"Even if I had been able to get a story filed it would have been incomplete, because we didn't have all the details," Peeples said.

"It looks as if (Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara stole our thunder," Peeples said. McNamara made the announcements of the Soviets flights Thursday.

Other newspapermen on the cruise were Edwin J. Paxton Jr., editor, Sun-Democrat, Paducah, Ky.; Harry E. Riser, managing editor, Lexington Herald, Lexington, Ky.; Thomas Hale Hawkins, editor, Lewisburg, Tenn., Tribune; William A. Klutts, editor, Lauderdale County Enterprise, Ripley, Tenn. and Sam Neal, editor, Carthage, Tenn., Courier.

Negotiators Agree On New Issues

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union Friday reached agreement in principle on turning to other disarmament issues because of the deadlock in the nuclear test ban talks.

U. S. Chief Delegate William C. Foster said of the nuclear deadlock: "We want to negotiate. Unfortunately, we have found that thus far the Soviet Union does not."

Foster met with Soviet Delegate Semyon K T.sarapkin for almost two hours to plan the future work of the 17-nation Disarmament Conference. At the end of the talks, their second meeting in 10 days, a U.S. spokesman said they had reached an "understanding." The interpretation was that the Soviets have accepted an American proposal to shift the talks to the field of general disarmament.

School Principal Hanged In Effigy

CAMDEN, N. J. (UPI) —High school Principal Chester V. Koppenhaver was hanged in effigy from a tree Friday in a disagreement over mustaches.

Students are angry about a school board "good grooming" decree. It outlaws mustaches, sideburns and goatees.

Thursday about 450 students boycotted the high school cafeteria under banners proclaiming "no mustache, no lunch."

Friday only 100 students boycotted the cafeteria. It was snowing outside.

Eight Papers Resume Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Publishers of eight strike-affected metropolitan newspapers closed ranks Friday and resumed joint negotiations with striking printers despite the New York Post's decision to resume publication before the 84-day-old dispute is settled.

Union leaders disagreed about the effect the surprise move by the Post would have on the talks. Publishers said it was "unwise" and that it might prolong the strike by stiffening the union's position.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called the talks a "last-ditch" effort to end the dispute. He said he would not let them "drift on an on."

Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, the Post publisher, announced late Thursday that she had resigned from the Publishers' Association of New York City and would resume publication Monday under an agreement with strike leader Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6 of the International Typographical Union (ITU).

Powers said he thought the Post's resumption of publication would "speed up settlement of the strike."

Fuel Oil Delivered

ALGIERS (UPI) — The U. S. freighter San Angelo Victory, in another American aid shipment, Friday unloaded 1,200 tons of fuel oil in Port Philippeville for use in Algeria's industry.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State Air Transportation Survey Commission has presented Gov. Tawes a 107-page report analyzing the ills of air transportation in Maryland.

The report cited an immediate need for a publicly owned airport in Southern Maryland and improved commercial air service to the Eastern Shore, including seasonal service to Ocean City.

BALTIMORE (AP — Integrationists have announced plans to test segregation policies at restaurants along U.S. 50—the main east-west route across the Eastern Shore.

Some 100 demonstrators from the Brooklyn, N.Y., chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will meet with Maryland integrationists at Easton before beginning the tests.

An integrationist spokesman said a group would stop at the Choptank Inn in Cambridge—scene of violence during racial demonstrations last year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—More than 240 persons who took part in a five-day campaign to stop smoking attended a graduation ceremony Thursday night on the University of Maryland campus.

E. J. Folkenberg of South Lancaster, Mass., one of the group leaders, said at least 240 smokers who took part no longer smoke. Exactly how many did kick the nicotine habit will not be known until an "alumni" meeting scheduled Monday night at a Washington, D.C., hotel.

The program was sponsored by the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital of Takoma Park. Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene was told Friday that Maryland's epidemic of Asian flu is "pretty well out of the way now."

Dr. Perry F. Prather, state health commissioner, said laboratory work had confirmed that the illness which struck the state last month was Asian flu.

"A number of deaths occurred," he said, "mostly of elderly and debilitated people, the kind we had advised to receive inoculations."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles Mathias, R-Md., objected Friday to what he said was the practice of some congressmen breaking news of a contract award to his state in an effort to take part of the credit for it.

Terming the practice a confidence game, Mathias said such action carries the implication "that he is making a personal benefaction to his constituents."

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 teenagers rioted near a junior high school Thursday night after learning the main attraction was only a recreation department program and not a dance as rumored.

Police cancelled the program as the crowd increased in and around Backus Junior High School in Northeast Washington.

The youths, all Negroes, were told to leave the school and its grounds. As they left, they started fights among themselves, threw rocks, broke bottles and windows of nearby homes, trampled lawns, turned in two false fire alarms and, as one police officer said, "raised hell in general."

Reinforced police including canine corps teams finally headed the youngsters for home without making any arrests. No injuries but numerous cases of property damage were reported.

Ducks Attract Tot To River; Body Sought

ALGONQUIN, Ill. (AP)—David Ernsting, 3, fascinated by ducks on the partly frozen Fox River a few yards from his home, darted out of the house Thursday while his parents were dressing to take him for a walk.

The boy's father, Elmer, said he found the child's footprints in the snow, marking his route down the bank, across shore ice, to the edge of open water.

Today Ernsting, a well driller, neighbors and firemen continued probing beneath ice of the shallow river for the boy's body.

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China charged that a U. S. military plane violated its airspace over the Paracel Islands in the South China Sea Friday, according to a Radio Peking broadcast heard here.

Police Chief's Son Confesses Killing Him

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (UPI) — A teen-aged art student confessed to authorities Friday that he shot and killed his police chief father and wounded a younger brother in a wild shooting spree brought on by his father's "nagging."

Beaver County Dist. Atty. Richard Stewart announced Friday afternoon that Walter Hlista Jr., 18, had admitted shooting his father, Walter Sr., 44, five times with the victim's own service revolver.

The district attorney said young Walter also confessed to wounding his brother, Ronald, 15, when the younger boy threatened to go for help. Ronald was in serious condition in Sewickley Valley Hospital with bullet wounds of the back and arm.

Stewart disclosed Walter Jr. made a statement in which he said he and Ronald were watching television in their Harmony Twp. home Thursday night when their father returned from a meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police. Coincidentally, Mrs. Hlista was attending a meeting of the FOP Auxiliary, but returned home later.

According to the statement, Walter Jr. said he became angry when his father told him it was time for bed. He said he went to another room, obtained his father's gun and inserted three bullets. Returning to the living room, he said he fired one shot into the back of his father's neck then shot twice more as his father fell to the floor.

Ronald ran to the basement and Walter Jr. followed. When Ronald threatened to go for help, Walter Jr. said he shot him twice.

"The boy seemed genuinely sorry for what he had done," Stewart said after announcing the confession. He said charges against the youth probably would be made Saturday.

Stewart quoted the youth as saying the father had been "too strict and nagging".

The elder Hlista, described as being a man "without an enemy in the world," had been police chief in Harmony Borough, 30 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, for the last 10 years.

Lee Mortimer Dies Of Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Mortimer, newspaper columnist and author of a series of "confidential" books, died today of a heart attack. He was 56.

Known for digging out intimate information about the famed and the ill-famed, Mortimer only Thursday night had addressed a meeting of the society of professional investigators.

He awoke this morning at his Beaux Arts Hotel apartment with a pain in his chest, an associate said, and died shortly afterward.

For about 20 years, Mortimer had turned out a column in the New York Mirror called "New York Confidential."

That label was the basis for the title of a series of books.

Police Fire Upon Demonstrators

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Police opened fire on about 7,000 mill workers demonstrating at a plant on the outskirts of Karachi Friday. At least six persons were reported killed.

Demanding higher wages, the mill workers have been forcing mills to close. Police fired when rioting broke out.

Coal Officials Give Support For Merger

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Coal officials from seven states announced Friday their support of the proposed merger of Ingersoll-Rand Co. with three mining equipment manufacturing firms.

Ingersoll-Rand attorneys introduced into testimony in U. S. District Court letters supporting the proposal.

The Justice Department opposes the merger on grounds it would create a monopoly in the industry and violate the Clayton-Anti-Trust Act. The government obtained an order restraining the merger from going into effect.

Ingersoll-Rand seeks to purchase the Lee-Norse Co. of Charleroi, Pa.; the Galis Electric & Machine Co. of Morgantown, W. Va. and a subsidiary of the Goodman Manufacturing Co. of Chicago.

Starts Monday

Hearing on the anti-trust action opened Monday before Federal Judge Louis Rosenberg. Judge Rosenberg had extended the temporary injunction until March 10. The merger was scheduled to go into effect Friday.

Attorneys for Ingersoll-Rand introduced letters from 30 coal firms supporting the merger. Other letters were from West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron, Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Workers of America.

"I believe this merger will result in great benefit to the coal industry and to the consumers of coal," Lewis said. "We wish you success in this effort."

Barron called the merger "extremely important" to West Virginia's economy. The governor said "we need strong companies to develop and produce machinery which will place our coal industry in a stronger competitive position with other fuels."

Supporters

Coal officials supporting the proposed merger included president C. J. Potter, Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Co., Indiana, Pa.; president Peter P. Ferretti, Pocahontas Fuel Co., Pocahontas, Va.; president R. K. Bogert, Badger Coal Co. Inc., Philippi, W. Va.; president W. A. Haslam, The New River Co., Mt. Hope, W. Va.; president F. X. Carroll, Virginia Iron Coal and Coke Co., Roanoke, Va.; president Herbert E. Jones Jr., Amherst Coal Co., Charleston, W. Va.

Support also was voiced by Frank Nugent, president of the Freeman Coal Mining Co., Chicago; F. Stillman Alfred, chairman of the Peabody Coal Co. of St. Louis, Mo. and H. G. Schmidt of the North American Coal Corp., Cleveland, Ohio.

French Miners Walk Off Jobs

PARIS (AP) — Coal miners walked off their jobs in virtual unanimity throughout France Thursday in defiance of President Charles de Gaulle. Uranium, iron ore and potassium miners joined the strike that threatens to spread to all nationalized industries.

The miners claim France's economy is booming and want to share in it with higher wages and shorter working hours. De Gaulle's government ordered them back to work by Tuesday or be drafted into the army. Failure of the miners to work then could mean fines and jail terms.

In the northern coal belt, producer of half the nation's coal, the strike was reported 98 per cent effective. In the Lorraine fields of the northeast, 93 per cent of the underground workers and 65 per cent of the above-ground workers went out.

The strike was weaker, however, among iron ore miners who get 30 per cent higher wages than coal miners. Reports said more than half of them showed up for work.

a public accommodations bill before the legislature has been emasculated by exempting 11 counties.

He condemned the "unreasonable and automatic panic . . . which accompanies the arrival of a Negro family in an area previously occupied by white families only."

Saying that no one group of people has a monopoly on the sources or causes of crime, Archbishop Shehan said solutions for crime are a community concern and continued division between the "chief groups of our citizens" will not help to meet such problems.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (UPI)—Chrisitaan Hattingh, 90, said Friday he will marry for the fifth time because "I'm lonely and besides a man is as old as he feels and I don't feel 90." He met his bride-to-be, Mrs. Lily Roodt, 54, in the old folks, home where he lives.

Open Space Discussion Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal and local government officials in the greater Washington area will meet here Wednesday to discuss open space and park land plans.

The meeting is expected to serve as a first step toward identifying promising opportunities for federal-local cooperation in acquisition of open space and park land.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Charles Horsky, advisor to President Kennedy on national capital affairs, have invited to the meeting planning and zoning officials and members of the governing boards of: Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in Maryland; the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church and the counties of Arlington, Fairfax, Loudoun and Prince William in Virginia; and the District of Columbia.

Udall notde that President Kennedy has expressed "concern that wise and farsighted land - use planning be followed in the national capital region so that Washington and its environs will continue to be a place of unusual scenic beauty—a region that attracts national pride and interest."

Parolee Admits Killing Girl

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A slender young reformatory parolee confessed Friday he killed a pretty 15-year-old baby-sitter in a wooded lovers lane area near famed Minnehaha Falls.

Ronald Leroy Steeves, 19, who had blamed an 18-year-old companion for the killing in questioning Thursday night, changed his story Friday after detectives took him to the scene of the slaying, police Chief Pat Walling said.

Mary Louise Bell, described by a former teacher as a "lovely girl," was lured from a baby sitting job and beaten and slashed to death in Minnehaha Park early Thursday—only a few hours after she had gone to Ash Wednesday services.

Pipe-Smoking Woman Marks 90th Birthday

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)— Pipe-smoking Rose Yockers, just tturned 90, says she "don't hold much stock" in the commonly held notions of how to reach a ripe old age.

"I've smoked practically all my life, and I'd never advise against it," she says, puffing on her favorite pipe.

She likes a nip of brandy now and then, too. "The doctor advises it," she told a reporter.

Mrs. Yockers, a widow, observed her 90th birthday Wednesday in a home for the aged, where she spends most of her time in a rocking chair.

tified, said he did not even go to the meeting to hear McCone because he regards such a briefing as an exercise in futility. He added he has practiced such absenteeism for years so he would not be bound to hold in confidence information he might develop from other sources.

McCone's testimony and the reaction to it served to dramatize anew how the focus of congressional concern over Cuba has shifted to the subversion peril and away from talk of a direct military threat to the United States from the presence in Cuba of Soviet military peronnel—now officially estimated at around 17,000.

Goldwater Comment

For example, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who often has lambasted the administration for not clearing Soviet military personnel out of Cuba, had this to say of McCone's report:

"I am not too disturbed about the military equipment installed in Cuba. They could load the island down with enough stuff of its kind to sink it without becoming a military threat to us.

"But the training of 1,000 to 1,500 Latin Americans in sabotage and guerrilla tactics presents great danger. We must be in the position where we regard any Communist attack on any hemisphere country as an attack on us."

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said the activity described by McCone is "highly dangerous for the hemisphere. This only serves to make it clear again that we have got to get rid of the Communist stronghold in Cuba."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., whose Senate Preparedness subcommittee is investigating the Cuban situation, said, "I'm not surprised. It adds to the over-all problem and clearly illustrates what to expect in the future."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said McCone's testimony should stimulate efforts to "get the other Latin-American countries to join hands in as tight an economic blockade of Cuba as possible, and to do all they can to prevent their people from going to Cuba. I would think the Organization of American States would be very willing."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said a report from the OAS itself has made clear that classes in subversion and sabotage are under way. "We've got to tighten down against commerce to Cuba," Lausche said.

Cowboy Singer Hamblen Shoots Black Panther

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — "Shucks, I can get it."

Cowboy singer Stuart Hamblen made that comment to his wife Friday morning when they heard a radio news broadcast about a search for a potentially dangerous black panther that escaped from its cage at Jungleland, a private zoo.

Friday afternoon Hamblen shot the hunted animal after his specially trained dogs rousted it out from under a building on the grounds of the Jungleland compound. The wounded panther ran under another building where more shots were fired and its body was dragged out a half-hour after first being sighted.

The 60-pound, 2-year-old panther escaped from its cage Thursday morning and apparently had kept hidden within the zoo grounds while sheriff's deputies and professional trackers searched nearby hills.

Animal handlers at Jungleland had described the animal as potentially dangerous and residents of the area not far from the heavily populated Los Angeles suburbs were warned to "keep the children in the house."

Authorities explained the panther was normally afraid of people, but that it could become dangerous if cornered — and advised searchers to shoot the animal on sight. Brought to this country from Thailand three weeks ago, the panther was valued at $2,000.

Flight From Havana Scheduled Tuesday

HAVANA (AP)—The Swiss Embassy has scheduled the next repatriation flight of Americans for next Tuesday, an embassy source said today.

Some 100 persons, including immediate Cuban relatives of repatriates, are scheduled to return home that day.

Cuban authorities earlier this week lifted a ban on repatriation, but there has been no time to complete all formalities, the informant said.

Soviet Denies Jamming Red China Radio

MOSCOW (AP)—An official denied today that the Soviet Union is jamming broadcasts from Communist China.

The official, Sergei Romanovsky, chief of the Cultural Relations Department, said at a news conference, "There must be a misunderstanding."

He made the comment after a newsman advised him of Peking's allegation that the Soviets were jamming their broadcasts. Such a report Romanovsky said, was not correct.

He added, "We jam individual broadcasts—Voice of America, the BBC and some other anti-Soviet programs such as Radio Free Europe."

Mrs. Johnson Proposes National Crafts Center

By HELEN THOMAS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Friday proposed that a national center be set up in Washington to show off and sell "the best of American handicrafts."

The wife of the vice president made these suggestions at the West Virginia State Democratic Women's Dinner where she was a guest speaker.

"Certainly a national showplace for the fine arts and crafts of people from Hawaii to Maine should be a major attraction," she said.

"I would hope one day that we might have a national craft center in Washington," she added, "where tourists to the USA — which all government is anxious to attract — would be able to see the best of American handicraft on display and on sale."

The second lady of the land said she hit upon the idea from her world travels where she has visited many handicraft centers.

"Most of the capitals we had visited had begun, and some had developed to an exceptional degree, cottage industries or handicraft centers where ancient skills are finding a tourist market," she said.

She noted that West Virginia is opening such a center for native products in the state capitol in March and said it would "mean a great deal in boosting tourism."

She pointed out that most crafts can be done at home, "part time and piece meal" and said it was one of the answers for young mothers and older women who must remain in the home.

Her appearance before the Democratic women was the culmination of a full and "rewarding" day of visiting projects in the Charleston area aimed lifting the lagging economy.

She turned the first spade full of dirt to dedicate a new library site in nearby St. Albans where the whole town and all the children had turned out.

She also visited the Food Machinery Corp. plant and handed out certificates to 230 men who have learned new skills under job retraining programs.

In the afternoon she visited a hospital, witnessed a simulated operation and talked to the student surgical technichians who are in training there.

Her tour was arranged by the ARA and she came as a personal representative from Washington to observe the projects which are being carried out with matching federal funds to make more jobs for West Virginians.

She planned to return to Washington Friday night.

Mrs. Johnson Proposes National Crafts Center

By HELEN THOMAS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Friday proposed that a national center be set up in Washington to show off and sell "the best of American handicrafts."

The wife of the vice president made these suggestions at the West Virginia State Democratic Women's Dinner where she was a guest speaker.

"Certainly a national showplace for the fine arts and crafts of people from Hawaii to Maine should be a major attraction," she said.

"I would hope one day that we might have a national craft center in Washington," she added, "where tourists to the USA — which all government is anxious to attract — would be able to see the best of American handicraft on display and on sale."

The second lady of the land said she hit upon the idea from her world travels where she has visited many handicraft centers.

"Most of the capitals we had visited had begun, and some had developed to an exceptional degree, cottage industries or handicraft centers where ancient skills are finding a tourist market," she said.

She noted that West Virginia is opening such a center for native products in the state capitol in March and said it would "mean a great deal in boosting tourism."

She pointed out that most crafts can be done at home, "part time and piece meal" and said it was one of the answers for young mothers and older women who must remain in the home.

Her appearance before the Democratic women was the culmination of a full and "rewarding" day of visiting projects in the Charleston area aimed lifting the lagging economy.

She turned the first spade full of dirt to dedicate a new library site in nearby St. Albans where the whole town and all the children had turned out.

She also visited the Food Machinery Corp. plant and handed out certificates to 230 men who have learned new skills under job retraining programs.

In the afternoon she visited a hospital, witnessed a simulated operation and talked to the student surgical technichians who are in training there.

Her tour was arranged by the ARA and she came as a personal representative from Washington to observe the projects which are being carried out with matching federal funds to make more jobs for West Virginians.

She planned to return to Washington Friday night.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Proportion Your Clothes To Your Figure

If you've always yearned to be taller or shorter, broader-shouldered or smaller-boned, stop yearning and start learning the ways that will make you appear so. You'll start looking taller (if that's your desire) the moment you start wearing only those clothes that are in proportion to your figure.

This means you extra-tall, slim girls won't be tempted by peaked crowns, knife pleats and princess waistlines. They'll only make you appear taller and slimmer.

That doesn't mean you shorties (5'3" or under) can whip out and choose any high crown, knife pleat or princess waistline that strikes your fancy. Your choice must still be in proportion to your figure. An 8-inch peak will make you look top heavy and call attention to your lack of height. But a 4-inch crown will be in proportion and effectively give you the illusion of several added inches.

Everything you wear affects your proportions for better or worse. One element of appearance many women overlook in their desire to improve on the proportions nature gave them is trimming. Note these pitfalls.

Very tall and very thin: Avoid delicate trimmings such as dainty lace, fragile embroidery, narrow belts, small buckles, miniature jewelry.

Very short and very thin: Avoid bold trimmings such as heavy embroidery, wide belts, big patch pockets, outsize jewelry.

Very tall and very heavy: Avoid both massive and delicate trimmings; keep all your trimmings to a moderate scale such as two inch belts, set-in pockets, medium-sized jewelry.

Very short and very heavy: Avoid all round and massive trimming such as scallops, circular beading, round or oval buttons and buckles, sunburst jewelry.

Average figure: Avoid everything that is out of proportion to your height, width and weight.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going with a fine boy who has asked me to marry him. I love many things about Jake. He is kind, considerate, dependable, honest and fun to be with. But his family bugs me.

About once a week we have to go to a relative's house. He has an enormous mob of sisters, brothers, aunts, uncles and cousins. Somebody is always having something for everybody.

Much of the conversation, even among the American-born relatives, is in a foreign language which I don't understand. When they do speak English the conversation concerns people and events which have no meaning to me.

I try to be pleasant and act interested but it's a terrific strain. I feel as if I've shoveled a ton of coal after I've put in an evening with his family.

Should I tell him how I feel NOW or try to wean him away from them after we are married? The guy is too good to give up. Help!—NAN

DEAR NAN: Apparently Jake enjoys his relatives so don't attempt to "wean him away." Retool your thinking and make an honest effort to understand these people instead of pretending. And if you learn a few words of their language they will love you for it.

After marriage the number of evenings spent with his family will be reduced by the sheer weight of your other responsibilities. Until then — don't fight 'em. Join 'em.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away several months ago. He used to drive me every place so I never learned how to drive. I now have a good car sitting in the garage.

I belong to a card club which meets twice a week. Three of the girls who belong to the club live in my neighborhood. They used to pick me up and we'd go to the meetings together. But now they leave their cars in the garage and offer to drive mine.

Do you think they should buy gasoline for my car? Not one of them has mentioned it. I have the feeling they are taking advantage of me because I'm better off financially than they are. Do you agree?—LOW TANK

DEAR LOW: If you knew how to drive you'd be using your car anyway, wouldn't you? So what's the difference? A few pennies involved are hardly worth mentioning.

And here is some added advice: Learn to drive the car or get rid of it — or you will be faced with a continuing headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I add my two-cents to the controversy revolving around the expression "sappy as a maple tree in April?" Don't change it, as the fellow from Wisconsin suggested, to "sappy as a maple tree in February." Not only will you lose the rhyme, but you'll lose the sense as well.

I've lived in New England all my life and I've never seen a sap bucket hanging from a maple tree in February. It requires freezing nights and mild days to start the flow of maple sap. In this neck of the woods it's plenty cold both day AND night.

Thank you for keeping the record straight.—YANKEE

DEAR YANKEE: You both could be right. Although, come to think of it, I've lived in Wisconsin, and I can't recall many mild days in February. Why don't we just drop that sappy bit and say, "nutty as a fruit cake?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BLACK FRIDAY: Same tired plot — just different players. Married man fiddling around, no intention of leaving his family, but reluctant to get out of the orchestra. Get with it, Lady, before you qualify for membership in the "Old-Too-Soon, Smart-Too-Late Club."

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going with a fine boy who has asked me to marry him. I love many things about Jake. He is kind, considerate, dependable, honest and fun to be with. But his family bugs me.

About once a week we have to go to a relative's house. He has an enormous mob of sisters, brothers, aunts, uncles and cousins. Somebody is always having something for everybody.

Much of the conversation, even among the American-born relatives, is in a foreign language which I don't understand. When they do speak English the conversation concerns people and events which have no meaning to me.

I try to be pleasant and act interested but it's a terrific strain. I feel as if I've shoveled a ton of coal after I've put in an evening with his family.

Should I tell him how I feel NOW or try to wean him away from them after we are married? The guy is too good to give up. Help!—NAN

DEAR NAN: Apparently Jake enjoys his relatives so don't attempt to "wean him away." Retool your thinking and make an honest effort to understand these people instead of pretending. And if you learn a few words of their language they will love you for it.

After marriage the number of evenings spent with his family will be reduced by the sheer weight of your other responsibilities. Until then — don't fight 'em. Join 'em.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away several months ago. He used to drive me every place so I never learned how to drive. I now have a good car sitting in the garage.

I belong to a card club which meets twice a week. Three of the girls who belong to the club live in my neighborhood. They used to pick me up and we'd go to the meetings together. But now they leave their cars in the garage and offer to drive mine.

Do you think they should buy gasoline for my car? Not one of them has mentioned it. I have the feeling they are taking advantage of me because I'm better off financially than they are. Do you agree?—LOW TANK

DEAR LOW: If you knew how to drive you'd be using your car anyway, wouldn't you? So what's the difference? A few pennies involved are hardly worth mentioning.

And here is some added advice: Learn to drive the car or get rid of it — or you will be faced with a continuing headache.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I add my two-cents to the controversy revolving around the expression "sappy as a maple tree in April?" Don't change it, as the fellow from Wisconsin suggested, to "sappy as a maple tree in February." Not only will you lose the rhyme, but you'll lose the sense as well.

I've lived in New England all my life and I've never seen a sap bucket hanging from a maple tree in February. It requires freezing nights and mild days to start the flow of maple sap. In this neck of the woods it's plenty cold both day AND night.

Thank you for keeping the record straight.—YANKEE

DEAR YANKEE: You both could be right. Although, come to think of it, I've lived in Wisconsin, and I can't recall many mild days in February. Why don't we just drop that sappy bit and say, "nutty as a fruit cake?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BLACK FRIDAY: Same tired plot — just different players. Married man fiddling around, no intention of leaving his family, but reluctant to get out of the orchestra. Get with it, Lady, before you qualify for membership in the "Old-Too-Soon, Smart-Too-Late Club."

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

Proportion Your Clothes To Your Figure

If you've always yearned to be taller or shorter, broader-shouldered or smaller-boned, stop yearning and start learning the ways that will make you appear so. You'll start looking taller (if that's your desire) the moment you start wearing only those clothes that are in proportion to your figure.

This means you extra-tall, slim girls won't be tempted by peaked crowns, knife pleats and princess waistlines. They'll only make you appear taller and slimmer.

That doesn't mean you shorties (5'3" or under) can whip out and choose any high crown, knife pleat or princess waistline that strikes your fancy. Your choice must still be in proportion to your figure. An 8-inch peak will make you look top heavy and call attention to your lack of height. But a 4-inch crown will be in proportion and effectively give you the illusion of several added inches.

Everything you wear affects your proportions for better or worse. One element of appearance many women overlook in their desire to improve on the proportions nature gave them is trimming. Note these pitfalls.

Very tall and very thin: Avoid delicate trimmings such as dainty lace, fragile embroidery, narrow belts, small buckles, miniature jewelry.

Very short and very thin: Avoid bold trimmings such as heavy embroidery, wide belts, big patch pockets, outsize jewelry.

Very tall and very heavy: Avoid both massive and delicate trimmings; keep all your trimmings to a moderate scale such as two inch belts, set-in pockets, medium-sized jewelry.

Very short and very heavy: Avoid all round and massive trimming such as scallops, circular beading, round or oval buttons and buckles, sunburst jewelry.

Average figure: Avoid everything that is out of proportion to your height, width and weight.

What's Inside?

WHAT MAGIC INGREDIENTS DO THESE BOTTLES CONTAIN? Do they hold harmful, injurious poisons? Or are they filled with healing medicines and vitamins? Will they inflict pain, or will they cure disease?

But what does it matter? If the contents are bad, we can pour them out.

But the minds of children is an entirely different matter. A small human being can be filled with selfishness and hate, or he can be filled with sincerity and love. Unfortunately, evil is more quickly dispelled from a glass bottle than from the soul of a child. For in the human mind bad thoughts can grow, and as time goes on, it is more difficult to replace them with truth and love.

That is why it is so important to instill within our children a sense of right and wrong at an early age. Of course, by example, "you" can be a tremendous influence. But you need the help of your church—the wisdom of Christ's teachings. With them, you can fill your heart with the essential ingredients for a happy and fruitful life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What's Inside?

WHAT MAGIC INGREDIENTS DO THESE BOTTLES CONTAIN? Do they hold harmful, injurious poisons? Or are they filled with healing medicines and vitamins? Will they inflict pain, or will they cure disease?

But what does it matter? If the contents are bad, we can pour them out.

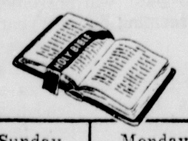

But the minds of children is an entirely different matter. A small human being can be filled with selfishness and hate, or he can be filled with sincerity and love. Unfortunately, evil is more quickly dispelled from a glass bottle than from the soul of a child. For in the human mind bad thoughts can grow, and as time goes on, it is more difficult to replace them with truth and love.

That is why it is so important to instill within our children a sense of right and wrong at an early age. Of course, by example, "you" can be a tremendous influence. But you need the help of your church—the wisdom of Christ's teachings. With them, you can fill your heart with the essential ingredients for a happy and fruitful life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

County To Take Action Against Road Workers

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a detailed report from William F. Baker, county investigator, concerning charges of pulpwood cutting along three roads in the Oldtown section by County Roads Department workers, using county equipment and trucks without authorization.

The pulpwood was cut along Pack Horse Road, Green Ridge Road and the old Oldtown Road and resulted from information supplied to the county commissioners by Guy Evans, of Wilson Road, who also submitted quite a few photographs of the pulpwood cutting activities in that section.

Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, and Roy Loar, assistant supervisor, also attended yesterday's briefing by Baker and following an executive meeting the county board announced that Skelly will present a recommendation at next Tuesday's meeting of the board preferring charges against one man for discharge and diciplinary action against some others in the case.

In addition, State's Attorney James S. Getty, stated that criminal charges will be preferred in connection with the case and that there are others who will face charges who are not employes of the County Roads Department.

The discharge recommendation will be turned over to the Civil Service Commission, which would hear any appeal from the county board's discharge action.

Evans told the county board that he had noticed the pulpwood cutting going on and felt that it was not being done as part of the county roads program of thinning out brush along roads but as a private matter.

Baker was lauded by the commissioners for his investigation in the case.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD —At one time, not too far back, MGM was the greatest factory for developing and advancing great stars in the entertainment world. And the new studio bosses, President Robert O'Brien, and studio head Robert Weitman, are out to revive that glory.

Just as MGM took Clark Gable, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, as "unknowns," the new regime is signing up fresh talent for good roles.

Joan Blackman, under exclusive term contract, will co-star with Richard Chamberlain in "Twilight of Honor." Another comer getting a break in this Perlberg - Seaton picture, is Joey Heatherton, also under contract.

German-born beauty Elka Sommers gets "The Prize" with Paul Newman in addition to her contract. Elka has made 17 movies in Europe, including "The Victors" — but she'll be new to us as Emily, the concentration camp girl in Irving Wallace's novel.

Paul Newman's fans may as well face it, because that's what Paul is doing every day when he looks into a mirror. He's in the process of growing a full beard, which he intends to keep, according to what he says now. His wife Joanne Woodward is not so sold on the matter, but Paul says she'll come around to his way of thinking.

It must be admitted that his first role with the beard, that of the Pulitzer Prize novelist in "The Prize" will

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD —At one time, not too far back, MGM was the greatest factory for developing and advancing great stars in the entertainment world. And the new studio bosses, President Robert O'Brien, and studio head Robert Weitman, are out to revive that glory.

Just as MGM took Clark Gable, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, as "unknowns," the new regime is signing up fresh talent for good roles.

Joan Blackman, under exclusive term contract, will co-star with Richard Chamberlain in "Twilight of Honor." Another comer getting a break in this Perlberg - Seaton picture, is Joey Heatherton, also under contract.

German-born beauty Elka Sommers gets "The Prize" with Paul Newman in addition to her contract. Elka has made 17 movies in Europe, including "The Victors" — but she'll be new to us as Emily, the concentration camp girl in Irving Wallace's novel.

Paul Newman's fans may as well face it, because that's what Paul is doing every day when he looks into a mirror. He's in the process of growing a full beard, which he intends to keep, according to what he says now. His wife Joanne Woodward is not so sold on the matter, but Paul says she'll come around to his way of thinking.

It must be admitted that his first role with the beard, that of the Pulitzer Prize novelist in "The Prize" will be ideal for it. The fact is that a number of MGM officials felt that Paul looked too young and handsome to play a Pulitzer Prize winning writer, but the whiskers will more than cover this seeming defect.

Desi Arnaz telephoned Jack Entratter of the Sands Hotel to make all the arrangements for his marriage to Mrs. Clement Hirsch (Edie Mack). They will be married at 5 p.m., at the Sands Sunday and honeymoon in Palm Springs where Desi has a home, as well as a hotel.

Desi's mother will be at the wedding and I also talked to Marge and Jimmy, who came to Los Angeles Thursday to spend the day with little Miss Cece Durante, and he tells me she's now doing the twist! Not bad for a year-old baby.

The Carl Foreman company had a real scare about Senta Berger, and I have first-hand information from Euan Lloyd, who telephoned from New York to tell me about it. Senta had completed her scenes for "The Victors" in Germany and was motoring home to Austria in her new Jaguar, when the car failed to negotiate a mountain curve, and she plunged down 70 feet.

Luckily, a heavy snowfall from the night before—and from all winter—kept the Austrian beauty from getting scarred or disfigured, but she was badly shaken up. Incidentally, Euan, who filed the first picture of Princess Grace and Prince Rainier in Monaco, will be in town in 10 days on business.

Frostburg Gives Approval To Sewer Plan

The Mayor and Council of Frostburg has adopted a resolution for the participation of the community in the interceptor sewage program.

A letter was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from the Frostburg officials stating that they will enter into the program whereby the sewage will be treated at Cumberland's sewage facility.

The resolution was signed by Mayor Joseph James and Councilmen William Preston and James Kenney. Frostburg will maintain and administer the sewer plan.

Frostburg's interceptor would tie-in with LaVale (if that community also enters into the program) and thence to Cumberland. A metered basis would be used for all sewage treated by Cumberland with a percentage profit over-ride.

CS Seeks New Ordinance

The Cumberland Civil Service Commission has been studying and hopes to have considered by the Mayor and Council a proposed ordinance which will make more specific certain physical requirements for applicants for city positions.

The ordinance proposal was prepared by Drs. Leo H. Ley Jr., and Clay E. Durrett.

It does not change any of the basic requirements but makes them more specific and in some cases relaxes them. For example, it is proposed to change the eye requirement from 20-20 vision to 20-30.

At its meeting this week, the commission also decided to readvertise for the position of chief clerk in the Water Department. This was made necessary by the recent resignation of James Twigg who had served for 12 years.

The commission also approved a request from Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder to establish the position of park foremen. When named, the foreman would assume full duties and responsibilities in connection with Constitution Park as well as all of the smaller city-owned parks.

County To Take Action Against Road Workers

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a detailed report from William F. Baker, county investigator, concerning charges of pulpwood cutting along three roads in the Oldtown section by County Roads Department workers, using county equipment and trucks without authorization.

The pulpwood was cut along Pack Horse Road, Green Ridge Road and the old Oldtown Road and resulted from information supplied to the county commissioners by Guy Evans, of Wilson Road, who also submitted quite a few photographs of the pulpwood cutting activities in that section.

Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, and Roy Loar, assistant supervisor, also attended yesterday's briefing by Baker and following an executive meeting the county board announced that Skelly will present a recommendation at next Tuesday's meeting of the board preferring charges against one man for discharge and diciplinary action against some others in the case.

In addition, State's Attorney James S. Getty, stated that criminal charges will be preferred in connection with the case and that there are others who will face charges who are not employes of the County Roads Department.

The discharge recommendation will be turned over to the Civil Service Commission, which would hear any appeal from the county board's discharge action.

Evans told the county board that he had noticed the pulpwood cutting going on and felt that it was not being done as part of the county roads program of thinning out brush along roads but as a private matter.

Baker was lauded by the commissioners for his investigation in the case.

New Airport Operator Takes Over Duties Here

Montgomery Air Charter Service, Inc., of Montgomery County, yesterday took over operation of Cumberland Municipal Airport under a contract executed this week with the Mayor and Council.

C. M. Whalen, president of the air charter service, said that A. D. Nicholson of Bethesda, will be airport manager.

Nicholson said that air schedules will be set up in the near future but the first task at hand is to get the administration building "straightened up" and made "pleasant and nice" for the public.

In addition to Nicholson, Montgomery also has two pilots, a fulltime maintenance shop manager and assistant on hand. The Air Service is in the process of obtaining an assistant office manager to aid Nicholson.

The pilots are Carl Higgins, who has been here for charter work about three years and is originally from New York; and David Hazen of Massachusetts.

The maintenance shop manager is Gerald Schaffer of Frederick, and his assistant is Ronald Twigg, this city. Nicholson said full-time operation of the shop will be set up by April 1.

Four planes are available for charter. They include two Piper Commanches (single engine) and two Piper Apaches (twin-engine.) The planes are fully instrumented, Nicholson said.

It is also hoped to have a flight school in operation by April 1, Nicholson added.

The lease agreement between Montgomery Air Charter and the city is for a five-year period, terminating February 28, 1968.

School Projects Funds Sought

The Allegany County Board of Education yesterday requested the County Board of Commissioners for approval of a plan to ask for legislation for an enabling act for $400,000 for various school improvement projects in the next two years.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, listed the project as an addition to Cresaptown School, additional physical education facilities and playing field expansion at Bruce High School in Westernport and expansion and renovation of sanitary facilities at the Fort Hill Stadium.

No immediate work is planned at Cresaptown but the school board seeks the legislation in the event action is necessary. No local legislation may be introduced at next year's session of the Legislature.

The county board approved the program.

A Big Year For Tax Revisions

This is shaping up as a major tax revision year, but it may have trouble living up to its ballyhooed image of the year in which the forgotten taxpayer is finally given some relief.

A survey by Tax Foundation Inc.—a nonprofit research organization — reveals that at least 30 state legislatures have tax revision laws under way. All of them upward.

An estimated $1.5 billion would be added to the total tax bill if these pending tax bills all became law. In addition, hundreds of local tax rates change annually nearly always upward. Tax Foundation discovered that most of the states considering tax changes are going ahead with their plans regardless of the action taken by Congress on the President's tax proposals.

It is in Washington, of course, that the preponderant change in the individual's tax bill will originate. If federal rates are reduced substantially, it will be the first significant tax decrease since post-World War II reductions.

This fact has not escaped local and state taxing bodies, whose burgeoning expenditures in recent years have collided head-on with the federal government's encroachment into taxing fields once held the exclusive domain of the states.

Thus, the taxpayer who has been through the hopeful expectation cycle of "contemplated" tax reductions so many times will find federal tax relief, if any, will amount to little more than a transfer of indebtedness.

In this event, would he find that his demands for more frugal spending of his contribution to the public welfare fell on more responsive ears?

The Worst Enemy

The angriest letters that this columnist provokes come from people who don't like to see objections raised to the compulsory features of the union shop. "So the union shop is the road to slavery? What the devil do you know about it?" writes one man. And from another: "What right have you to talk about the union shop? You've probably never seen the inside of a factory."

Such protests require an answer that involves a bit of autobiography. In the first place, this columnist has probably seen the inside of more factories than most people: for some twelve years of his working life he wrote industrial survey articles of one type or another. After watching the rhythm of work in a number of factories, one soon gets a sixth sense about happy shops and miserable ones—and the happy ones are not always co-extensive with the state of unionization in them. Some unions have done some good in some places, but some of the most sullen workmen are those who are tied up tighter than a drum by a closed or a union shop dominated by an unbudgeable and tyrannical leadership.

More important than the factories which this columnist has seen, however, is his own experience as a union man. In the Nineteen Thirties, when I worked for Fortune Magazine, I was one of the founder-members of the local unit of the New York Newspaper Guild. That was in the "Red Decade," as it has been called in the title of a book by Eugene Lyons. We soon found that our unit of the Guild was a battleground between Communist sympathizers and anti-Communists. The Communist sympathizers had a "line"—and they fought for it far more pertinaciously, and with a much better sense of organization, than the anti-Communists could ever seem to manage.

So it went until an ex-Communist named Whittaker Chambers joined our anti-Communist caucus in the unit. This was long before the Hiss case broke. Chambers, out of his capacious knowledge of Communists strategy and tactics, explained to us the methods by which a mere handful of genuine Communists managed to manipulate Fellow Travelers and the vague "liberals" who were fashionably "Left" until the signing of the Nazi-Soviet Pact finally disillusioned them. Soon our caucus was staying in there until the late hours of the evening, slugging it out with the tacticians of the extreme Left. We began to get somewhere—and the Time, Inc., Guild unit, in which Fortune Magazine writers were included, was eventually able to purge itself of the Fellow Traveler influence.

It was during this experience as a member of a white collar union that I decided it would be too much of a gamble ever to tie myself up with any compulsory organization short of the United States of America. Actually, a union shop at Time, Inc., might not have proved permanently intolerable, for the Communists could hardly have mustered the persuasiveness to dominate the innocent majority once Stalin had really begun to show the malevolence of his true character. But even if the Communists had managed to control the unit for a brief period it would have been bad enough. If they had been successful in their take-over strategy, and if they had managed to tie the whole writing staff up within a compulsory union shop, what troubles they might have caused for those of us who insisted on attacking the Communist line in print! Character assassination would have been the least of it.

This columnist remained a Guild member for fifteen years. But it was always with the knowledge that his was a wholly voluntary membership, and that if he didn't like the Guild leadership he was free to dissent—and, if necessary, make the dissent effective by sending in his resignation. I was not the best union member in the world, for I am personally bored by meetings and the sheer waste of good writing time involved in parliamentary maneuvering. But in a free country one is entitled to one's tastes—and as long as the Guild leadership did not tie me to a pro-Stalinist political line I was content to let the local unit be my bargaining agent.

If it had ever come to the point of forcing me to accept an agent against my will, however, I would have found some other line of work. Even raising potatoes would have been preferable to asking a mere agent for permission to hold a writing job.

Tax Reforms, Labor Problems, And The Deficit

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A bill reducing income tax rates will be enacted by Congress some time this year. In the measure will be some provisions called "reforms" but hardly any of the major proposals which the administration has submitted.

This is the outlook today on Capitol Hill, and President Kennedy is prepared to accept the result as a compromise. He hasn't given up his drive to get the "reforms" he wants, but the opposition in Congress is too formidable for him to let a hassle over these "reforms" kill all chance of passing a tax bill this year.

"What we need," says the President, "is the bill this year, and nothing should stand in its way."

Mr. Kennedy made it clear this week to a symposium on economic growth, sponsored by the American Bankers Association, that he still prefers a tax cut with "reforms." If, however, there is no tax cut at all, he predicts a deficit bigger than the one President Eisenhower encountered after the recession in 1958. Mr. Kennedy's exact words caused an arching of eyebrows. He said:

"In other words, the deficit, without a tax cut, would then be far higher than the projected deficit we face with a tax cut — higher even than the record deficit of $12.4 billion which followed the recession of 1958, only a few months after the President of the United States had submitted a budget which provided for a surplus of a half-billion dollars. That is how quickly a deficit can unbalance the budget."

But what is the explanation of President Kennedy's own forecast of a surplus that turned out to be a deficit? In January 1962, Mr. Kennedy told Congress that the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, would show a surplus of $500 million — a balanced budget with a modest surplus. Yet, before many months had passed, a deficit was indicated, and the latest estimate is that the red figure will be around $8.8 billion at the end of the fiscal year this June.

The year 1962, moreover, wasn't regarded here as a recession year. In fact, Mr. Kennedy in his speech to the bankers this week said: "The American economy is now in its twenty-fourth month of recovery." This means "recovery" started just after the Kennedy Inauguration — a convenient date, politically speaking.

But how did the President make such a mistake if it wasn't a recession that produced his deficit? The official figures in his budget messages explain what happened. Mr. Kennedy estimated his receipts for fiscal year 1963 at $7.5 billion more than they are turning out to be, and he permitted expenses to go up by an additional $1.8 billion over his budget. It can be said here, too, that this is just another way that a "deficit can unbalance a budget."

One of the items that was overestimated by the administration was corporate profits. Instead of the expected $56 billion, they turned out to be $51 billion. The year 1962, of course, saw a decline in the profits of steel and related industries. It was in April 1962 that President Kennedy declared war on the U. S. Steel Corporation and thrust the power of the federal government into the normal process of price-making in a major industry. Repercussions followed in other industries. The profits of the major steel companies showed a drop for the year 1962, and dividends were cut. The U. S. Treasury lost a substantial amount of revenue because of the fiasco in steel.

Another crisis is soon to arise in the steel industry, as the labor unions have the right to reopen their wage contracts after May 1. Already there is some stocking up of steel by automobile manufacturers and other companies to take care of expected shortages if a strike occurs. Should a strike be avoided, this could subsequently mean a let-down. Situations like these show how the national economy can be seriously interrupted and the power of labor-union monopolies interposed to affect wage costs, to increase prices, and to cause sales volume to drop.

The President, in his speech here to the bankers, did not touch on these problems except to say that "we must use prudence in the management of our wages and prices." When — after reading his prepared address — he was asked specifically by one of the bankers if it wasn't "more important than previously to prevent wage rates from increasing faster than productivity," Mr. Kennedy replied:

"I would think that wage rates would follow — I hope they would follow the general guidelines which have been suggested on several occasions, which are tied to the principle which you just described, that wage rates should be tied to productivity increases. The difficulty, of course, is arguing that productivity increases and also discussing how increases in productivity should be divided. But I think the general principle is one we certainly support and continue to support."

Yet just recently, when the longshoremen's strike was settled by intervention of the Kennedy administration, the wage increases granted deviated considerably from the so-called "guidelines." Neglect of the labor problem has more to do with deficits and recessions than meets the eye of the politicians in Washington.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CUBAN SITUATION — Administration efforts have failed, so far, to choke off public criticism of its handling of the Cuban situation, but President Kennedy hasn't stopped trying.

The other day, for example, he conducted a White House briefing for Capitol Hill leaders by such government luminaries as Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara, and Central Intelligence Director McCone.

Meanwhile, Kennedy continues his secret correspondence with Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the specific topic of those Russian military cadres stationed in Cuba.

To Washington observers, Kennedy has embarked on a two-pronged course that contains built-in contradictions, yet it appears to be the only practical avenue open to him.

On the one hand, he is trying to muffle criticism from his political opposition on the ground that it is stirring up public demands for action at a time when quiet waiting seems to be in order. On the other, Kennedy is believed to be telling Khrushchev, in effect, that public clamor in the U. S. makes it imperative that they find a peaceable way in Cuba, and that this involves the withdrawal of a good part of those thousands of Russian technicians and other military personnel from Castro's island.

Khrushchev, meanwhile, can only conclude that all the ruckus is winning back for him some of the prestige he lost in the eyes of the world when he had to back down in the face of Kennedy's ultimatum last October. It is doubtful that Khrushchev will make any serious move to withdraw the Soviet military from Cuba without something tangible in return.

In the world of the cold war, Kennedy knows he cannot expect Khrushchev to accept a second loss of prestige. The problem is to find a way to "give" Khrushchev something, which will have no intrinsic value of itself, but will permit Mr. K. to hail it as a success while permitting Kennedy to deny there as any "ideal."

Only under these conditions will the Soviet force be pulled out of Cuba. And, admittedly, such conditions are hard to find.

Republicans Attack Rep. Powell's Spending In Closed-Door Session

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The flareup on the House floor against Adam Clayton Powell's spending hijinks was a tea party compared with the wild commotion behind closed doors when the Harlem Congressman tried to justify a proposed $697,000 budget for his Education and Labor Committee.

The secret hearing became so bitter that the administration committee deferred final action on Powell's budget until next week, when it probably will be cut about $150,000. Most of the argument dealt with Powell's foreign junketing at the taxpayers' expense.

Republicans John Kyl of Iowa and Charles Goodell of New York ripped into their handsome Democratic colleague for allegedly making 25 trips to Puerto Rico in the last two years. They also asked him about a $2,500 phone bill by New York aides and about $1,300 which is still due Eastern Airlines for plane travel by Powell and his staff.

"Why single me out for this sort of questioning among all the committee chairmen in Congress?" shot back the New Yorker, who has a home in Puerto Rico. "Do you expect me to keep an account of every phone call and trip made by my staff members on official business?"

"Who went on the trips?" persisted Kyl.

"Look up the tickets," replied Powell. "I can't keep in my head an itinerary of everywhere I go in two years, nor the travels of my staff aides. It was all legitimate, official business."

"Do you consider all these trips to Puerto Rico, when you were visiting your wife, official business?" inquired Kyl.

"Don't you want to take my word for it?" snapped Powell. "Some of the trips you refer to were made by committee staff members. I wasn't the only one who traveled abroad."

Unpaid Air Bill

"How about this unpaid balance of $1,300 due Eastern Airlines?" asked Kyl.

"Yes, why wasn't that paid?" broke in Goodell.

"This is the first report I have had that it wasn't paid," replied Powell. "I don't always know about every outstanding bill of the committee. When they are brought to my attention, I certify them for payment.

"I might add that I turned back about $3,000 of unexpended committee funds to Congress. If we owe anything to Eastern Airlines, let's pay it out of that."

Powell also side-stepped charges that Republicans were short-changed in committee staff appointments.

"That's unfair," he said. "I intend to allocate $110,000 of the committee's new budget to the minority for staff purposes. That is certainly an equitable share and the Republican minority can use it to hire any staff members it wants."

"There's a slight 'if' involved there," suggested Rep. Wayne Hays, the Ohio Democrat. "You will give the money to the Republicans—if you get it."

"Yes—if you get it," echoed New York's Goodell. "Suppose you don't get it."

"In that case, I'll have to evaluate the situation, consistent with the funds you authorize for my committee," responded Powell, with a grin.

"I think you guys are in a poor position to be complaining about staff discrimination," snorted Hays, looking at Kyl and Goodell. "When you Republicans controlled Congress, you didn't give Democrats the time of day. So, don't come crying on my shoulder about staff grievances or anything else. I'm just like a duck. Your tears will roll right off."

Richard Fulton is a freshman Congressman from the hills of Tennessee who knows his way around many parts of the USA but is green to the social jungles of Washington. However, he is learning fast.

The other day his secretary got a phone call from Baroness Garnet Stackelberg inviting the Congressman to dinner. The Congressman said he didn't know the Baroness, but she said that didn't matter, she needed an extra man. So he turned up, as directed, in black tie.

Furthermore, the Congressman was punctual—almost unheard of at Washington dinner parties, unless you're dining at the White House. He arrived promptly at 8:05, looked round the room, and immediately sensed he was in the wrong place.

"I figured I was in the wrong church walking down the aisle to the wrong pew," Fulton told friends later. "And I didn't want to be led to the altar with the wrong woman, especially because I have a nice wife back in Tennessee. But I kept my mouth shut and waited."

Pretty soon the Count and Countess Sogno Rata del Vallino came in. The count clicked his heels, kissed the hand of the Baroness. They were from the Italian Embassy.

Next entered the Count and Countess Gustav Knuth-Winterfeldt. He's ambassador of Denmark. More hand-kissing. Then came the Spanish Minister Emilio Garrigues, Dictator Franco's No. 2 man in Washington. He had a regal Latin flourish as he kissed the ladies' hands.

By this time, the Congressman from the hills of Tennessee was more than ever certain that he was in the wrong place. But he couldn't turn and run. He kept quiet and faced the dinner table conversation.

Finally, he leaned over to his hostess.

"We might as well be frank with each other, Baroness," he said. "I realize that I'm here by mistake and that you invited Congressman Jim Fulton of Pennsylvania, not me."

Rep. Jim Fulton is a Republican, a bachelor, and a gay extra man at dinner parties. Fulton of Tennessee is a Democrat, with a wife temporarily in Tennessee, and doesn't expect to be an extra man at dinner.

The ice having been broken, the party relaxed and everyone had a good time.

Le Jazz Hot

By John Crosby

PARIS

Alan Hager is a good-looking, gangling, open-faced American who looks like someone who might have graduated from Harvard, '62, which as a matter of fact he did. He teaches jazz at a French lycee, and how many of those do you know?

Jazz, we all know, is treated in Europe as something only a little less sacred than holy writ. It takes enormous courage for an American to talk jazz to a French buff or nut, as I call them, and to attempt to teach them jazz takes guts above mortal comprehension. How, I asked Hager, did he get into this?

"I wanted to see Europe, actually," said Hager. "I've been a jazz buff ever since I was a student at Exeter and I play the drums. A friend I was staying with here told me about a jazz club in the Lycee d'Ivry at Vitry, outside Paris. They needed someone to come in and talk about jazz. Before me, they just listened to jazz. I've always had a yen to teach jazz. I'm explaining the disciplines of jazz as if they were mathematics." He ran his fingers through his thick mop of hair, gloomily. "I think maybe there's too much mathematics in my lectures."

He drew me some diagrams of the mathematics of jazz and they looked formidable. "I think there are possibly three of my students who understand it," he said. The great problem with the French intellectuals is not that they don't take jazz seriously but that they take it too seriously. French intellectuals will tell you that jazz is the only 20th century art form worthy of notice and that it is the last spasm of cultural vitality in Western civilization.

This reverence interferes, Hager thinks, with their enjoyment of the thing. "They concentrate very hard," he says. "Too hard. They lean forward and knit their brows and concentrate and it goes in one ear and out the other. They don't just sit and like it.

"There's a reverence for musicians, especially Negro musicians, which keeps them from feeling the music. The corners of the mouth drop, as if they were listening to Bach, and they lean forward and listen. I try to get them to relax and feel it."

This explains why so many of the top jazz musicians live and work in Europe. They can make more money in the United States, but they get treated better in Europe. "They're not treated as equals," says Hager dryly. "They're treated as gods. Sometimes it goes to their heads and it effects their playing and blurs their values."

There are no color lines in Europe, but as far as jazz is concerned, Hager says, there is a kind of reverse racism.

"The French don't think anyone but Negroes can play the blues. I played some white blues to my class and it baffled them. They didn't think there was such a thing as white blues."

Hager says he would love to teach a course in jazz to Americans when he gets back to the United States. "All that jazz that is taught in America is aimed at musicians. The courses for just plain people are simply courses in the history of jazz. I'd like to teach the technique of jazz. I think there is a great hunger for it."

Why So Many Tonsillectomies Are Needed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Two million tonsillectomies are done in this country each year, according to estimates. This sounds like a lot of surgery but the operation is so controversial, modern physicians must have good reasons for recommending it before obtaining the consent of the patient or the parents.

Many indications exist for removing diseased tonsils and adenoids, despite the fact they have a function to perform. The throat is encircled by lymphoid tissue that acts as a barrier to infection. The tonsils and adenoids form only part of the ring. These structures tend to enlarge during childhood, as the youngster makes his initial contacts with bacteria and viruses.

The cells concerned with immunity develop in lymph tissue and, for this reason, tonsils and adenoids grow larger at this time of life and return to normal size later.

But this defense mechanism often backfires. The swollen adenoids may obstruct the nose and encourage mouth breathing. In addition, enlarged tonsils harbor micro-organisms and act not only as a local source of disease but encourage infections elsewhere in the body. As a result, the child has recurrent colds with sniffling, nasal discharge, bronchitis, croup, or sinus trouble.

Infected tonsils and adenoids give off fetid odor and may be responsibe for symptoms of toxicity such as mental dullness, gastrointestinal disorders, poor appetite, disturbed sleep, and night terrors. Facial deformity and crooked teeth occur with continuous mouth breathing.

The adenoids are close to the eustachian tubes going to the ear. Hearing impairment, earache, and running ear often are traced to this source. The glands in the neck also enlarge and tonsillectomy is advisable when this is combined with any of the previously mentioned signs of tonsil infection and enlargement.

SCIATIC PAIN

Mrs. L. L. writes: What is the cause of sciatica? What treatment is given?

REPLY

Nine out of 10 victims of sciatica have a slipped or ruptured disk in the lower spine. It presses upon the nerve leading down the back of the leg. Distress may come and go, depending upon the extent of the lesion, but surgery is needed to obtain permanent relief in this type of sciatica. In the others, discomfort stems from pressure on the nerve due to arthritis, or from a true sciatic neuritis. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on sciatica.

HEART DEFECTS

G. K. writes: Are heart defects transmitted by heredity?

REPLY

Heredity plays a role now and then but in most instances these conditions stem from faulty development of certain parts. We don't know why this occurs except when the mother had German measles in early pregnancy.

INHALING MOLDY DUST

S. G. writes: Can you give me any information on farmer's lung?

REPLY

This serious pulmonary condition is caused by the inhalation of moldy hay and silage dusts. The victim developes chills, fever, and shortness of breath within a few hours after exposure. The end results is pneumonitis, in which the lungs become stiff and useless. Healing occurs but the consequences may be disastrous should exposure be repeated.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Henry Morgan is credited with the story of a yachtsman whose boat foundered in the South Pacific. A giant wave finally swept him ashore on an uncharted island. Warily he crept into the underbrush, and suddenly spotted a wisp of smoke ascending from the foliage in front of him. Was this a nest of cannibals? He maneuvered within a few feet of the smoke-makers and it was then he heard a human voice. It was a woman's —and what she was exclaiming was, "You idiot! Why did you throw away your high trump on that trick? I ought to throw these cards right into your stupid mug!"

"Thank heaven, I'm safe," breathed the relieved yachtsman. "They're civilized!"

The bride kissed her husband warmly upon his return from the office and sympathized, "I can tell by your face that you've had one of those frustrating days where everything possible went wrong. What would you say to a round of vodka martinis, followed by a fine thick steak, French fries, a tossed salad, and some fresh peach cake?"

"Not tonight, darling," begged the bridegroom. "Let's just have dinner at home."

That is how quickly a deficit can unbalance the budget."

But what is the explanation of President Kennedy's own forecast of a surplus that turned out to be a deficit? In January 1962, Mr. Kennedy told Congress that the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, would show a surplus of $500 million — a balanced budget with a modest surplus. Yet, before many months had passed, a deficit was indicated, and the latest estimate is that the red figure will be around $8.8 billion at the end of the fiscal year this June.

The year 1962, moreover, wasn't regarded here as a recession year. In fact, Mr. Kennedy in his speech to the bankers this week said: "The American economy is now in its twenty-fourth month of recovery." This means "recovery" started just atfer the Kennedy Inauguration — a convenient date, politically speaking.

But how did the President make such a mistake if it wasn't a recession that produced his deficit? The official figures in his budget messages explain what happened. Mr. Kennedy estimated his receipts for fiscal year 1963 at $7.5 billion more than they are turning out to be, and he permitted expenses to go up by an additional $1.8 billion over his budget. It can be said here, too, that this is just another way that a "deficit can unbalance a budget."

One of the items that was overestimated by the administration was corporate profits. Instead of the expected $56 billion, they turned out to be $51 billion. The year 1962, of course, saw a decline in the profits of steel and related industries. It was in April 1962 that President Kennedy declared war on the U. S. Steel Corporation and thrust the power of the federal government into the normal process of price-making in a major industry. Repercussions followed in other industries. The profits of the major steel companies showed a drop for the year 1962, and dividends were cut. The U. S. Treasury lost a substantial amount of revenue because of the fiasco in steel.

Another crisis is soon to arise in the steel industry, as the labor unions have the right to reopen their wage contracts after May 1. Already there is some stocking up of steel by automobile manufacturers and other companies to take care of expected shortages if a strike occurs. Should a strike be avoided, this could subsequently mean a let-down. Situations like these show how the national economy can be seriously interrupted and the power of labor-union monopolies interposed to affect wage costs, to increase prices, and to cause sales volume to drop.

The President, in his speech here to the bankers, did not touch on these problems except to say that "we must use prudence in the management of our wages and prices." When — after reading his prepared address — he was asked specifically by one of the bankers if it wasn't "more important than previously to prevent wage rates from increasing faster than productivity," Mr. Kennedy replied:

"I would think that wage rates would follow — I hope they would follow the general guidelines which have been suggested on several occasions, which are tied to the principle which you just described, that wage rates should be tied to productivity increases. The difficulty, of course, is arguing that productivity increases and also discussing how increases in productivity should be divided. But I think the general principle is one we certainly support and continue to support."

Yet just recently, when the longshoremen's strike was settled by intervention of the Kennedy administration, the wage increases granted deviated considerably from the so-called "guidelines." Neglect of the labor problem has more to do with deficits and recessions than meets the eye of the politicians in Washington.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CUBAN SITUATION — Administration efforts have failed, so far, to choke off public criticism of its handling of the Cuban situation, but President Kennedy hasn't stopped trying.

The other day, for example, he conducted a White House briefing for Capitol Hill leaders by such government luminaries as Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara, and Central Intelligence Director McCone.

Meanwhile, Kennedy continues his secret correspondence with Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the specific topic of those Russian military cadres stationed in Cuba.

To Washington observers, Kennedy has embarked on a two-pronged course that contains built-in contradictions, yet it appears to be the only practical avenue open to him.

On the one hand, he is trying to muffle criticism from his political opposition on the ground that it is stirring up public demands for action at a time when quiet waiting seems to be in order. On the other, Kennedy is believed to be telling Khrushchev, in effect, that public clamor in the U. S. makes it imperative that they find a peaceable way in Cuba, and that this involves the withdrawal of a good part of those thousands of Russian technicians and other military personnel from Castro's island.

Khrushchev, meanwhile, can only conclude that all the ruckus is winning back for him some of the prestige he lost in the eyes of the world when he had to back down in the face of Kennedy's ultimatum last October. It is doubtful that Khrushchev will make any serious move to withdraw the Soviet military from Cuba without something tangible in return.

In the world of the cold war, Kennedy knows he cannot expect Khrushchev to accept a second loss of prestige. The problem is to find a way to "give" Khrushchev something, which will have no intrinsic value of itself, but will permit Mr. K. to hail it as a success while permitting Kennedy to deny there as any "ideal."

Only under these conditions will the Soviet force be pulled out of Cuba. And, admittedly, such conditions are hard to find.

Why So Many Tonsillectomies Are Needed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Two million tonsillectomies are done in this country each year, according to estimates. This sounds like a lot of surgery but the operation is so controversial, modern physicians must have good reasons for recommending it before obtaining the consent of the patient or the parents.

Many indications exist for removing diseased tonsils and adenoids, despite the fact they have a function to perform. The throat is encircled by lymphoid tissue that acts as a barrier to infection. The tonsils and adenoids form only part of the ring. These structures tend to enlarge during childhood, as the youngster makes his initial contacts with bacteria and viruses.

The cells concerned with immunity develop in lymph tissue and, for this reason, tonsils and adenoids grow larger at this time of life and return to normal size later.

But this defense mechanism often backfires. The swollen adenoids may obstruct the nose and encourage mouth breathing. In addition, enlarged tonsils harbor micro-organisms and act not only as a local source of disease but encourage infections elsewhere in the body. As a result, the child has recurrent colds with sniffling, nasal discharge, bronchitis, croup, or sinus trouble.

Infected tonsils and adenoids give off fetid odor and may be responsibe for symptoms of toxicity such as mental dullness, gastrointestinal disorders, poor appetite, disturbed sleep, and night terrors. Facial deformity and crooked teeth occur with continuous mouth breathing.

The adenoids are close to the eustachian tubes going to the ear. Hearing impairment, earache, and running ear often are traced to this source. The glands in the neck also enlarge and tonsillectomy is advisable when this is combined with any of the previously mentioned signs of tonsil infection and enlargement.

SCIATIC PAIN

Mrs. L. L. writes: What is the cause of sciatica? What treatment is given?

REPLY

Nine out of 10 victims of sciatica have a slipped or ruptured disk in the lower spine. It presses upon the nerve leading down the back of the leg. Distress may come and go, depending upon the extent of the lesion, but surgery is needed to obtain permanent relief in this type of sciatica. In the others, discomfort stems from pressure on the nerve due to arthritis, or from a true sciatic neuritis. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on sciatica.

HEART DEFECTS

G. K. writes: Are heart defects transmitted by heredity?

REPLY

Heredity plays a role now and then but in most instances these conditions stem from faulty development of certain parts. We don't know why this occurs except when the mother had German measles in early pregnancy.

INHALING MOLDY DUST

S. G. writes: Can you give me any information on farmer's lung?

REPLY

This serious pulmonary condition is caused by the inhalation of moldy hay and silage dusts. The victim developes chills, fever, and shortness of breath within a few hours after exposure. The end results is pneumonitis, in which the lungs become stiff and useless. Healing occurs but the consequences may be disastrous should exposure be repeated.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Henry Morgan is credited with the story of a yachtsman whose boat foundered in the South Pacific. A giant wave finally swept him ashore on an uncharted island. Warily he crept into the underbrush, and suddenly spotted a wisp of smoke ascending from the foliage in front of him. Was this a nest of cannibals? He maneuvered within a few feet of the smoke-makers and it was then he heard a human voice. It was a woman's —and what she was exclaiming was, "You idiot! Why did you throw away your high trump on that trick? I ought to throw these cards right into your stupid mug!"

"Thank heaven, I'm safe," breathed the relieved yachtsman. "They're civilized!"

The bride kissed her husband warmly upon his return from the office and sympathized, "I can tell by your face that you've had one of those frustrating days where everything possible went wrong. What would you say to a round of vodka martinis, followed by a fine thick steak, French fries, a tossed salad, and some fresh peach cake?"

"Not tonight, darling," begged the bridegroom. "Let's just have dinner at home."

Republicans Attack Rep. Powell's Spending In Closed-Door Session

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The flareup on the House floor against Adam Clayton Powell's spending hijinks was a tea party compared with the wild commotion behind closed doors when the Harlem Congressman tried to justify a proposed $697,000 budget for his Education and Labor Committee.

The secret hearing became so bitter that the administration committee deferred final action on Powell's budget until next week, when it probably will be cut about $150,000. Most of the argument dealt with Powell's foreign junketing at the taxpayers' expense.

Republicans John Kyl of Iowa and Charles Goodell of New York ripped into their handsome Democratic colleague for allegedly making 25 trips to Puerto Rico in the last two years. They also asked him about a $2,500 phone bill by New York aides and about $1,300 which is still due Eastern Airlines for plane travel by Powell and his staff.

"Why single me out for this sort of questioning among all the committee chairmen in Congress?" shot back the New Yorker, who has a home in Puerto Rico. "Do you expect me to keep an account of every phone call and trip made by my staff members on official business?"

"Who went on the trips?" persisted Kyl.

"Look up the tickets," replied Powell. "I can't keep in my head an itinerary of everywhere I go in two years, nor the travels of my staff aides. It was all legitimate, official business."

"Do you consider all these trips to Puerto Rico, when you were visiting your wife, official business?" inquired Kyl.

"Don't you want to take my word for it?" snapped Powell. "Some of the trips you refer to were made by committee staff members. I wasn't the only one who traveled abroad."

Unpaid Air Bill

"How about this unpaid balance of $1,300 due Eastern Airlines?" asked Kyl.

"Yes, why wasn't that paid?" broke in Goodell.

"This is the first report I have had that it wasn't paid," replied Powell. "I don't always know about every outstanding bill of the committee. When they are brought to my attention, I certify them for payment.

"I might add that I turned back about $3,000 of unexpended committee funds to Congress. If we owe anything to Eastern Airlines, let's pay it out of that."

Powell also side-stepped charges that Republicans were short-changed in committee staff appointments.

"That's unfair," he said. "I intend to allocate $110,000 of the committee's new budget to the minority for staff purposes. That is certainly an equitable share and the Republican minority can use it to hire any staff members it wants."

"There's a slight 'if' involved there," suggested Rep. Wayne Hays, the Ohio Democrat. "You will give the money to the Republicans—if you get it."

"Yes—if you get it," echoed New York's Goodell. "Suppose you don't get it."

"In that case, I'll have to evaluate the situation, consistent with the funds you authorize for my committee," responded Powell, with a grin.

"I think you guys are in a poor position to be complaining about staff discrimination," snorted Hays, looking at Kyl and Goodell. "When you Republicans controlled Congress, you didn't give Democrats the time of day. So, don't come crying on my shoulder about staff grievances or anything else. I'm just like a duck. Your tears will roll right off."

Richard Fulton is a freshman Congressman from the hills of Tennessee who knows his way around many parts of the USA but is green to the social jungles of Washington. However, he is learning fast.

The other day his secretary got a phone call from Baroness Garnet Stackelberg inviting the Congressman to dinner. The Congressman said he didn't know the Baroness, but she said that didn't matter, she needed an extra man. So he turned up, as directed, in black tie.

Furthermore, the Congressman was punctual—almost unheard of at Washington dinner parties, unless you're dining at the White House. He arrived promptly at 8:05, looked round the room, and immediately sensed he was in the wrong place.

"I figured I was in the wrong church walking down the aisle to the wrong pew," Fulton told friends later. "And I didn't want to be led to the altar with the wrong woman, especially because I have a nice wife back in Tennessee. But I kept my mouth shut and waited."

Pretty soon the Count and Countess Sogno Rata del Vallino came in. The count clicked his heels, kissed the hand of the Baroness. They were from the Italian Embassy.

Next entered the Count and Countess Gustav Knuth-Winterfeldt. He's ambassador of Denmark. More hand-kissing. Then came the Spanish Minister Emilio Garrigues, Dictator Franco's No. 2 man in Washington. He had a regal Latin flourish as he kissed the ladies' hands.

By this time, the Congressman from the hills of Tennessee was more than ever certain that he was in the wrong place. But he couldn't turn and run. He kept quiet and faced the dinner table conversation.

Finally, he leaned over to his hostess.

"We might as well be frank with each other, Baroness," he said. "I realize that I'm here by mistake and that you invited Congressman Jim Fulton of Pennsylvania, not me."

Rep. Jim Fulton is a Republican, a bachelor, and a gay extra man at dinner parties. Fulton of Tennessee is a Democrat, with a wife temporarily in Tennessee, and doesn't expect to be an extra man at dinner.

The ice having been broken, the party relaxed and everyone had a good time.

Le Jazz Hot

PARIS

Alan Hager is a good-looking, gangling, open-faced American who looks like someone who might have graduated from Harvard, '62, which as a matter of fact he did. He teaches jazz at a French lycee, and how many of those do you know?

Jazz, we all know, is treated in Europe as something only a little less sacred than holy writ. It takes enormous courage for an American to talk jazz to a French buff or nut, as I call them, and to attempt to teach them jazz takes guts above mortal comprehension. How, I asked Hager, did he get into this?

"I wanted to see Europe, actually," said Hager. "I've been a jazz buff ever since I was a student at Exeter and I play the drums. A friend I was staying with here told me about a jazz club in the Lycee d'Ivry at Vitry, outside Paris. They needed someone to come in and talk about jazz. Before me, they just listened to jazz. I've always had a yen to teach jazz. I'm explaining the disciplines of jazz as if they were mathematics." He ran his fingers through his thick mop of hair, gloomily. "I think maybe there's too much mathematics in my lectures."

He drew me some diagrams of the mathematics of jazz and they looked formidable. "I think there are possibly three of my students who understand it," he said. The great problem with the French intellectuals is not that they don't take jazz seriously but that they take it too seriously. French intellectuals will tell you that jazz is the only 20th century art form worthy of notice and that it is the last spasm of cultural vitality in Western civilization.

This reverence interferes, Hager thinks, with their enjoyment of the thing. "They concentrate very hard," he says. "Too hard. They lean forward and knit their brows and concentrate and it goes in one ear and out the other. They don't just sit and like it.

"There's a reverence for musicians, especially Negro musicians, which keeps them from feeling the music. The corners of the mouth drop, as if they were listening to Bach, and they lean forward and listen. I try to get them to relax and feel it."

This explains why so many of the top jazz musicians live and work in Europe. They can make more money in the United States, but they get treated better in Europe. "They're not treated as equals," says Hager dryly. "They're treated as gods. Sometimes it goes to their heads and it effects their playing and blurs their values."

There are no color lines in Europe, but as far as jazz is concerned, Hager says, there is a kind of reverse racism.

"The French don't think anyone but Negroes can play the blues. I played some white blues to my class and it baffled them. They didn't think there was such a thing as white blues."

Hager says he would love to teach a course in jazz to Americans when he gets back to the United States. "All that jazz that is taught in America is aimed at musicians. The courses for just plain people are simply courses in the history of jazz. I'd like to teach the technique of jazz. I think there is a great hunger for it."

Good And Bad News Noted On W. Va. Economy

13.7 Per Cent Of Work Force Idle

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Employment Security Department and the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce each had good and bad news in reports Friday on the state's economy and employment picture.

The department said unemployment at mid-January showed a slight improvement over January, 1962, figures. And the Chamber said the state's business and industry also was better during January than year ago levels.

But the department said unemployment as of mid-January was 13.7 per cent of the work force, up from the 11.2 December figure.

The report said employment totaled 512,000, including 432,500 nonfarm and salary workers, a drop of 8,300 from December and 6,800 below January, 1962. Despite the loss in number of jobholders, the department said, the percentage of jobless dropped because of an even larger decline in the work force.

The department report said employment in manufacturing industries accounted for only 900 of the January-to-January drop, and the average weekly earnings of factory production workers reached an all-time high of $102.56 during January.

The Chamber of Commerce said business and industry slipped somewhat from sluggish December levels during January, with only 9 of its 22 basic indicators used to measure the economy showing improvement over the previous month.

But the chamber said 13 of the indicators still were better than the January, 1962, performance.

The chamber attributed part of the drop from December to January to seasonal factors, which affect such areas as postal receipts, retail sales, value of building permits, gasoline sales and cash farm income.

Indicators which improved during January from their December levels included auto sales; electric power, lumber and coal output; sales tax collections, railroad carloadings, bank debits and average factory wages.

Declines were in natural gas and crude oil production, life insurance sales, total salaries and wages, miners' earnings and value of manufactured products.

Winter sports facilities would include a skiing area, including man-made snow facilities, a skating area and a toboggan slide.

Senate Finance Unit Approves Budget Bill

House Committee To Report Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee recommended passage Friday of a budget bill calling for an expenditure of $152,624,585 from general revenues during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The State Board of Public Works had recommended approval of a budget totaling $152,872,214, including a $4,497,500 surplus expected at the end of this fiscal year.

The House Finance Committee was expected to report its version of the budget bill to the floor Saturday. The 60-day session is scheduled to adjourn finally at midnight March 9.

After reporting the bill to the Senate floor, Committee chairman Hans McCourt, D-Webster, moved successfully that the bill be advanced amendment stage Saturday.

The only major revenue measure still to be approved finally is the proposed extension of the horse racing tax. The question to be decided by a House-Senate conference committee was whether to extend the present 6 per cent levy permanently or reduce the tax to 5¾ per cent for one year. If the Legislature takes no action on the bill, the rate automatically will drop to 5 per cent for a loss of about $1 million in revenues.

McCourt said the committee proposal represented a net reduction of $247,629 from the Board of Public Works proposal. The major individual increase in the committee proposal was $600,000 for the teachers retirement fund. The sharpest cut, $267,900, was taken from the proposed State Welfare Department budget.

McCourt said the committee bill did not earmark any increase for teacher salaries but noted that the budget included an additional $2.5 million to implement Gov. W. W. Barron's proposed school improvement program. The major portion, if not all of that money, was expected to be used to increase teacher salaries.

McCourt noted that the budget proposed by the committee provided an additional $107,000 for new personnel at the state's two universities and nine state-supported colleges. The increase recommended by the committee was in addition to the $1.28 million increase recommended by the Board of Public Works.

Good And Bad News Noted On W. Va. Economy

13.7 Per Cent Of Work Force Idle

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Employment Security Department and the West Virginia Chamber of Commerce each had good and bad news in reports Friday on the state's economy and employment picture.

The department said unemployment at mid-January showed a slight improvement over January, 1962, figures. And the Chamber said the state's business and industry also was better during January than year ago levels.

But the department said unemployment as of mid-January was 13.7 per cent of the work force, up from the 11.2 December figure.

The report said employment totaled 512,000, including 432,500 nonfarm and salary workers, a drop of 8,300 from December and 6,800 below January, 1962. Despite the loss in number of jobholders, the department said, the percentage of jobless dropped because of an even larger decline in the work force.

The department report said employment in manufacturing industries accounted for only 900 of the January-to-January drop, and the average weekly earnings of factory production workers reached an all-time high of $102.56 during January.

The Chamber of Commerce said business and industry slipped somewhat from sluggish December levels during January, with only 9 of its 22 basic indicators used to measure the economy showing improvement over the previous month.

But the chamber said 13 of the indicators still were better than the January, 1962, performance.

The chamber attributed part of the drop from December to January to seasonal factors, which affect such areas as postal receipts, retail sales, value of building permits, gasoline sales and cash farm income.

Indicators which improved during January from their December levels included auto sales; electric power, lumber and coal output; sales tax collections, railroad carloadings, bank debits and average factory wages.

Declines were in natural gas and crude oil production, life insurance sales, total salaries and wages, miners' earnings and value of manufactured products.

Senate Finance Unit Approves Budget Bill

House Committee To Report Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee recommended passage Friday of a budget bill calling for an expenditure of $152,624,585 from general revenues during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The State Board of Public Works had recommended approval of a budget totaling $152,872,214, including a $4,497,500 surplus expected at the end of this fiscal year.

The House Finance Committee was expected to report its version of the budget bill to the floor Saturday. The 60-day session is scheduled to adjourn finally at midnight March 9.

After reporting the bill to the Senate floor, Committee chairman Hans McCourt, D-Webster, moved successfully that the bill be advanced amendment stage Saturday.

The only major revenue measure still to be approved finally is the proposed extension of the horse racing tax. The question to be decided by a House-Senate conference committee was whether to extend the present 6 per cent levy permanently or reduce the tax to 5¾ per cent for one year. If the Legislature takes no action on the bill, the rate automatically will drop to 5 per cent for a loss of about $1 million in revenues.

McCourt said the committee proposal represented a net reduction of $247,629 from the Board of Public Works proposal. The major individual increase in the committee proposal was $600,000 for the teachers retirement fund. The sharpest cut, $267,900, was taken from the proposed State Welfare Department budget.

McCourt said the committee bill did not earmark any increase for teacher salaries but noted that the budget included an additional $2.5 million to implement Gov. W. W. Barron's proposed school improvement program. The major portion, if not all of that money, was expected to be used to increase teacher salaries.

McCourt noted that the budget proposed by the committee provided an additional $107,000 for new personnel at the state's two universities and nine state-supported colleges. The increase recommended by the committee was in addition to the $1.28 million increase recommended by the Board of Public Works.

Lions Ring Up 14th Straight Over Elk Garden

Post 60-39 Victory, Hawks Defeat Fort Ashby Quint, 57-56

Piedmont High School's Lions extended their victory skein to 14 games and made their season record 19-1 by whipping Elk Garden High School last night in the semi-finals of the West Virginia, Region 4, Section 1 basketball tournament at Potomac State College by the score of 60-39.

Ridgeley earned the right to play Piedmont for the sectional title Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock by defeating Fort Ashby's Eagles in an overtime contest by the score of 57-56. Fort Ashby and Elk Garden will tangle in tonight's consolation game at 7 o'clock.

Piedmont got off to a 20-7 lead in the first quarter and never was headed. At halftime Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions held the long end of a 35-15 score.

Twelve Piedmont players saw action and eight crashed the scoring column with Larry Patterson sparking the attack with 19 tallies while Eugene Taylor collected 10. Evans was the only Elk Garden player in double figures with 11 points to his credit.

Piedmont had a 22-13 edge in field goals and outpointed the Eagles, 16 to 13 at the charity stripe.

Mick Lantz's foul goal with three seconds remaining in the extra period broke a 56-56 tie to give Ridgeley the verdict over Fort Ashby in the opener of the doubleheader in which the score was knotted 11 times at 6, 7, 10, 14, 23, 26, 28, 40, 52, 54 and 56. The regulation game ended 54-54.

Davidson Downs Gobblers, 75-67

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — All-America Rod Thorn helped West Virginia bull its way into the Southern Conference basketball tournament Friday night but Davidson had to out scramble Virginia Tech for the right to meet the defending champs.

Thorn piled in 37 points to pace West Virginia to an 81-63 win over Furman while Davidson survived a pressure packed duel with Virginia Tech for a 75-67 victory.

The winner of Saturday nights' final meets the Yankee Conference champion later this month in the first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament at Philadelphia.

The championship match looms as a scoring duel between Thorn and Davidson center Fred Hetzel who dunked in 27 points to lead the Wildcats past the Gobblers.

Hetzel racked up 19 points in the first half and forward Bill Jarman and Barry Teague chipped in with flashy performances. Jarman wound up with 18 points while Teague had 15.

The appearance of guard Lee Melear who had been benched with a sprained ankle he suffered in the last regular game of the season for Tech kept the Gobblers very much in the ball game.

Jarman and reserve guard Haywood Evans hit for 10 consecutive points in the closing minutes of the first period to give Davidson a 39-31 halftime advantage.

Allegany-Westminster Play For Class A Title

Campers And Owls Clash Today At 7:30 For State Berth

Allegany High School's Campers, W.M.I. League, city and Allegany county Class A. champions, will be shooting for their seventh Maryland District One championship in 17 years when they do battle with Westminster High School's Owls tonight at 7 o'clock at South Hagerstown High School.

The winner qualifies for the 7:30 p. m., game against the victor in the Baltimore County-Prince Georges County game in the state semi-final Thursday, March 1 at College Park.

Coach Chester Payne's Campers take a 17-4 record and a nine-game winning streak into the district tourney finale. Their last setback came at the hands of South Hagerstown High School January 22. Since that reverse Allegany has beaten LaSalle, Martinsburg, Mt. Savage, Beall, Valley, Bruce, Fort Hill, Bishop Guilfoyle of Altoona and LaSalle in that order.

Westminster High School is coached by Robert "Cokie" Robertson, former Valley High School cage ace, and earned the right to challenge the Campers by winning the Carroll county title and disposing of Aberdeen, Hartford county's champions, 44-41. The Owls own a 10-9 record.

Since the district touranments were started in 1947, Allegany has emerged the Class A winner in 1947, 1950, 1953, 1954, 1956 and 1960. Other winners have been as follows:

1948—Fort Hill. 1949—Fort Hill. 1951—Hagerstown, 1952—Hagerstown. 1955—Hagerstown. 1957—Frederick. 1958—Fort Hill. 1959—North Hagerstown. 1961—Southern. 1962—Walkersville.

Allegany competed in Class AA last year but failed to get into the district tournament, losing to Fort Hill, 41-40. The Sentinels were ushered out of the district tourney at Campobello by South Hagerstown, 79-76. Walkersville was the district Class A winner in 1962.

Circleville Cops Section 2 Title From Franklin

Indians Rack Up 69-56 Upset Win

Circleville's Indians last night surprised Franklin High, 69-56, to win the Class A championship of the West Virginia Section 2, Region 4 basketball tournament conducted at Moorefield High School.

In a consolation contest, Mathias roared from behind in the second half to decision Moorefield, 56-53.

The Indians, who entered the championship battle with an 11-10 record compared to the Panthers' 18-3 mark, hopped off to a quick 7-0 lead and held the upper hand throughout. Franklin had beaten Circleville twice during the regular season.

Only in the third period did Franklin stage any sort of threat. Circleville, outscored 20-12 in that frame, made only one field goal but converted 10 of 12 free throws to hold off the Franklin threat.

Four of the Indians' five starters hit in double digits, with Gary Sponaugle's 16 points leading the way. Ronnie Williams and Roger Lambert had 14 each, and Donald Boggs collected 12. Larry Hedrick and Jimmy Edwards scored 18 and 16, respectively, for the Panthers.

Three free throws by Ed Mongold in the final minute of play turned the tide in Mathias' favor in the consolation game.

Gary Strawderman tossed in 11 points and Ron Whetzel canned ten to pace Mathias. Ralph Keller fired in 17 for the Yellowjackets.

Named to the all-tournament team were Williams and Boggs, of Circleville; Hedrick, Franklin; Ed Mongold, Mathias, and Keller, of Moorefield.

Duke Advances To ACC Finals

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Top-seeded Duke responded to a late North Carolina State challenge by scoring 32 points in the last 13½ minutes Friday night to win its 17th consecutive basketball game 82-65 and move into the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament.

Jeff Mullins, heretofore the junior partner in Duke's point-scoring firm headed by All-America Art Heyman, again led the Blue Devil scoring with 25 points.

Heyman, the college Player of the Year, was troubled by a tenacious N.C. State defense that permitted few scoring liberties, but he managed 19 points, collected nine rebounds and passed off for several other baskets, for the nation's second ranked team.

Buzzy Harrison picked up the Duke scoring slack with 18 points, triple his season's average.

Prior to Duke's devastating steamroller finish, State had cut the Blue Devil lead to 50-48 after trailing by 11 in the early going and 38-31 at the half.

Irish Meusel, Former Major Leaguer, Dies

Played With Phils, Giants, Brooklyn

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—One of baseball's great hitters, Emil (Irish) Meusel, died Friday at the age of 69 from a coronary occlusion after a brief illness.

His death followed by 24 hours that of Eppa Rixey, the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame pitcher. During his major league career with the Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, Meusel faced Rixey's lefthanded throwing many times.

Although he played for three National League clubs, Meusel was best known for his record with the Giants with whom he spent almost six full seasons after coming up to the majors with the Phillies.

During his major league career Meusel had a batting average of .311 over a 10-year span. His highest average was .343 in 1921, the year he divided between the Phillies and Giants.

Meusel's major league career ended in 1927 with the Dodgers and he then played three years of minor league baseball before retiring in 1931. He also was a coach with the Giants for one year in 1930.

Meusel had been employed for the past 15 years as a guard at both Santa Anita and Hollywood Park racetracks.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the Grace Chapel of Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Twelve Piedmont players saw action and eight crashed the scoring column with Larry Patterson sparking the attack with 19 tallies while Eugene Taylor collected 10. Evans was the only Elk Garden player in double figures with 11 points to his credit.

Piedmont had a 22-13 edge in field goals and outpointed the Eagles, 16 to 13 at the charity stripe.

Mick Lantz's foul goal with three seconds remaining in the extra period broke a 56-56 tie to give Ridgeley the verdict over Fort Ashby in the opener of the doubleheader in which the score was knotted 11 times at 6, 7, 10, 14, 23, 26, 28, 40, 52, 54 and 56. The regulation game ended 54-54.

Gary Cuppett was Ridgeley's high scorer with 14 points, including a 10-14 performance at the foul line. Don Wagoner and Gary Mangus with 15 and 14 tallies led the Fort Ashby scorers.

Davidson Downs Gobblers, 75-67

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — All-America Rod Thorn helped West Virginia bull its way into the Southern Conference basketball tournament Friday night but Davidson had to out scramble Virginia Tech for the right to meet the defending champs.

Thorn piled in 37 points to pace West Virginia to an 81-63 win over Furman while Davidson survived a pressure packed duel with Virginia Tech for a 75-67 victory.

The winner of Saturday nights' final meets the Yankee Conference champion later this month in the first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament at Philadelphia.

The championship match looms as a scoring duel between Thorn and Davidson center Fred Hetzel who dunked in 27 points to lead the Wildcats past the Gobblers.

Hetzel racked up 19 points in the first half and forward Bill Jarman and Barry Teague chipped in with flashy performances. Jarman wound up with 18 points while Teague had 15.

The appearance of guard Lee Melear who had been benched with a sprained ankle he suffered in the last regular game of the season for Tech kept the Gobblers very much in the ball game.

Jarman and reserve guard Haywood Evans hit for 10 consecutive points in the closing minutes of the first period to give Davidson a 39-31 halftime advantage.

Campers And Owls Clash Today At 7:30 For State Berth

Allegany High School's Campers, W.M.I. League, city and Allegany county Class A. champions, will be shooting for their seventh Maryland District One championship in 17 years when they do battle with Westminster High School's Owls tonight at 7 o'clock at South Hagerstown High School.

The winner qualifies for the 7:30 p. m., game against the victor in the Baltimore County-Prince Georges County game in the state semi-final Thursday, March 1 at College Park.

Coach Chester Payne's Campers take a 17-4 record and a nine-game winning streak into the district tourney finale. Their last setback came at the hands of South Hagerstown High School January 22. Since that reverse Allegany has beaten LaSalle, Martinsburg, Mt. Savage, Beall, Valley, Bruce, Fort Hill, Bishop Guilfoyle of Altoona and LaSalle in that order.

Westminster High School is coached by Robert "Cokie" Robertson, former Valley High School cage ace, and earned the right to challenge the Campers by winning the Carroll county title and disposing of Aberdeen, Hartford county's champions, 44-41. The Owls own a 10-9 record.

Since the district touranments were started in 1947, Allegany has emerged the Class A winner in 1947, 1950, 1953, 1954, 1956 and 1960. Other winners have been as follows:

1948—Fort Hill. 1949—Fort Hill. 1951—Hagerstown, 1952—Hagerstown. 1955—Hagerstown. 1957—Frederick. 1958—Fort Hill. 1959—North Hagerstown. 1961—Southern. 1962—Walkersville.

Allegany competed in Class AA last year but failed to get into the district tournament, losing to Fort Hill, 41-40. The Sentinels were ushered out of the district tourney at Campobello by South Hagerstown, 79-76. Walkersville was the district Class A winner in 1962.

Canadian Skater Cops World Title

CORTINA, Italy (AP) — Young Don McPherson of Canada turned in a brilliant free skating exhibition and won the men's singles title Friday night in the World Figure Skating Championships.

McPherson, 17, was fourth in a field of 19 after the six compulsory school figures, but leaped to the title with his outstanding free skating performance in cold, clear weather at the outdoor Olympic Ice Stadium.

He succeeds countryman Don Jackson, who turned professional after winning the 1962 title in Prague.

Indians Rack Up 69-56 Upset Win

Circleville's Indians last night surprised Franklin High, 69-56, to win the Class A championship of the West Virginia Section 2, Region 4 basketball tournament conducted at Moorefield High School.

In a consolation contest, Mathias roared from behind in the second half to decision Moorefield, 56-53.

The Indians, who entered the championship battle with an 11-10 record compared to the Panthers' 18-3 mark, hopped off to a quick 7-0 lead and held the upper hand throughout. Franklin had beaten Circleville twice during the regular season.

Only in the third period did Franklin stage any sort of threat. Circleville, outscored 20-12 in that frame, made only one field goal but converted 10 of 12 free throws to hold off the Franklin threat.

Four of the Indians' five starters hit in double digits, with Gary Sponaugle's 16 points leading the way. Ronnie Williams and Roger Lambert had 14 each, and Donald Boggs collected 12. Larry Hedrick and Jimmy Edwards scored 18 and 16, respectively, for the Panthers.

Three free throws by Ed Mongold in the final minute of play turned the tide in Mathias' favor in the consolation game.

Gary Strawderman tossed in 11 points and Ron Whetzel canned ten to pace Mathias. Ralph Keller fired in 17 for the Yellowjackets.

Named to the all-tournament team were Williams and Boggs, of Circleville; Hedrick, Franklin; Ed Mongold, Mathias, and Keller, of Moorefield.

Duke Advances To ACC Finals

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Top-seeded Duke responded to a late North Carolina State challenge by scoring 32 points in the last 13½ minutes Friday night to win its 17th consecutive basketball game 82-65 and move into the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament.

Jeff Mullins, heretofore the junior partner in Duke's point-scoring firm headed by All-America Art Heyman, again led the Blue Devil scoring with 25 points.

Heyman, the college Player of the Year, was troubled by a tenacious N.C. State defense that permitted few scoring liberties, but he managed 19 points, collected nine rebounds and passed off for several other baskets, for the nation's second ranked team.

Buzzy Harrison picked up the Duke scoring slack with 18 points, triple his season's average.

Prior to Duke's devastating steamroller finish, State had cut the Blue Devil lead to 50-48 after trailing by 11 in the early going and 38-31 at the half.

Johnson Is Choice To Succeed Rivlin

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Huntington Advertiser said Friday that former Morehead (Ky.) College basketball coach Ellis Johnson appeared to be the likely choice to replace Jule Rivlin as head basketball coach at Marshall University.

University President Stewart Smith will announce the selection of the new basketball mentor at a news conference here Saturday afternoon.

Johnson coached at Morehead for 17 years before retiring in 1952 when he went into the insurance business at Ashland, Ky.

Johnson told the paper that he had applied for the job and did not deny that the job was his.

Played With Phils, Giants, Brooklyn

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—One of baseball's great hitters, Emil (Irish) Meusel, died Friday at the age of 69 from a coronary occlusion after a brief illness.

His death followed by 24 hours that of Eppa Rixey, the Cincinnati Reds Hall of Fame pitcher. During his major league career with the Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, Meusel faced Rixey's lefthanded throwing many times.

Although he played for three National League clubs, Meusel was best known for his record with the Giants with whom he spent almost six full seasons after coming up to the majors with the Phillies.

During his major league career Meusel had a batting average of .311 over a 10-year span. His highest average was .343 in 1921, the year he divided between the Phillies and Giants.

Meusel's major league career ended in 1927 with the Dodgers and he then played three years of minor league baseball before retiring in 1931. He also was a coach with the Giants for one year in 1930.

Meusel had been employed for the past 15 years as a guard at both Santa Anita and Hollywood Park racetracks.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the Grace Chapel of Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mt. Savage And Walkersville To Play For District Class B Title

Indians Score Over Boonsboro; Southern Loses

Allegany Countians Seek Revenge For 1962 Tourney Loss

Mt. Savage scored a decisive 69-47 triumph over Boonsboro, and Walkersville posted a similarly convincing 68-48 win over Southern of Oakland last night to advance to the finals of the Maryland District One Class B playoff at the South Hagerstown gymnasium.

Today's championship clash, set for 3:30 p.m. at the South High arena, brings together two clubs which last year battled for the district Class A title at Allegany. Both schools were placed in the lower classification this season.

In that memorable battle last March, Walkersville came from behind to hand the Indians a heart-breaking 74-72 loss after Mt. Savage lost its scoring stars — Ralph Wilson and Bobby Robertson — on personals in the fourth period.

It was Robertson and Wilson, along with guard Leo Harden, who propelled the Indians to yesterday's triumph over a Boonsboro (Washington County) team that entered the contest with a 14-6 record.

25-53 From Floor

Robertson and Wilson each had eight field goals in a hot-shooting attack which found the Allegany County crew shooting just under 50 per cent from the floor. In 53 shots, the Indians connected on 25 for a .472 reading.

Boonsboro made a game of it until midway through the second period. In the opening quarter, the score was tied twice — at 8-8 and 10-10, before Harden's field goal gave the Indians a lead they never surrendered.

Early in the second frame, Jack Rohrer hit on a jump shot to pull the Warriors to within one point, 18-17, but Wilson quickly followed up with a pair of free throws. With 2:30 left in the half, Mt. Savage hit a streak of seven straight points (all by Robertson and Wilson) to push the advantage to 29-19.

Following a fairly even third period, the Indians got into high gear in the final eight minutes, outscoring Boonsboro 23-14 to win going away.

Makes 11 Free Throws

Robertson converted 11 of 13 foul chances to go with his eight field goals and grabbed game scoring honors with 27 points. Wilson finished with 19 tallies and Harden collected 17.

The trio of Carroll Mumma, Rohrer and Courtney Beard accounted for all but five of the Warriors' points. Mumma was high man with 16, while Rohrer tossed in 15 and Beard had 11. Boonsboro's overall shooting was way off, the Warriors clicking on only 16 of 72 attempts for a .222 percentage mark.

Southern's Highlanders wilted in the second half last night after making things tough for the favored Lions in the first two periods of their semi-final clash.

Although the Highlanders held the lead only once, at 7-6 in the opening minutes, they trailed by only four points (28-24) when the half came to an end.

Southern Attack Fizzles

Southern's Bill Carlson opened the scoring with a field goal in the third period to cut Walkersville's edge to two, but at that point the Garrett Countians' attack began to fizzle.

The Lions rattled off eight straight tallies before Southern scored again — on a pair of foul tosses by Pat Garrett with 2:50 remaining in the period. The Lions took a ten-point (46-36) lead into the final period, which they dominated completely. Southern was outscored 22-12 in the quarter.

Eddie Cook and Leo Duncan sparked Walkersville with 22 and 18 points, respectively. The Lions had a .342 shooting percentage from the floor (27-79), while Southern took the same number of shots but connected on only 19 for an unimpressive .241 mark. Carlson had 13 points and Garrett had 10 for the Highlanders.

ACCORDING to Lions Club headquarters in Charleston, more than 3,500 persons have been nominated for selection as all-time West Virginia Sports Greats.

The deadline for submitting nominations is today, having been extended from February 15 because some counties were late in organizing the program.

A total of 1963 persons will be selected.

Each county has been assigned a quota based on its average population over the years.

THE many friends of William V. "Bill" Keegan, police and fire commissioner, former basketball star and big wheel in the operation of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club, are wishing him a speedy recovery from an illness that has him hospitalized since Wednesday.

ROBERT Moses "Lefty" Grove, Lonaconing native, who won 411 and lost 180 during his minor-major league career (1920-1941) will mark his sixty-third birthday next Wednesday.

The big southpaw who now resides in Norwalk, Ohio, was born March 6, 1900.

During his major league career the Hall of Famer recorded 300 wins and 141 losses while twirling for the Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox.

Lefty is the last major leaguer to win more than 30 games in one season. He won 31 games in 1931 when he was 31 years old and lost only four. During that campaign he scored 16 consecutive victories.

Lefty led the American League in earned run percentages nine times, was the strikeout leader seven times and won 20 or more games eight times.

TO BOXING FAN:

Jake LaMotta is apparently the right name of the former middleweight champion. We have checked LaMotta stories and ring records and find no other name mentioned.

WHILE on the subject of ring names do you know that the correct name of Harry Jeffra, of Baltimore, former bantamweight champion, is Ignacius Pasquali Guiffi.

And how about these:

Joe Louis, Louis Barrow; Sugar Ray Robinson, Walker Smith; Benny Leonard, Benjamin Leiner; Jack Britton, John Breslin; Lou Ambers, Louis D'Ambrosio; Willie Pep, William Papaleo; Kid Williams, John Gutenko.

THERE IS more to the home plate in a major league park than the eye can see. They are made of solid rubber one inch thick, the wooden base is made of laminated redwood 4 inches thick, is 17 by 17 inches, weighs 20 pounds and costs $25.

The pitcher's rubber, two feet long, six inches square, hollow in the middle, costs $40.

Thorn Gets 37, West Virginia Winner, 81-63

Furman Is Beaten, WVU Goes To Finals

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Rod Thorn dunked in 37 points Friday night to help West Virginia settle an old score with Furman 81-63 and push the defending champion Mountaineers into the finals of the Southern Conference basketball tournament.

West Virginia will meet the winner of the semifinal game between Davidson and Virginia Tech for the championship Saturday night.

Thorn put on a one-man show in the first half by scoring nine points in less than a minute and wrecking the Paladins' slowdown tactics which had allowed them to tie the score six times early in the game.

All-Southern Guard Jerry Smith hit 17 points in the first half and wound up with 26 for Furman despite a double team defense mounted against him to stop his driving layups.

The victory gave West Virginia its eighth consecutive season with 20 wins or better, a feat duplicated by only three teams in the history of basketball. The Mountaineers have lost seven, including a 59-58 setback to the Paladins.

Training Camp Briefs

Detroit Holdouts Start Own Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Holdouts Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash of the Detroit Tigers have solved the problem of working out. They've started their own training camp.

The two big sluggers are staying at a nearby motel and they've been working out together for the past couple of days.

Cards Emphasize Batting Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —With 53 ball players in uniform and only pitcher Ed Bauta and outfielder Minnie Minoso missing, manager Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals sent his athletes through a long workout Friday, including two hours of batting practice.

Observers were most interested in George Altman, obtained from the Chicago Cubs to bolster the Redbirds' attack, and Dick Groat, shortstop from the Pittsburgh Pirates, who is counted on to make the St. Louis infield combination one of the best in the majors.

Cannon, Giles Talk To Pirate Players

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — National League President Warren Giles and Judge Robert Cannon, major league players' counsel, addressed the Pirates for an hour Friday at the start of their tour of the major league camps.

Judge Cannon explained the new pension setup and told the players to treat baseball like a business in their efforts to sell the game to press, radio and the public.

He also warned the players to make certain of their acquaintances in baseball.

Howard Belts Ball In Intra-Squad Game

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Frank Howard, Bill Skowron and Tommy Davis formed a fearsome righthanded-hitting threesome Friday to lead the Leo Durochers to an 8-5 win over the Danny Ozarks in the Los Angeles Dodgers' opening six - inning intra - squad game.

The trio accounted for 17 total bases and drove in seven runs. Howard exploded a triple and two home runs, the last a 450-foot shot over the flag pole in dead-center. Skowron singled twice and had two RBIs in the cleanup role and Davis doubled twice, knocking in one run.

Wheeling Central, Clarksburg Team Win In Tourney

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Undefeated Wheeling Central apparently didn't miss the "suspended six" Friday as the Maroon Knights romped over Parkersburg Catholic 77-47 in the opening game of the West Virginia Catholic Basketball tournament here Friday.

Clarksburg Notre Dame had just as easy a time in whipping Morgantown St. Francis 69-40 in the other day game to move into Saturday night's Double-A semi-finals against defending champion Wheeling Central.

Huntington St. Joseph's met Weirton Madonna and McMechen Bishop Donahue took on Charleston Catholic in night action.

Billy Hoeft Suffers Shoulder Separation In Fall On Stairway

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—San Francisco Giants pitcher Billy Hoeft, acquired by trade last winter from Baltimore, suffered a slight separation of his left shoulder in a fall Friday.

Hoeft tripped over a bottom stair while heading for breakfast at training camp and landed on his left hand. A hospital check indicated the sepration and Hoeft was sent to an orthopedic doctor.

Trainer Frank Bowman estimated the 30-year-old southpaw, who had been counted on heavily for relif duty and possible starting assignments, would miss three to four weeks — virtually the entire spring training.

NOT CHOOSEY

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —The late "Iron Man" Joe Grim, never heavier than 165 pounds, fought all comers including heavyweights in 300 bouts from 1902 to 1913. He was floored more often than any other prominent boxer but was knocked out only three times.

Adair Tags First Training Camp Pitch

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Jerry Adair belted the first batting practice pitch served to him over the left field wall Friday as the Baltimore Orioles staged their first full-squad spring workout.

Adair, who divided his time between second base and shortstop last season because Ron Hansen, the Orioles' regular shortstop, was in the Army most of the year, will stick to second exclusively this year.

Rookie Impresses Angel Manager

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Duncan Campbell, a 25-year-old third baseman-outfielder purchased by the Los Angeles Angels from Pittsburgh, drew praise from manager Bill Rigney Friday following a lengthy infield and outfield throwing drill.

"He does everything well," said Rigney of Campbell, purchased from Asheville of the Pirate organization after he hit .311 last season.

Killebrew Happy To Stay In Outfield

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew said Friday "you can call me Happy Harmon this spring" as he prepared to open defense of his American League home run and runs batted in championships.

"I have been a big league regular for four seasons," said the Minnesota Twins slugger, "and I have played three different positions. Last spring, I didn't know if I was the first baseman, third baseman or leftfielder. I wound up in left, felt I did pretty good out there, and they tell me I'll stay in left, now."

The shifting around hasn't seemed to hamper Harmon too much, at that. In his four years as a nomadic regular, he has hit more homers than anybody else in baseball, 167.

Senators Concerned About Cuban Player

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) —General Manager George Selkirk expressed some concern Friday because Washington's first baseman Rogelio Alvarez hasn't been able to get out of Cuba to join the Senators in training.

But Selkirk said he would wait another week before really worrying.

Alvarez has a visa and a round-trip plane ticket from Havana to Mexico City to Pompano Beach but has been unable to leave Cuba. The round-trip ticket was specified by Cuban authorities.

The Senators talked to Alverez twice Thursday by telephone and he said he visits the immigration office three times daily but has not obtained permission to leave.

The Senators obtained Alvarez in a deal which sent Harry Bright, last year's first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds.

Four Braves Absent As Training Begins

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UPI — Forty-six players showed up and four didn't as the Milwaukee Braves began full scale spring training Friday.

One of the absentees, outfielder Henry Aaron, was detained in Mobile, Ala., by the illness of his son, Larry, who has pneumonia. The others who are unsigned—catcher Joe Torre and outfielders Mack Jones and Howie Bedell.

Terp Swimmers Beat Gamecocks

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland easily captured its final dual swimming meet of the season trouncing South Carolina 64-26 at Cole Field House Friday night.

Maryland took 9 of 11 events as the seniors, swimming their last home meet, dominated the action. Hugh Roddin won the 200-yard backstroke and the 200 - yard breaststroke and swam on the winning 400-yard medley relay team to cap his Maryland career.

Maryland wound up their Atlantic Coast Conference slate with 5-2 mark and 10-2 overall, while the Gamecocks are 0-6 in the conference with one meet remaining at Virginia Saturday.

Bob Rosburg Leads Field

Posts Sizzling 67 In Louisiana Golf

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Hot-putting Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., fired five consecutive birdies Friday and carded a sizzling 67 to grab a one-stroke lead at the end of the first round of the $40,000 Greater New Orleans Invitational golf tournament.

Defending New Orleans champion Bo winninger of Oklahoma City was second with a 68, followed by Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., at 69.

First place in the tournament is worth $6,400.

Rosburg started his round on the back nine, and he opened with birdies on the first five holes. That tied a PGA record for the season, and his 67 was the best round ever turned in from the pro tees on the windy Lakewood Country Club course.

Tied at 70 were leading money winner Gary Player of South Africa, Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth, Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex. and Bob Charles.

The only other pros to better the par 72 on the course were Paul Bondeson, Don Fairfield, John Langford, Ron Leteller, Claude King and Ed Furgol, all with 71's.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the second and third leading money winners of the year, both had trouble with the 7,000-yard course and finished with two-over-par 74's.

Never Bend And Candy Spots Favored In Rich Races Today

Two $100,000 Events Set For Three-Year Olds

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Never Bend, the 1962 2-year-old champ, and unbeaten Candy Spots who has raced only four times, are strong favorites to take Saturday's two $100,000-added horse races and set up their clash for the 3-year-old title.

Never Bend, never out of the money in 10 starts in winning a record $402,969 last year, opposes 10 other Derby-age colts in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park. The Cain Hoy colt is the 1-2 choice.

Candy Spots, who handed Never Bend one of his three 1962 setbacks while winning the Washington-Arlington Futurity, tangles with 12 other of his age in the Santa Anita Derby. He's the 6-5 choice.

Both races are at 1⅛ miles. In the Flamingo all carry 122 pounds. Conditions of the Santa Anita Derby call for each to pack 118 pounds.

With 11 starters the Flamingo will be worth $136,000 with $88,790 going to the winner. The Santa Anita Derby will have a gross value of $143,000 with 13 starters and the winner will take down $98,300.

Each star has been out once this year. Candy Spots, owned by Rex Ellsworth and hailed by many as the best thoroughbred to come out of California since Ellsworth's Swaps in 1955, narrowly won a 6-furlong race at Santa Anita on Feb. 19.

Never Bend, who carries the silks of Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, galloped home by 14 lengths in a betless sprint at Hialeah. Both have turned in sensational workouts in preparation for their big tests.

If all goes well Saturday, the May 4 running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs will be a natural. Trainers of both horses, Woody Stephens of Never Bend and Mesh Tenney of Candy Spots, have said the Kentucky Derby is the next chief objective for their stars.

Never Bend will have Manuel Ycaza in the saddle and the early betting line indicated his chief competition is expected from Ogden Phipps' Royal Ascot, 5-1 and Elmendorf's B. Major, 8-1. All of the others—Taut Ship, Sum Dum Kid, Mr. Cold Storage, Bally Squire, King Toots, Master Dennis, Gray Pet and Tenacle—are rank outsiders.

Candy Spots, with Bill Shoemaker handling the reins, faces what appears to be a tougher field. And he never has carried his speed more than seven furlongs. Odds makers figure his chief threat will come from Fred W. Hooper Jr.'s strong entry of Sky Gem and Win-Em-All to be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela and Braulio Baeza, respectively. The entry was held at 3-1.

Pre-race odds on the others ranged from 10-1 to 50-1. They are Denodado, Country Squire, Beekeeper, Royal Tower, Mr. Kare, Switchback, Tourlourou, Round Rock, Doolin Point and Might and Main.

St. Michael's Tests SS. Peter And Paul Quint Here Sunday

SS. Peter & Paul, pacing the second half race with a 4-0 record, will play host to St. Michael's of Frostburg (4-1) in the Catholic Youth Basketball League feature attraction Sunday at 2:45 p.m., at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

Frostburg held SS. Peter & Paul on even terms in the first half, winning the opener 32-26 and losing the second game, 44-28.

St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, plays St. Ambrose in the 1:30 game tomorrow while St. Peter's, Westernport, opposes St. Mary's Gaels at 4 p.m.

Regis Arnold, of St. Michael's, has a strangle hold on first place in the scoring race with 322 points to his credit. Joe Shaffer, Mt. Savage, is runner-up with 220 and is followed by Eddie Barth, Mt. Savage, 205; Terry Davis, St. Peter's, 199; Ricky Scaletta, St. Patrick's, 192; Pat McLean, SS. Peter & Paul, 185, and Bob Snyder, St. Mary's 180.

Pen-Mar League Meets Tomorrow

An important meeting of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will be held tomorrow at Melody Manor in Barrelville, beginning at 2 p.m.

The agenda includes election of officers, posting of forfeit fees and adoption of the league schedule for the 1963 season.

Trial Is Postponed

The Penn-Central Association qualifying field trial scheduled for Sunday at the Barton farm, McMullen highway, has been postponed until Saturday, March 30, it was announced last night by Louis Stitcher, secretary of the Allegany Beagle Club.

Lane Favored To Beat Derado In Garden Bout

Contender Risks Number One Rating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., the No. 1 contender for Carlos Ortiz' world lightweight title, makes his first start in nearly six months Saturday night when he takes on tough Vicente Derado of Argentina in a nationally-televised bout at Madison Square Garden.

Lane, who stopped Len Matthews in nine rounds at Philadelphia last September, is a solid 8 to 5 favorite to beat Derado, a 27-year-old curly-haired boxer from Buenos Aires, who lacks a solid knockout punch but can wear an opponent down.

Lane will be risking his high rating against Derado, but he did that twice last year, and on each occasion he stopped would-be contenders for Oritz' crown. In addition to beating Matthews, he stopped Louis Molina of San Jose, Calif., and Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela.

Derado is no push-over. He has won 36 fights, 16 by knockout, has lost 10 and drawn in eight. His confusing style often perplexes his opponents and he has the type of punch that can wear out the best of boxers.

Lane carries an impressive record of his own into the ring against Derado. He has won 72 fights, lost only 12, had two draws and knocked out 15.

Mt. Savage And Walkersville To Play For District Class B Title

Allegany Countians Seek Revenge For 1962 Tourney Loss

Mt. Savage scored a decisive 69-47 triumph over Boonsboro, and Walkersville posted a similarly convincing 68-48 win over Southern of Oakland last night to advance to the finals of the Maryland District One Class B playoff at the South Hagerstown gymnasium.

Today's championship clash, set for 3:30 p.m. at the South High arena, brings together two clubs which last year battled for the district Class A title at Allegany. Both schools were placed in the lower classification this season.

In that memorable battle last March, Walkersville came from behind to hand the Indians a heart-breaking 74-72 loss after Mt. Savage lost its scoring stars — Ralph Wilson and Bobby Robertson — on personals in the fourth period.

It was Robertson and Wilson, along with guard Leo Harden, who propelled the Indians to yesterday's triumph over a Boonsboro (Washington County) team that entered the contest with a 14-6 record.

25-53 From Floor

Robertson and Wilson each had eight field goals in a hot-shooting attack which found the Allegany County crew shooting just under 50 per cent from the floor. In 53 shots, the Indians connected on 25 for a .472 reading.

Boonsboro made a game of it until midway through the second period. In the opening quarter, the score was tied twice — at 8-8 and 10-10, before Harden's field goal gave the Indians a lead they never surrendered.

Early in the second frame, Jack Rohrer hit on a jump shot to pull the Warriors to within one point, 18-17, but Wilson quickly followed up with a pair of free throws. With 2:30 left in the half, Mt. Savage hit a streak of seven straight points (all by Robertson and Wilson) to push the advantage to 29-19.

Following a fairly even third period, the Indians got into high gear in the final eight minutes, outscoring Boonsboro 23-14 to win going away.

Makes 11 Free Throws

Robertson converted 11 of 13 foul chances to go with his eight field goals and grabbed game scoring honors with 27 points. Wilson finished with 19 tallies and Harden collected 17.

The trio of Carroll Mumma, Rohrer and Courtney Beard accounted for all but five of the Warriors' points. Mumma was high man with 16, while Rohrer tossed in 15 and Beard had 11. Boonsboro's overall shooting was way off, the Warriors clicking on only 16 of 72 attempts for a .222 percentage mark.

Southern's Highlanders wilted in the second half last night after making things tough for the favored Lions in the first two periods of their semi-final clash.

Although the Highlanders held the lead only once, at 7-6 in the opening minutes, they trailed by only four points (28-24) when the half came to an end.

Southern Attack Fizzles

Southern's Bill Carlson opened the scoring with a field goal in the third period to cut Walkersville's edge to two, but at that point the Garrett Countians' attack began to fizzle.

The Lions rattled off eight straight tallies before Southern scored again — on a pair of foul tosses by Pat Garrett with 2:50 remaining in the period. The Lions took a ten-point (46-36) lead into the final period, which they dominated completely. Southern was outscored 22-12 in the quarter.

Eddie Cook and Leo Duncan sparked Walkersville with 22 and 18 points, respectively. The Lions had a .342 shooting percentage from the floor (27-79), while Southern took the same number of shots but connected on only 19 for an unimpressive .241 mark. Carlson had 13 points and Garrett had 10 for the Highlanders.

ACCORDING to Lions Club headquarters in Charleston, more than 3,500 persons have been nominated for selection as all-time West Virginia Sports Greats.

The deadline for submitting nominations is today, having been extended from February 15 because some counties were late in organizing the program.

A total of 1963 persons will be selected.

Each county has been assigned a quota based on its average population over the years.

THE many friends of William V. "Bill" Keegan, police and fire commissioner, former basketball star and big wheel in the operation of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club, are wishing him a speedy recovery from an illness that has him hospitalized since Wednesday.

The former mayor of Barrelville is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital.

ROBERT Moses "Lefty" Grove, Lonaconing native, who won 411 and lost 180 during his minor-major league career (1926-1941) will mark his sixty-third birthday next Wednesday.

The big southpaw who now resides in Norwalk, Ohio, was born March 6, 1900.

During his major league career the Hall of Famer recorded 300 wins and 141 losses while twirling for the Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox.

Lefty is the last major leaguer to win more than 30 games in one season. He won 31 games in 1931 when he was 31 years old and lost only four. During that campaign he scored 16 consecutive victories.

Lefty led the American League in earned run percentages nine times, was the strikeout leader seven times and won 20 or more games eight times.

TO BOXING FAN:

Jake LaMotta is apparently the right name of the former middleweight champion. We have checked LaMotta stories and ring records and find no other name mentioned.

WHILE on the subject of ring names do you know that the correct name of Harry Jeffra, of Baltimore, former bantamweight champion, is Ignacius Pasquali Guiffi.

And how about these:

The pitcher's rubber, two feet long, six inches square, hollow in the middle, costs $40.

Thorn Gets 37, West Virginia Winner, 81-63

Furman Is Beaten, WVU Goes To Finals

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —Rod Thorn dunked in 37 points Friday night to help West Virginia settle an old score with Furman 81-63 and push the defending champion Mountaineers into the finals of the Southern Conference basketball tournament.

West Virginia will meet the winner of the semifinal game between Davidson and Virginia Tech for the championship Saturday night.

Thorn put on a one-man show in the first half by scoring nine points in less than a minute and wrecking the Paladins' slowdown tactics which had allowed them to tie the score six times early in the game.

All-Southern Guard Jerry Smith hit 17 points in the first half and wound up with 26 for Furman despite a double team defense mounted against him to stop his driving layups.

The victory gave West Virginia its eighth consecutive season with 20 wins or better, a feat duplicated by only three teams in the history of basketball. The Mountaineers have lost seven, including a 59-58 setback to the Paladins.

Training Camp Briefs

Detroit Holdouts Start Own Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Holdouts Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash of the Detroit Tigers have solved the problem of working out. They've started their own training camp.

The two big sluggers are staying at a nearby motel and they've been working out together for the past couple of days.

Cards Emphasize Batting Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —With 53 ball players in uniform and only pitcher Ed Bauta and outfielder Minnie Minoso missing, manager Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals sent his athletes through a long workout Friday, including two hours of batting practice.

Observers were most interested in George Altman, obtained from the Chicago Cubs to bolster the Redbirds' attack, and Dick Groat, shortstop from the Pittsburgh Pirates, who is counted on to make the St. Louis infield combination one of the best in the majors.

Cannon, Giles Talk To Pirate Players

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — National League President Warren Giles and Judge Robert Cannon, major league players' counsel, addressed the Pirates for an hour Friday at the start of their tour of the major league camps.

Judge Cannon explained the new pension setup and told the players to treat baseball like a business in their efforts to sell the game to press, radio and the public.

He also warned the players to make certain of their acquaintances in baseball.

Howard Belts Ball In Intra-Squad Game

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Frank Howard, Bill Skowron and Tommy Davis formed a fearsome righthanded-hitting threesome Friday to lead the Leo Durochers to an 8-5 win over the Danny Ozarks in the Los Angeles Dodgers' opening six - inning intra - squad game.

The trio accounted for 17 total bases and drove in seven runs. Howard exploded a triple and two home runs, the last a 450-foot shot over the flag pole in dead-center. Skowron singled twice and had two RBIs in the cleanup role and Davis doubled twice, knocking in one run.

Wheeling Central, Clarksburg Team Win In Tourney

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Undefeated Wheeling Central apparently didn't miss the "suspended six" Friday as the Maroon Knights romped over Parkersburg Catholic 77-47 in the opening game of the West Virginia Catholic Basketball tournament here Friday.

Clarksburg Notre Dame had just as easy a time in whipping Morgantown St. Francis 69-40 in the other day game to move into Saturday night's Double-A semi-finals against defending champion Wheeling Central.

Huntington St. Joseph's met Weirton Madonna and McMechen Bishop Donahue took on Charleston Catholic in night action.

Billy Hoeft Suffers Shoulder Separation In Fall On Stairway

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)— San Francisco Giants pitcher Billy Hoeft, acquired by trade last winter from Baltimore, suffered a slight separation of his left shoulder in a fall Friday.

Hoeft tripped over a bottom stair while heading for breakfast at training camp and landed on his left hand. A hospital check indicated the sepration and Hoeft was sent to an orthopedic doctor.

Trainer Frank Bowman estimated the 30-year-old southpaw, who had been counted on heavily for relif duty and possible starting assignments, would miss three to four weeks — virtually the entire spring training.

NOT CHOOSEY

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —The late "Iron Man" Joe Grim, never heavier than 165 pounds, fought all comers including heavyweights in 300 bouts from 1902 to 1913. He was floored more often than any other prominent boxer but was knocked out only three times.

Adair Tags First Training Camp Pitch

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Jerry Adair belted the first batting practice pitch served to him over the left field wall Friday as the Baltimore Orioles staged their first full-squad spring workout.

Adair, who divided his time between second base and shortstop last season because Ron Hansen, the Orioles' regular shortstop, was in the Army most of the year, will stick to second exclusively this year.

Rookie Impresses Angel Manager

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Duncan Campbell, a 25-year-old third baseman-outfielder purchased by the Los Angeles Angels from Pittsburgh, drew praise from manager Bill Rigney Friday following a lengthy infield and outfield throwing drill.

"He does everything well," said Rigney of Campbell, purchased from Asheville of the Pirate organization after he hit .311 last season.

Killebrew Happy To Stay In Outfield

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew said Friday "you can call me Happy Harmon this spring" as he prepared to open defense of his American League home run and runs batted in championships.

"I have been a big league regular for four seasons," said the Minnesota Twins slugger, "and I have played three different positions. Last spring, I didn't know if I was the first baseman, third baseman or leftfielder. I wound up in left, felt I did pretty good out there, and they tell me I'll stay in left, now."

The shifting around hasn't seemed to hamper Harmon too much, at that. In his four years as a nomadic regular, he has hit more homers than anybody else in baseball, 167.

Senators Concerned About Cuban Player

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) —General Manager George Selkirk expressed some concern Friday because Washington's first baseman Rogelio Alvarez hasn't been able to get out of Cuba to join the Senators in training.

But Selkirk said he would wait another week before really worrying.

Alvarez has a visa and a round-trip plane ticket from Havana to Mexico City to Pompano Beach but has been unable to leave Cuba. The round-trip ticket was specified by Cuban authorities.

The Senators talked to Alverez twice Thursday by telephone and he said he visits the immigration office three times daily but has not obtained permission to leave.

The Senators obtained Alvarez in a deal which sent Harry Bright, last year's first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds.

Four Braves Absent As Training Begins

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UPI — Forty-six players showed up and four didn't as the Milwaukee Braves began full scale spring training Friday.

One of the absentees, outfielder Henry Aaron, was detained in Mobile, Ala., by the illness of his son, Larry, who has pneumonia. The others who are unsigned—catcher Joe Torre and outfielders Mack Jones and Howie Bedell.

Bob Rosburg Leads Field

Posts Sizzling 67 In Louisiana Golf

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Hot-putting Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., fired five consecutive birdies Friday and carded a sizzling 67 to grab a one-stroke lead at the end of the first round of the $40,000 Greater New Orleans Invitational golf tournament.

Defending New Orleans champion Bo winninger of Oklahoma City was second with a 68, followed by Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., at 69.

First place in the tournament is worth $6,400.

Rosburg started his round on the back nine, and he opened with birdies on the first five holes. That tied a PGA record for the season, and his 67 was the best round ever turned in from the pro tees on the windy Lakewood Country Club course.

Tied at 70 were leading money winner Gary Player of South Africa, Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth, Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex. and Bob Charles.

The only other pros to better the par 72 on the course were Paul Bondeson, Don Fairfield, John Langford, Ron Leteller, Claude King and Ed Furgol, all with 71's.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the second and third leading money winners of the year, both had trouble with the 7,000-yard course and finished with two-over-par 74's.

Never Bend And Candy Spots Favored In Rich Races Today

Two $100,000 Events Set For Three-Year Olds

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Never Bend, the 1962 2-year-old champ, and unbeaten Candy Spots who has raced only four times, are strong favorites to take Saturday's two $100,000-added horse races and set up their clash for the 3-year-old title.

Never Bend, never out of the money in 10 starts in winning a record $402,969 last year, opposes 10 other Derby-age colts in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park. The Cain Hoy colt is the 1-2 choice.

Candy Spots, who handed Never Bend one of his three 1962 setbacks while winning the Washington-Arlington Futurity, tangles with 12 other of his age in the Santa Anita Derby. He's the 6-5 choice.

Both races are at 1⅛ miles. In the Flamingo all carry 122 pounds. Conditions of the Santa Anita Derby call for each to pack 118 pounds.

With 11 starters the Flamingo will be worth $136,000 with $88,790 going to the winner. The Santa Anita Derby will have a gross value of $143,000 with 13 starters and the winner will take down $98,300.

Each star has been out once this year. Candy Spots, owned by Rex Ellsworth and hailed by many as the best thoroughbred to come out of California since Ellsworth's Swaps in 1955, narrowly won a 6-furlong race at Santa Anita on Feb. 19.

Never Bend, who carries the silks of Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, galloped home by 14 lengths in a betless sprint at Hialeah. Both have turned in sensational workouts in preparation for their big tests.

If all goes well Saturday, the May 4 running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs will be a natural. Trainers of both horses, Woody Stephens of Never Bend and Mesh Tenney of Candy Spots, have said the Kentucky Derby is the next chief objective for their stars.

Never Bend will have Manuel Ycaza in the saddle and the early betting line indicated his chief competition is expected from Ogden Phipps' Royal Ascot, 5-1 and Elmendorf's B. Major, 8-1. All of the others—Taut Ship, Sum Dum Kid, Mr. Cold Storage, Bally Squire, King Toots, Master Dennis, Gray Pet and Tenacle—are rank outsiders.

Candy Spots, with Bill Shoemaker handling the reins, faces what appears to be a tougher field. And he never has carried his speed more than seven furlongs. Odds makers figure his chief threat will come from Fred W. Hooper Jr.'s strong entry of Sky Gem and Win-Em-All to be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela and Braulio Baeza, respectively. The entry was held at 3-1.

Pre-race odds on the others ranged from 10-1 to 50-1. They are Denodado, Country Squire, Beekeeper, Royal Tower, Mr. Kare, Switchback, Tourlourou, Round Rock, Doolin Point and Might and Main.

St. Michael's Tests SS. Peter And Paul Quint Here Sunday

SS. Peter & Paul, pacing the second half race with a 4-0 record, will play host to St. Michael's of Frostburg (4-1) in the Catholic Youth Basketball League feature attraction Sunday at 2:45 p.m., at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

Frostburg held SS. Peter & Paul on even terms in the first half, winning the opener 32-26 and losing the second game, 44-28.

St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, plays St. Ambrose in the 1:30 game tomorrow while St. Peter's, Westernport, opposes St. Mary's Gaels at 4 p.m.

Regis Arnold, of St. Michael's, has a strangle hold on first place in the scoring race with 322 points to his credit. Joe Shaffer, Mt. Savage, is runner-up with 220 and is followed by Eddie Barth, Mt. Savage, 205; Terry Davis, St. Peter's, 199; Ricky Scaletta, St. Patrick's, 192; Pat McLean, SS. Peter & Paul, 185, and Bob Snyder, St. Mary's 180.

Pen-Mar League Meets Tomorrow

An important meeting of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will be held tomorrow at Melody Manor in Barrelville, beginning at 2 p.m.

The agenda includes election of officers, posting of forfeit fees and adoption of the league schedule for the 1963 season.

Trial Is Postponed

The Penn-Central Association qualifying field trial scheduled for Sunday at the Barton farm, McMullen highway, has been postponed until Saturday, March 30, it was announced last night by Louis Stitcher, secretary of the Allegany Beagle Club.

Lane Favored To Beat Derado In Garden Bout

Contender Risks Number One Rating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., the No. 1 contender for Carlos Ortiz' world lightweight title, makes his first start in nearly six months Saturday night when he takes on tough Vicente Derado of Argentina in a nationally-televised bout at Madison Square Garden.

Lane, who stopped Len Matthews in nine rounds at Philadelphia last September, is a solid 8 to 5 favorite to beat Derado, a 27-year-old curly-haired boxer from Buenos Aires, who lacks a solid knockout punch but can wear an opponent down.

Lane will be risking his high rating against Derado, but he did that twice last year, and on each occasion he stopped would-be contenders for Oritz' crown. In addition to beating Matthews, he stopped Louis Molina of San Jose, Calif., and Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela.

Derado is no push-over. He has won 36 fights, 16 by knockout, has lost 10 and drawn in eight. His confusing style often perplexes his opponents and he has the type of punch that can wear out the best of boxers.

Lane carries an impressive record of his own into the ring against Derado. He has won 72 fights, lost only 12, had two draws and knocked out 15.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and son-in-law, Russell Blubaugh. We especially wish to thank Rev. Louis Emerick, those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.

Wife and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Beaman

I wish to thank all of my friends and neighbors who were so kind to me following the recent death of my dear father, John R. Kiddy. I especially want to thank Rev. McClain, the Choir and Pallbearers, also those who sent flowers and cards and those who donated the use of their cars.

Daughter: Lillian Kiddy

In Memoriam

When earth's last picture is painted
and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colours have faded,
and the youngest critic has died.
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it
—Lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen,
Shall put us to work anew.

In memory of A. Scott Marvin
Passed away one year February 28, 1962

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and son-in-law, Russell Blubaugh. We especially wish to thank Rev. Louis Emerick, those who sent cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.

Wife and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Beaman

I wish to thank all of my friends and neighbors who were so kind to me following the recent death of my dear father, John R. Kiddy. I especially want to thank Rev. McClain, the Choir and Pallbearers, also those who sent flowers and cards and those who donated the use of their cars.

Daughter: Lillian Kiddy

In Memoriam

When earth's last picture is painted
and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colours have faded,
and the youngest critic has died.
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it
—Lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen,
Shall put us to work anew.

In memory of A. Scott Marvin

Apportionment Bill Approved By Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature, ignoring warnings that it was about to turn the question of reapportionment over to a federal court, gave final approval Friday to a bill enlarging the House and Senate and guaranteeing each county at least one delegate.

The House concurred in Senate amendments and approved the bill 52-42 about three hours after the Senate passed the measure 20-12.

In other legislative action Friday, the Senate moved to amendment stage Saturday a Finance Committee report recommending passage of a $152.62 million general revenue budget for 1963-64.

Final action on the reapportionment bill started Friday afternoon in the Senate where President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, turning the chair over to Sen. C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, pleaded with his colleagues to defeat the measure.

Carson, arguing that the language of the West Virginia Constitution was "plain and unequivocal," maintained that the bill scheduled for a vote was unconstitutional "in several respects."

The measure increases the House from the present 100 members to 106 and gives the Senate another district, including two in Kanawha County.

The Senate president was supported in his argument by Sen. Paul Kaufman, D-Kanawha, who noted that several senators "have expressed a reluctance to putting themselves on record as to whether the bill is unconstitutional."

"I would like to, in my relative infancy, put myself on record by saying that this bill is plainly violative of the state and federal constitutions."

Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall, who led the fight against the bill, said it was not the Legislature's place but that of the courts to say whether the bill is constitutional.

Carrigan said, however, that the Constitution does obligate the Legislature to reapportion and that it would be best to pass a bill in order to let the courts decide the question of constitutionality.

The debate in the Senate continued for 45 minutes before the upper chamber passed the bill 20-12 and sent it to the House, which was still in session.

The House went through its calendar before receiving the message that the Senate had passed the bill.

Del. Jack R. Nuzum, D-Randolph, leader of the forces behind the House - approved bill, moved that the message be taken up immediately and that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

The amendments consisted of a reduction from 23 to 17 districts in the Senate and the striking of a "declaration of intent" which the House had written into its bill.

House Minority Leader George H. Seibert, R-Ohio, and Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton, D-Kanawha, led delegates opposing Nuzum's motion.

A variety of unsuccessful attempts were made to delay immediate action on the bill. Del. Pat Board, D-Kanawha, moved that it be held over until Saturday and Del. Carmine Cann, D-Harrison, moved that it be made a special order of business at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Board's motion was defeated by a voice vote and Cann's lost when it was tabled 55-40. Seibert moved to table Nuzum's motion but that lost 56-39.

Del. T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, made another unsuccessful attempt to postpone action before Brotherton's motion to postpone action was tabled in a voice vote.

Before the House voted finally to accept the Senate amendments and passed the bill finally, 52-42, Cann tried unsuccessfully to strike out the 17th senatorial district approved by the Senate.

The Legislature scheduled another Saturday session, the House starting at 11 a.m. and the Senate at 1 p.m.

In other floor action Friday, the House:

— Passed 94-3 and sent to the Senate a bill granting State Policemen some salary increases.

— Passed 92-5 and sent to the Senate a bill establishing an Educational Broadcasting Authority.

During a two - hour session Friday afternoon, the Senate also passed 27-5 and sent to the House a bill to increase ths salary of the State Police superintendent from $8,000 to $10,000 and passed 26-6 a bill to raise the salary of the state motor vehicles commissioner from $8,000 to $10,000.

County Bill Is Passed

One Allegany County and two Garrett County bills were passed Thursday and then on Wednesday in the General Assembly.

The Senate passed SB 204 which sets up an official court stenographer for Allegany and Garrett counties, calls for his payment by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit and also the amount he can charge for copies of trial transcripts.

The Senate reconsidered and enacted HB 280 that provides that the sum of $40 weekly and 80 per cent of all wages about $40 a week to be exempt from attachment in Garrett County. The bill is sponsored by the Garrett delegates.

Thursday, the Senate enacted HB 406 that provides that $75 monthly be paid by the Garrett County Commissioners to Ulysses Grant Ford, a retired school custodian.

Dumping Area To Be Opened Near Midlothian

A garbage and refuse dumping area will be opened near Midlothian in a strip mine area to serve 16,654 residents of the George Creek and adjacent sections.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian of the County Health Department, and Wilfred Shields, Baltimore, of the U. S. Public Health Service, met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss the project and make final plans for the dumping area.

Brooks said the Skidmore-Winters firm, which is operating a strip mine in the Midlothian area have offered the use of an old area, stripped some years ago, for the dump. The county plans to enter into a leasing arrangement with the strip mine operators for the use of the section.

Brooks said the dump will be operated on the land-fill system and there will be no burning and the project can be self-supporting by a charge of fees for its use. The problem of Frostburg, which has been seeking a dumping area, will be solved by the new dump as well as the other communities from Mt. Savage, to Clarysville and down the Georges Creek to Midland, and Lonaconing.

None of the communities affected will be more than 8.5 miles from the new dump. The program will also eliminate 16 trash dumping areas, all of which are eyesores and illegal, from the section to be served by the new dump, Brooks pointed out.

It was also stated that the new dump would not pollute any streams in that area and that the covering of the old strip mine 'scars' would add to the general appearance of the area.

Apportionment Bill Approved By Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Legislature, ignoring warnings that it was about to turn the question of reapportionment over to a federal court, gave final approval Friday to a bill enlarging the House and Senate and guaranteeing each county at least one delegate.

The House concurred in Senate amendments and approved the bill 52-42 about three hours after the Senate passed the measure 20-12.

In other legislative action Friday, the Senate moved to amendment stage Saturday a Finance Committee report recommending passage of a $152.62 million general revenue budget for 1963-64.

Final action on the reapportionment bill started Friday afternoon in the Senate where President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette, turning the chair over to Sen. C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, pleaded with his colleagues to defeat the measure.

Carson, arguing that the language of the West Virginia Constitution was "plain and unequivocal," maintained that the bill scheduled for a vote was unconstitutional "in several respects."

The measure increases the House from the present 100 members to 106 and gives the Senate another district, including two in Kanawha County.

The Senate president was supported in his argument by Sen. Paul Kaufman, D-Kanawha, who noted that several senators "have expressed a reluctance to putting themselves on record as to whether the bill is unconstitutional."

"I would like to, in my relative infancy, put myself on record by saying that this bill is plainly violative of the state and federal constitutions."

Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, R-Marshall, who led the fight against the bill, said it was not the Legislature's place but that of the courts to say whether the bill is constitutional.

Carrigan said, however, that the Constitution does obligate the Legislature to reapportion and that it would be best to pass a bill in order to let the courts decide the question of constitutionality.

The debate in the Senate continued for 45 minutes before the upper chamber passed the bill 20-12 and sent it to the House, which was still in session.

The House went through its calendar before receiving the message that the Senate had passed the bill.

Del. Jack R. Nuzum, D-Randolph, leader of the forces behind the House - approved bill, moved that the message be taken up immediately and that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

The amendments consisted of a reduction from 23 to 17 districts in the Senate and the striking of a "declaration of intent" which the House had written into its bill.

House Minority Leader George H. Seibert, R-Ohio, and Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton, D-Kanawha, led delegates opposing Nuzum's motion.

A variety of unsuccessful attempts were made to delay immediate action on the bill. Del. Pat Board, D-Kanawha, moved that it be held over until Saturday and Del. Carmine Cann, D-Harrison, moved that it be made a special order of business at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Board's motion was defeated by a voice vote and Cann's lost when it was tabled 55-40. Seibert moved to table Nuzum's motion but that lost 56-39.

Del. T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, made another unsuccessful attempt to postpone action before Brotherton's motion to postpone action was tabled in a voice vote.

Before the House voted finally to accept the Senate amendments and passed the bill finally, 52-42, Cann tried unsuccessfully to strike out the 17th senatorial district approved by the Senate.

The Legislature scheduled another Saturday session, the House starting at 11 a.m. and the Senate at 1 p.m.

In other floor action Friday, the House:

— Passed 94-3 and sent to the Senate a bill granting State Policemen some salary increases.

— Passed 92-5 and sent to the Senate a bill establishing an Educational Broadcasting Authority.

During a two - hour session Friday afternoon, the Senate also passed 27-5 and sent to the House a bill to increase ths salary of the State Police superintendent from $8,000 to $10,000 and passed 26-6 a bill to raise the salary of the state motor vehicles commissioner from $8,000 to $10,000.

Sales, Use Tax Revenues Are Up

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The comptroller's office reported Thursday that sales and use tax revenues during January rose 2.2 per cent over a similar period a year ago.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the state received $10,450,496 last month compared to $10,225,427 during January, 1962.

Revenues totaled $57,794,753, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the $54,621,777 for a similar period during fiscal 1962.

County Bill Is Passed

One Allegany County and two Garrett County bills were passed Thursday and then on Wednesday in the General Assembly.

The Senate passed SB 204 which sets up an official court stenographer for Allegany and Garrett counties, calls for his payment by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit and also the amount he can charge for copies of trial transcripts.

The Senate reconsidered and enacted HB 280 that provides that the sum of $40 weekly and 80 per cent of all wages about $40 a week to be exempt from attachment in Garrett County. The bill is sponsored by the Garrett delegates.

Thursday, the Senate enacted HB 406 that provides that $75 monthly be paid by the Garrett County Commissioners to Ulysses Grant Ford, a retired school custodian.

Dumping Area To Be Opened Near Midlothian

A garbage and refuse dumping area will be opened near Midlothian in a strip mine area to serve 16,654 residents of the George Creek and adjacent sections.

Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian of the County Health Department, and Wilfred Shields, Baltimore, of the U. S. Public Health Service, met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss the project and make final plans for the dumping area.

Brooks said the Skidmore-Winters firm, which is operating a strip mine in the Midlothian area have offered the use of an old area, stripped some years ago, for the dump. The county plans to enter into a leasing arrangement with the strip mine operators for the use of the section.

Brooks said the dump will be operated on the land-fill system and there will be no burning and the project can be self-supporting by a charge of fees for its use. The problem of Frostburg, which has been seeking a dumping area, will be solved by the new dump as well as the other communities from Mt. Savage, to Clarysville and down the Georges Creek to Midland, and Lonaconing.

None of the communities affected will be more than 8.5 miles from the new dump. The program will also eliminate 16 trash dumping areas, all of which are eyesores and illegal, from the section to be served by the new dump, Brooks pointed out.

It was also stated that the new dump would not pollute any streams in that area and that the covering of the old strip mine 'scars' would add to the general appearance of the area.

March Comes In Like Lion; Snow Forecast

Many Minor Wrecks Reported In Section

If yesterday's weather holds true to the old forecaster's tale about March coming in like a lion and going out like a lamb, the area should have nice weather at the end of the month.

Just about every type of precipitation was experienced here —snow, sleet, rain and freezing rain—and more of the same is forecast for today.

Snow began to fall in the Cumberland area yesterday about 7:15 a. m. and approximately 3½ inches was recorded last night.

Less Snow In Garrett

The mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain caused roads to become covered and the emergency snow plan was put into effect in both Allegany and Garrett counties, even though Garrett County received only about an inch of new snow.

The State Roads Commission said last night crews were still out in both counties but highways were "not in too bad shape."

The snow turned into rain early last night and the SRC said roads were covered but slushy. However some roads in the eastern section of Garrett County were reported slippery in spots.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said roads in that area were slick last night and drivers were urged to use caution.

The Everett detachment of the Pennsylvania State Police said there were a number of minor accidents on the turnpike, but no one was injured. Six inches of new snow fell in that area yesterday and several more inches were predicted during the night.

Several Accidents

Police at Bedford also reported a number of minor accidents with no injuries. The turnpike was said to be partially covered and crews were out last night plowing and cindering.

The Cumberland Police Department also reported at least five minor accidents that were attributed to the icy streets yesterday and there were several traffic tie-ups throughout the city due to the snow and sleet.

City Street Department crews were kept busy throughout the day plowing and applying cinders and abrasives to the streets.

Today's forecast calls for somewhat warmer temperatures with a chance of light snow or rain. The mercury hovered around the freezing mark most of the day yesterday and was still at 32 degrees late last night.

Bloodmobile Unit To Make Two Visits Next Week

Two area visits are scheduled next week by the Bloodmobile unit from Red Cross Regional Blood Center, Johnstown.

On Monday the mobile unit will be at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Tuesday it will be at Piedmont Presbyterian Church from noon until 6 p. m.

Citing the constant demand for blood for illness and operations which require many transfusions, a Red Cross spokesman said yesterday, walk-in donors will be very welcome at either visit of the bloodmobile unit.

Man Sentenced On Assault Charge

Roy Van Meter, 164 North Centre Street, was sentenced to seven months and one day in the House of Correction yesterday after he was found guilty of assault by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Van Meter appeared in Magistrates Court on a charge of assaulting Nancy Sampsell, formerly of 164 North Centre Street.

He is presently serving a 10-day sentence in County Jail for creating a disturbance at a local restaurant. The latter sentence was imposed by Magistrate Weatherholt after a hearing in Police Court on Thursday.

Assembly Gets Bill To Outlaw Trading Stamps

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Legislation was introduced Friday to outlaw trading stamps in Maryland.

The bill was sponsored by Del. Murray Abramson, D-Balto 4th.

It would make unlawful the issurance of any stamp or similar device in connection with retail sales which could be redeemed for merchandise, service and cash.

Exempted would be coupons on merchandise and in newspapers or magazines.

Abramson, chairman of the Baltimore City delegation, said the bill was an outgrowth of a study conducted by a group of residents in his district.

"They felt that the entire idea of the trading stamps is wrong," Abramson said. "The public is not really getting something for nothing."

The group felt the cost of the stamps is reflected in the higher price of the goods, Abramson said.

Beall, Miller Propose New District Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A congressional redistricting bill, the ninth of the current session, was introduced in the General Assembly Friday by Dels. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, and James R. Miller Jr., R-Montgomery.

Beall, the minority leader in the House of Delegates, said he thought the plan had a chance of passage and would not be taken to referendum.

The proposal would create separate districts out of Montgomery and Prince Georges counties and reduce Baltimore City's districts from three to two. Carroll County would be added to the 6th district of Western Maryland.

"The city won't be very happy," Beall acknowledged. "But the city isn't growing and other sections of the state are.

"However, we proposed leaving the 1st District as it is, without adding Harford or any other county to it. That should make the bill palatable to the Eastern Shore counties."

The bill is similar to amendments which Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, plans to offer in the Senate on the administration's redistricting bill.

The administration plan, which would create a new district out of Howard, Carroll, Anne Arundel and Calvert counties, was approved by an 8-4 vote of the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee. The vote followed party lines, with Democrats favoring the administration proposal.

The unidentified woman and two of her children were taken to Memorial Hospital and the third child was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Hospital attendants were still reviving the victim at midnight, but police said they understood none was in critical condition.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

Mrs. Amelia Amatangelo, 45, of 498 McMullen Highway, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night with multiple injuries received in an auto accident earlier in the evening on Route 28 south of Romney, W. Va.

No details of the accident were available last night, but it was reported the injured woman was with her husband, Frank B. Amatangelo, and her son. She was said to be in "satisfactory" condition last night.

Senate Plans Another Vote On Credit Bill

Protests Made Over Pressure

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Protests over pressure to switch votes were voiced Friday in the Maryland Senate in a move by the Democratic floor leader to allow retailers to charge up to 18 per cent on credit accounts.

The Senate voted 17-10 Wednesday against the fixed charges on installments and other credit systems. Sen H. Winship Wheatley, D-Prince Georges, called for another vote and it was scheduled for next Thursday.

"I've heard rumblings that a lot of pressure is being put on senators to switch their votes," said Sen. James A. Pine D-Balto County, who had been an outspoken foe of the bill.

"I think the Senate ought to legislate on principle, not pressure.

Lots Of Pressure

"When a money bill rolls around, there's a lot of pressure put on," said Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset. "I realize this is one of the biggest money bills ever introduced in the Senate."

Phoebus predicted the senators will be harassed by the bill in years to come if they change their minds and approve it.

"I remember three years ago when votes were switched and a bill passed only to be vetoed," Phoebus said. "it's all harassing people and two men have been arrested."

Phoebus was referring to a savings and loan regulatory bill vetoed by Gov. Tawes. House Speaker A. Gordon Boone and Charles Culver, former Baltimore County delegate, were indicted recently in connection with operation of a firm that insured accounts in savings and loan associations.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, also commented he was "receiving many phone calls on this weighty matter."

Gov. Tawes has said he favors the bill which would impose maximum interest rates on charge accounts and time payments for the first time in Maryland.

Opponents claim the proposed ceilings are too high in comparison with the state's limit of 6 per cent on money loans.

Stage Is Set

Retail stores would be allowed to charge 18 per cent interest a year on accounts up to $1,000 and 12 per cent for over $1,000. The maximum on installments would be 10 or 12 per cent depending on the price of the merchandise.

There also is a state limit ranging from 9 to 15 per cent on interest for installment buying of automobiles.

The Senate set the stage for another scrap Monday night over congressional redistricting. It will choose between proposals by the Democrats and Republicans for creating a district for an eighth congressman.

Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, offered his alternative Friday. Its principal changes would reduce the number of congressmen elected in Baltimore City from three to two and give Montgomery and Prince Georges each one.

The Democrats would set up Carroll, Calvert, Howard and Anne Arundel as the new district.

Dr. Theodore A. Bookhout, 31, has joined the University of Maryland's Natural Resources Institute as research assistant professor at the institute's LaVale office.

Dr. Bookhout will be engaged in wildlife research in Western Maryland, according to Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the institute.

The new research assistant professor is a native of Salem, Ill. He earned his B. A. degree in botany from Southern Illinois University. He recently received his Ph.D. degree in wildlife management from the University of Michigan.

Dr. Bookhout was employed as a game biologist by the Michigan Department of Conservation for three-and-one-half years. He also was a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources prior to joining the Natural Resources Institute here.

Although his employment here dates from February 1, Dr. Bookhout, his wife, Jean, and four-year-old son, Paul, moved to 935 Weires Avenue, LaVale, only yesterday.

Dr. Bookhout's appointment brings the staff of the institute's office at 22 National Highway to five. Other members are Paul C. Herndon, conservation education specialist; Ventis Plume, research assistant in forestry; Richard T. Reppert, research associate in fish biology, and Theodore Thoerig, research technician.

Court Is Asked To Invalidate Md. Unit Vote

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation asked the U.S. District Court Friday to invalidate Marylands' unit vote system in primary elections.

The Maryland Senate defeated a bill this session that would have repealed the 53-year-old system of nominating statewide candidates by the unit vote.

The committee will argue in its suit that the unit vote violates the federal constitution which guarantees equal voting rights to the individual and provides that U.S. senators shall be elected by the people.

A federal court has already ruled that a similar unit system in Georgia was unconstitutional, and the Supreme Court is considering an appeal from that ruling.

In Maryland, the unit system is used to nominate U.S. senators, the governor, comptroller, and attorney general. A candidate with the highest popular vote in any given district receives the total number of units for that district equal to the district's representation in the legislature.

The committee claims in its suit that this is unfair because "under the unit rule system, political subdivisions containing less than 31 per cent of the population of Maryland are given a majority of the total unit votes. . ."

Bill Is Enacted

Senate Bill 260, sponsored by Senator George R. Hughes Jr. was enacted Thursday. It makes it unlawful for anyone other than the State Department of Assessments to sell maps prepared by the department.

AFS To Host 70 Foreign Students Here

The Cumberland Chapter of the American Field Service is making plans to house and entertain 70 foreign students who will visit Cumberland this summer.

Robert Williams, general secretary of Central YMCA, is chairman of the committee on housing, and persons interested to keeping any of the students while they are here July 13-15 should contact him at the YMCA.

The local AFS chapter also met recently with Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, concerning the possibility of a foreign student attending Allegany High School.

Mrs. Robert Olt, a member of the local chapter and a native of Stockholm, Sweden, told those at the meeting she is very enthusiastic over the foreign exchange program, since she was a foreign student in this country a few years ago on a scholarship.

Mrs. Olt said "This program" will do much more than help a student, it will help our country show her true self.

"After a student has seen Americans as they are, not as they appear in movies, he can return to his homeland and tell his friends what he has seen. Being foreign-born myself, I know what Europeans think and have thought about my adopted country, and it has been my pleasure to tell of the true United States to friends in my native Sweden and other European countries."

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Walter E. Dyck, Miss Orpha Pritchard, Mrs. William C. Holbrook, Mrs. Leland B. Ransom, Mrs. John Searles, Mrs. Norma Young, Mrs. Glenn E. Martin, Mrs. Ronald Rosher, Mrs. L. Michael Glick, John R. Snyder, Tom Miller, Miss Elsa Duke, Mrs. A. Gene Moore and Mrs. Williams.

State Health Board Votes Against One-Man Control Of Mental Hygiene Work

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene voted unanimously Friday to oppose a bill that would place community psychiatric services directly under the state mental hygiene commissioner.

The community services are now under the authority of the Department of Mental Health which, along with the Department of Mental Health now administers the institutional program for the mentally ill and the state board oversees the functions of both departments.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, state mental hygiene commissioner, supported the bill Thursday at a General Assembly hearing, urging the legislators to place all the state's mental health services under his jurisdiction.

However, Dr. Russell P. Smith, a board member, noted Friday that the bill would allow the commissioner to receive and spend federal matching funds and to form rules and regulations for the program.

"It is an extremely dangerous bill which would take away prerogatives from this board and give them outright to any individual," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Aaron A. Deitz, board chairman, said the board opposed the bill generally because "it would abolish a great deal of the authority of this board."

Virginia Man Arrested Here For Forgery

Also Faces Charges In Other States

A Richmond, Va., man was arrested yesterday morning as he was attempting to cash a check at a local bank. Police said the check had been forged.

Being held in the County Jail is Earl Erwin Boettcher Jr., 32, of 1305 Enfield Avenue, Richmond.

Boettcher was arrested by City Police Officers Clarence D. Valentine, P. C. Jenkins and Ernest M. Powell as he was attempting to cash a check at the Liberty Trust Company.

Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, said Boettcher was equipped with a number of checks from his employer, a magazine company, and had cashed two of the checks on Thursday.

Tfc. Chabot said Boettcher used a forged check for $260 to establish an account at the local bank on Thursday. Several hours later he cashed a check for $114.30 at the LaVale branch of the Liberty Trust Company and deposited $40 of the amount to his account.

Upon checking the records, bank officials became suspicious and were on the lookout for the Virginia man.

Boettcher, who is wanted on similar charges in North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, will be questioned Monday in the state's attorney's office.

There was no attempt to take other articles from the store, police were told.

Police said the intruders may have been frightened away from one of the places, as they failed to take the change after breaking open a dispensing machine.

Six Defendants Enter Pleas In S&L Fraud Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — Six men charged with mail fraud in Maryland savings and loan operations pleaded innocent or had pleas of innocence entered for them Friday in U.S. District Court.

The accused, arraigned before Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, were indicted by a federal grand jury Feb. 19 in connection with the operation of Security Financial Insurance Corp. (SFIC), an insurer of savings and loan firms. They are:

A. Gordon Boone, 52, who stepped down temporarily as speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates after he was indicted; D. Oran Mensik, 53, Chicago financier; Henry McGurren, 50, Chicago lawyer; D. Spencer Grow 55, savings and loan promoter from Provo, Utah; Charles V. Culver, 58, former Democratic Maryland delegate from Baltimore County, and J. Thomas Ellicott, 35, former law partner of Boone.

Maximum 45 Years

SFIC, the only commercial firm approved in Maryland to insure savings and loan deposits, was ordered into receivership last July. Each of the accused could receive a maximum penalty of 45 years imprisonment and a $9,000 fine if convicted on all counts.

The indictment named Boone and Ellicott as incorporators, directors and attorneys for SFIC; Culver as an incorporator, director and president; McGurren as a promoter, and Mensik and Grow as those who controlled the 10 savings and loan firms which would benefit from SFIC's formation and advertising methods.

In a courtroom packed with spectators for another case, U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings told the court at the arraignment: "Because of the importance of this case, the ends of justice require a speedy trial for all of the defendants."

Tydings also proposed a timetable of April 1 for defense motions, April 19 for government answers and briefs, April 26 for argument of all motions, May 20 for selection of the jury and the last Monday in May or the first week of June for opening statements of the trial.

Defense attorneys generally agreed to the timetable except for the trial date, which some felt was too early.

Two Not Present

Of the six defendants, only Mensik and McGurren were not present. Judge Watkins said Mensik "had a heavy cold and was exhausted," while McGurren is to be arraigned next Friday or earlier.

Ellicott, who is scheduled for federal trial March 11 on another mail-fraud indictment, said he had not had time to obtain counsel because of the other case. Noting "it has taken the government three years to bring the indictment," Ellicott asked to delay his plea until the other trial was over.

When Judge Watkins finally directed the clerk to enter a plea of innocent for Ellicott, the attorney said: "Is the court entering a plea in my behalf? Then I object."

Boone said nothing beyond the formal answers required of him. Asked if he understood the charges against him, he replied: "I do," and when asked how he pleaded he said, "not guilty."

Culver, like Boone, pleaded for himself. The judge directed that a plea be entered for Grow after the Utah man said he only partly understood the charges against him.

$14,000 Grant For City Sewage Work Approved

Two Applications Are Being Held

The approval of $14,000 in grants to Cumberland was announced yesterday by Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md.

He said he was advised by the Urban Renewal Administration that the grants are to be used to assist in extending sewer facilities here.

The announcement did not list the specific projects for which the federal aid was being granted.

In recent months, the City of Cumberland has submitted applications for matching federal aid for a number of projects under the Accelerated Public Works Program.

They include applications for aid toward the Haddon Avenue, Golden Lane and McKinley Avenue sewer extension projects.

Aid has also been asked for the rehabilitation of the gate house at the Lake Gordon filter plant and for the Frederick Street storm sewer extension project.

In recent weeks, the Housing and Home Finance Agency has notified the city that two of its applications are being held on file in the office without examination, since applications being processed and on file will exhaust available funds.

Delegate Asks Regulation Of Party Dinners

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A freshman legislator proposed Friday that political parties be required to disclose the names of persons buying tickets to fund-raising functions.

Del. Frank J. McCourt, D-Balto 2nd, said the Corrupt Practices Act requires public listing of campaign contributions but does not cover such things as testimonial dinners.

"The fund-raising functions are a guise or a front for getting around this act," the 27-year-old delegate said. "Now is the time to find out where all the money is coming from."

McCourt said he will introduce a bill Monday night aimed at the so-called "sucker list" of ticket purchasers. It would require a public report of all tickets sold that cost $20 or more.

"Let's not kid ourselves," McCourt said. "Blocks in excess of $10,000 are being purchased, not by people feared of having their names appear before the public, but by people either prohibited from contributing or those pressure groups and special interest groups that work underhanded obviously for favors they expect to derive in the future.

"This bill is not intended to cover or impair true testimonials, but the fund-raising testimonials that have gotten so out of hand," he said.

Vepco's directors last month approved a construction budget of $89,000,000. Mr. McDowell pointed out that this is necessary to provide new generation, transmission and distribution facilities. Included in the budget were expenditures for construction work on the first of two 500,000 kilowatt units at Mt. Storm and an allocation toward the second unit. The first unit is scheduled for completion in 1965.

March Comes In Like Lion; Snow Forecast

Many Minor Wrecks Reported In Section

If yesterday's weather holds true to the old forecaster's tale about March coming in like a lion and going out like a lamb, the area should have nice weather at the end of the month.

Just about every type of precipitation was experienced here —snow, sleet, rain and freezing rain—and more of the same is forecast for today.

Snow began to fall in the Cumberland area yesterday about 7:15 a. m. and approximately 3½ inches was recorded last night.

Less Snow In Garrett

The mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain caused roads to become covered and the emergency snow plan was put into effect in both Allegany and Garrett counties, even though Garrett County received only about an inch of new snow.

The State Roads Commission said last night crews were still out in both counties but highways were "not in too bad shape."

The snow turned into rain early last night and the SRC said roads were covered but slushy. However some roads in the eastern section of Garrett County were reported slippery in spots.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said roads in that area were slick last night and drivers were urged to use caution.

The Everett detachment of the Pennsylvania State Police said there were a number of minor accidents on the turnpike, but no one was injured. Six inches of new snow fell in that area yesterday and several more inches were predicted during the night.

Several Accidents

Police at Bedford also reported a number of minor accidents with no injuries. The turnpike was said to be partially covered and crews were out last night plowing and cindering.

The Cumberland Police Department also reported at least five minor accidents that were attributed to the icy streets yesterday and there were several traffic tie-ups throughout the city due to the snow and sleet.

City Street Department crews were kept busy throughout the day plowing and applying cinders and abrasives to the streets.

Today's forecast calls for somewhat warmer temperatures with a chance of light snow or rain. The mercury hovered around the freezing mark most of the day yesterday and was still at 32 degrees late last night.

Bloodmobile Unit To Make Two Visits Next Week

Citing the constant demand for blood for illness and operations which require many transfusions, a Red Cross spokesman said yesterday, walk-in donors will be very welcome at either visit of the bloodmobile unit.

Assembly Gets Bill To Outlaw Trading Stamps

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Legislation was introduced Friday to outlaw trading stamps in Maryland.

The bill was sponsored by Del. Murray Abramson, D-Balto 4th.

It would make unlawful the issurance of any stamp or similar device in connection with retail sales which could be redeemed for merchandise, service and cash.

Exempted would be coupons on merchandise and in newspapers or magazines.

Abramson, chairman of the Baltimore City delegation, said the bill was an outgrowth of a study conducted by a group of residents in his district.

"They felt that the entire idea of the trading stamps is wrong," Abramson said. "The public is not really getting something for nothing."

The group felt the cost of the stamps is reflected in the higher price of the goods, Abramson said.

Beall, Miller Propose New District Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A congressional redistricting bill, the ninth of the current session, was introduced in the General Assembly Friday by Dels. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, and James R. Miller Jr., R-Montgomery.

Beall, the minority leader in the House of Delegates, said he thought the plan had a chance of passage and would not be taken to referendum.

The proposal would create separate districts out of Montgomery and Prince Georges counties and reduce Baltimore City's districts from three to two. Carroll County would be added to the 6th district of Western Maryland.

"The city won't be very happy," Beall acknowledged. "But the city isn't growing and other sections of the state are.

"However, we proposed leaving the 1st District as it is, without adding Harford or any other county to it. That should make the bill palatable to the Eastern Shore counties."

The bill is similar to amendments which Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, plans to offer in the Senate on the administration's redistricting bill.

The administration plan, which would create a new district out of Howard, Carroll, Anne Arundel and Calvert counties, was approved by an 8-4 vote of the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee. The vote followed party lines, with Democrats favoring the administration proposal.

Senate Plans Another Vote On Credit Bill

Protests Made Over Pressure

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Protests over pressure to switch votes were voiced Friday in the Maryland Senate in a move by the Democratic floor leader to allow retailers to charge up to 18 per cent on credit accounts.

The Senate voted 17-10 Wednesday against the fixed charges on installments and other credit systems. Sen H. Winship Wheatley, D-Prince Georges, called for another vote and it was scheduled for next Thursday.

"I've heard rumblings that a lot of pressure is being put on senators to switch their votes," said Sen. James A. Pine D-Balto County, who had been an outspoken foe of the bill.

"I think the Senate ought to legislate on principle, not pressure.

Lots Of Pressure

"When a money bill rolls around, there's a lot of pressure put on," said Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset. "I realize this is one of the biggest money bills ever introduced in the Senate."

Phoebus predicted the senators will be harassed by the bill in years to come if they change their minds and approve it.

"I remember three years ago when votes were switched and a bill passed only to be vetoed," Phoebus said. "it's all harassing people and two men have been arrested."

Phoebus was referring to a savings and loan regulatory bill vetoed by Gov. Tawes. House Speaker A. Gordon Boone and Charles Culver, former Baltimore County delegate, were indicted recently in connection with operation of a firm that insured accounts in savings and loan associations.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, also commented he was "receiving many phone calls on this weighty matter."

Gov. Tawes has said he favors the bill which would impose maximum interest rates on charge accounts and time payments for the first time in Maryland.

Opponents claim the proposed ceilings are too high in comparison with the state's limit of 6 per cent on money loans.

Stage Is Set

Retail stores would be allowed to charge 18 per cent interest a year on accounts up to $1,000 and 12 per cent for over $1,000. The maximum on installments would be 10 or 12 per cent depending on the price of the merchandise.

There also is a state limit ranging from 9 to 15 per cent on interest for installment buying of automobiles.

The Senate set the stage for another scrap Monday night over congressional redistricting. It will choose between proposals by the Democrats and Republicans for creating a district for an eighth congressman.

Sen. Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, offered his alternative Friday. Its principal changes would reduce the number of congressmen elected in Baltimore City from three to two and give Montgomery and Prince Georges each one.

The Democrats would set up Carroll, Calvert, Howard and Anne Arundel as the new district.

Wildlife Researcher Joins Laboratory At LaVale

Dr. Theodore A. Bookhout, 31, has joined the University of Maryland's Natural Resources Institute as research assistant professor at the institute's LaVale office.

Dr. Bookhout will be engaged in wildlife research in Western Maryland, according to Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the institute.

The new research assistant professor is a native of Salem, Ill. He earned his B. A. degree in botany from Southern Illinois University. He recently received his Ph.D. degree in wildlife management from the University of Michigan.

Dr. Bookhout was employed as a game biologist by the Michigan Department of Conservation for three-and-one-half years. He also was a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan's School of Natural Resources prior to joining the Natural Resources Institute here.

He is not a newcomer to Maryland, having been stationed at Fort Detrick near Frederick in 1954-56 while in the service.

Although his employment here dates from February 1, Dr. Bookhout, his wife, Jean, and four-year-old son, Paul, moved to 935 Weires Avenue, LaVale, only yesterday.

Dr. Bookhout's appointment brings the staff of the institute's office at 22 National Highway to five. Other members are Paul C. Herndon, conservation education specialist; Ventis Plume, research assistant in forestry; Richard T. Reppert, research associate in fish biology, and Theodore Thoerig, research technician.

Auto Licenses Are Selling At Fast Rate

Automobile license tags are selling better this year then they did the same period last year, according to William B. Orndorff, tax collector, who is in charge of the sale at Allegany County Court House.

The sale of license began Monday and 2,368 sets were sold this week compared with 1,081 for the first time in Maryland.

Approximately 600 sets were sold yesterday despite the bad weather, Mr. Orndorff said.

Residents are reminded that the Court House will not be open today for the sale of tags. However, it will be open on the last three Saturdays in the month, March 16, 23 and 30.

Court Is Asked To Invalidate Md. Unit Vote

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation asked the U.S. District Court Friday to invalidate Marylands' unit vote system in primary elections.

The Maryland Senate defeated a bill this session that would have repealed the 53-year-old system of nominating statewide candidates by the unit vote.

The committee will argue in its suit that the unit vote violates the federal constitution which guarantees equal voting rights to the individual and provides that U.S. senators shall be elected by the people.

A federal court has already ruled that a similar unit system in Georgia was unconstitutional, and the Supreme Court is considering an appeal from that ruling.

In Maryland, the unit system is used to nominate U.S. senators, the governor, comptroller, and attorney general. A candidate with the highest popular vote in any given district receives the total number of units for that district equal to the district's representation in the legislature.

The committee claims in its suit that this is unfair because "under the unit rule system, political subdivisions containing less than 31 per cent of the population of Maryland are given a majority of the total unit votes. . ."

Bill Is Enacted

Senate Bill 260, sponsored by Senator George R. Hughes Jr. was enacted Thursday. It makes it unlawful for anyone other than the State Department of Assessments to sell maps prepared by the department.

AFS To Host 70 Foreign Students Here

The Cumberland Chapter of the American Field Service is making plans to house and entertain 70 foreign students who will visit Cumberland this summer.

Robert Williams, general secretary of Central YMCA, is chairman of the committee on housing, and persons interested to keeping any of the students while they are here July 13-15 should contact him at the YMCA.

The local AFS chapter also met recently with Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, concerning the possibility of a foreign student attending Allegany High School.

Mrs. Robert Olt, a member of the local chapter and a native of Stockholm, Sweden, told those at the meeting she is very enthusiastic over the foreign exchange program, since she was a foreign student in this country a few years ago on a scholarship.

Mrs. Olt said "This program" will do much more than help a student, it will help our country show her true self.

"After a student has seen Americans as they are, not as they appear in movies, he can return to his homeland and tell his friends what he has seen. Being foreign-born myself, I know what Europeans think and have thought about my adopted country, and it has been my pleasure to tell of the true United States to friends in my native Sweden and other European countries."

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Walter E. Dyck, Miss Orpha Pritchard, Mrs. William C. Holbrook, Mrs. Leland B. Ransom, Mrs. John Searles, Mrs. Norma Young, Mrs. Glenn E. Martin, Mrs. Ronald Rosher, Mrs. L. Michael Glick, John R. Snyder, Tom Miller, Miss Elsa Duke, Mrs. A. Gene Moore and Mrs. Williams.

State Health Board Votes Against One-Man Control Of Mental Hygiene Work

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene voted unanimously Friday to oppose a bill that would place community psychiatric services directly under the state mental hygiene commissioner.

The community services are now under the authority of the Department of Mental Health which, along with the Department of Mental Health now administers the institutional program for the mentally ill and the state board oversees the functions of both departments.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, state mental hygiene commissioner, supported the bill Thursday at a General Assembly hearing, urging the legislators to place all the state's mental health services under his jurisdiction.

However, Dr. Russell P. Smith, a board member, noted Friday that the bill would allow the commissioner to receive and spend federal matching funds and to form rules and regulations for the program.

"It is an extremely dangerous bill which would take away prerogatives from this board and give them outright to any individual," Dr. Smith said.

Dr. Aaron A. Deitz, board chairman, said the board opposed the bill generally because "it would abolish a great deal of the authority of this board."

Virginia Man Arrested Here For Forgery

Also Faces Charges In Other States

A Richmond, Va., man was arrested yesterday morning as he was attempting to cash a check at a local bank. Police said the check had been forged.

Being held in the County Jail is Earl Erwin Boettcher Jr., 32, of 1305 Enfield Avenue, Richmond.

Boettcher was arrested by City Police Officers Clarence D. Valentine, P. C. Jenkins and Ernest M. Powell as he was attempting to cash a check at the Liberty Trust Company.

Tfc. Bernard J. Chabot, criminal investigator for the State Police, said Boettcher was equipped with a number of checks from his employer, a magazine company, and had cashed two of the checks on Thursday.

Tfc. Chabot said Boettcher used a forged check for $260 to establish an account at the local bank on Thursday. Several hours later he cashed a check for $114.30 at the LaVale branch of the Liberty Trust Company and deposited $40 of the amount to his account.

Upon checking the records, bank officials became suspicious and were on the lookout for the Virginia man.

Boettcher, who is wanted on similar charges in North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, will be questioned Monday in the state's attorney's office.

Narcotics Stolen From Drug Store

The Detective Bureau yesterday was investigating the forced entry and theft of narcotics from a drug store here over the night.

The Ford's Drug Store at 234 Baltimore Street, police were told, was entered after closing time Thursday night.

Police said the intruder or intruders forced open the front door and took a quantity of morphine and codein from the narcotics cupboard.

There was no attempt to take other articles from the store, police were told.

A small amount of change was taken in the forced entry of two Wineow Street business establishments Thursday night.

Police said the intruders may have been frightened away from one of the places, as they failed to take the change after breaking open a dispensing machine.

Six Defendants Enter Pleas In S&L Fraud Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — Six men charged with mail fraud in Maryland savings and loan operations pleaded innocent or had pleas of innocence entered for them Friday in U.S. District Court.

The accused, arraigned before Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, were indicted by a federal grand jury Feb. 19 in connection with the operation of Security Financial Insurance Corp. (SFIC), an insurer of savings and loan firms. They are:

A. Gordon Boone, 52, who stepped down temporarily as speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates after he was indicted; D. Oran Mensik, 53, Chicago financier; Henry McGurren, 50, Chicago lawyer; D. Spencer Grow 55, savings and loan promoter from Provo, Utah; Charles V. Culver, 58, former Democratic Maryland delegate from Baltimore County, and J. Thomas Ellicott, 35, former law partner of Boone.

Maximum 45 Years

SFIC, the only commercial firm approved in Maryland to insure savings and loan deposits, was ordered into receivership last July. Each of the accused could receive a maximum penalty of 45 years imprisonment and a $9,000 fine if convicted on all counts.

The indictment named Boone and Ellicott as incorporators, directors and attorneys for SFIC; Culver as an incorporator, director and president; McGurren as a promoter, and Mensik and Grow as those who controlled the 10 savings and loan firms which would benefit from SFIC's formation and advertising methods.

In a courtroom packed with spectators for another case, U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings told the court at the arraignment: "Because of the importance of this case, the ends of justice require a speedy trial for all of the defendants."

Tydings also proposed a timetable of April 1 for defense motions, April 19 for government answers and briefs, April 26 for argument of all motions, May 20 for selection of the jury and the last Monday in May or the first week of June for opening statements of the trial.

Defense attorneys generally agreed to the timetable except for the trial date, which some felt was too early.

Two Not Present

Of the six defendants, only Mensik and McGurren were not present. Judge Watkins said Mensik "had a heavy cold and was exhausted," while McGurren is to be arraigned next Friday or earlier.

Ellicott, who is scheduled for federal trial March 11 on another mail-fraud indictment, said he had not had time to obtain counsel because of the other case. Noting "it has taken the government three years to bring the indictment," Ellicott asked to delay his plea until the other trial was over.

When Judge Watkins finally directed the clerk to enter a plea of innocent for Ellicott, the attorney said: "Is the court entering a plea in my behalf? Then I object."

Boone said nothing beyond the formal answers required of him. Asked if he understood the charges against him, he replied: "I do," and when asked how he pleaded he said, "not guilty."

Culver, like Boone, pleaded for himself. The judge directed that a plea be entered for Grow after the Utah man said he only partly understood the charges against him.

$14,000 Grant For City Sewage Work Approved

Two Applications Are Being Held

The approval of $14,000 in grants to Cumberland was announced yesterday by Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md.

He said he was advised by the Urban Renewal Administration that the grants are to be used to assist in extending sewer facilities here.

The announcement did not list the specific projects for which the federal aid was being granted.

In recent months, the City of Cumberland has submitted applications for matching federal aid for a number of projects under the Accelerated Public Works Program.

They include applications for aid toward the Haddon Avenue, Golden Lane and McKinley Avenue sewer extension projects.

Aid has also been asked for the rehabilitation of the gate house at the Lake Gordon filter plant and for the Frederick Street storm sewer extension project.

In recent weeks, the Housing and Home Finance Agency has notified the city that two of its applications are being held on file in the office without examination, since applications being processed and on file will exhaust available funds.

Delegate Asks Regulation Of Party Dinners

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A freshman legislator proposed Friday that political parties be required to disclose the names of persons buying tickets to fund-raising functions.

Del. Frank J. McCourt, D-Balto 2nd, said the Corrupt Practices Act requires public listing of campaign contributions but does not cover such things as testimonial dinners.

"The fund-raising functions are a guise or a front for getting around this act," the 27-year-old delegate said. "Now is the time to find out where all the money is coming from."

McCourt said he will introduce a bill Monday night aimed at the so-called "sucker list" of ticket purchasers. It would require a public report of all tickets sold that cost $20 or more.

"Let's not kid ourselves," McCourt said. "Blocks in excess of $10,000 are being purchased, not by people feared of having their names appear before the public, but by people either prohibited from contributing or those pressure groups and special interest groups that work underhanded obviously for favors they expect to derive in the future.

"This bill is not intended to cover or impair true testimonials, but the fund-raising testimonials that have gotten so out of hand," he said.

Vepco's directors last month approved a construction budget of $89,000,000. Mr. McDowell pointed out that this is necessary to provide new generation, transmission and distribution facilities. Included in the budget were expenditures for construction work on the first of two 500,000 kilowatt units at Mt. Storm and an allocation toward the second unit. The first unit is scheduled for completion in 1965.

Finds Producing Headache

In case you've wondered whatever happened to Buff Cobb, we are happy to report that the one-time big television star has turned Broadway producer. And she loves it.

Miss Cobb, with two partners, is producing a forthcoming revival of George Bernard Shaw's "Too True To Be Good." An all-star cast will appear in it—Lillian Gish, Cedric Hardwicke, Eileen Heckart, Glynis Johns, Ray Middleton, Robert Preston, Cyril Ritchard and David Wayne.

The arrangement of those names is one part of Miss Cobb's job. They are arranged, you will note, alphabetically. That was a tactful solution to the problem of keeping eight stars happy. But the worst is yet to come.

"The big problem," Buff says, "is the star dressing room. We have eight stars—who gets the big dressing room? I dread that decision."

"The hardest part is to say no,' she says. "My co-producer, Paul Vroom, calls me Ado Annie—I can't say no. But I've been practicing. Most producers tell an actor he's not right for a part in two minutes. I take an hour and a half and we wind up crying on each other's shoulders."

Raymond Burr is on-camera an estimated average 90 per cent of each "Perry Mason" show on the CBS Television Network.

TV Actress 'Earthy' As Film Star

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Carol Lynley a brunette?

Yes, the epitome of beautiful blondness has dyed her hair dark for a role in the forthcoming movie, "The Cardinal." And the result is a different girl—or, what a difference a dye makes.

She was rehearsing her dance number—a sexy tango for "The Cardinal" and it was hard to believe this was the same girl. As a blonde, she has been a figure on Broadway and television for some years now, even though she is only 21. With her fair skin and blue eyes, she has always projected the kind of sweetness you expect from a natural blonde, but seldom get.

But here she was, slinking her hips and thrusting out a provocative shoulder, and she looked about as sweet as the USS Valley Forge with every man at battle stations!

CAROL LYNLEY

"I feel kind of earthy this way," she said, looking kind of earthy. "But I'm not used to it. I keep a blond wig handy for emergencies. I am a natural blonde—my roots are ash blond—and I generally feel blond. As a brunette, I look older and more sophisticated."

The combination of the new hair color and her loss of weight—her face, in particular, has slimmed down—makes her seem like she could be the next Natalie Wood. Or Elizabeth Taylor.

"Some girls concentrate on acting and forget glamor," she says. "And some concentrate on glamor and forget acting. I'm trying to do both.

"How do you acquire glamor? For one thing I've started buying clothes. I can't wait to get to Rome—I'm going there for 'The Cardinal'—so I can get at those shops."

With that, the tango beat started again, and the brunette temptress slunk away for another series of undulations.

The combination of the new hair color and her loss of weight—her face, in particular, has slimmed down—makes her seem like she could be the next Natalie Wood. Or Elizabeth Taylor.

"Some girls concentrate on acting and forget glamor," she says. "And some concentrate on glamor and forget acting. I'm trying to do both.

"How do you acquire glamor? For one thing I've started buying clothes. I can't wait to get to Rome—I'm going there for 'The Cardinal'—so I can get at those shops."

With that, the tango beat started again, and the brunette temptress slunk away for another series of undulations.

Swimming Around The Channels

Ed Sullivan has now racked up more than a million miles of travel searching out talent for his CBS-TV show.

The "eternal beauty," Dolores Del Rio has signed for "Hotel Paradise," first of a series of original plays in a forthcoming CBS series.

Paul Lukas, who's rarely seen on TV will also be in the cast.

U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department's activities are coming in for dramatizing next fall via a new series on NBC. Robert Taylor will star.

Edmond O'Brien's 12-year-old daughter, Maria, made her TV debut March 2 on pop's "Sam Benedict" program.

Fiction, it seems, is no stranger than truth.

The Voices You Hear. If you think some of the characters in the animated "Top Cat" sound a lot like Arnold Stang, Allen Jenkins and Maurice "Doberman" Gosfield, it's only because that's who's doing the talking.

"I'm a Merchant of Menace," was Peter Lorre's soft spoken boast to Tennessee Ernie Ford commenting on a highly successful career as a chiller.

How did Donald Voorhees of the "Telephone Hour" start his career? Oddly enough, he didn't come from left field somewhere. He started as a conductor directing the Eddie Cantor "Broadway Brevities" show — and he was only 17 at the time!

Did you know Perry Mason is now broadcast in 43 other countries?

Roberta Shore of "The Virginian" became the first girl ever to be named an "Honorary Cadet" of St. John's Military Academy in Delafield, Wisconsin.

Swimming Around The Channels

Ed Sullivan has now racked up more than a million miles of travel searching out talent for his CBS-TV show.

The "eternal beauty," Dolores Del Rio has signed for "Hotel Paradise," first of a series of original plays in a forthcoming CBS series.

Paul Lukas, who's rarely seen on TV will also be in the cast.

U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department's activities are coming in for dramatizing next fall via a new series on NBC. Robert Taylor will star.

Edmond O'Brien's 12-year-old daughter, Maria, made her TV debut March 2 on pop's "Sam Benedict" program.

Fiction, it seems, is no stranger than truth.

The Voices You Hear. If you think some of the characters in the animated "Top Cat" sound a lot like Arnold Stang, Allen Jenkins and Maurice "Doberman" Gosfield, it's only because that's who's doing the talking.

"I'm a Merchant of Menace," was Peter Lorre's soft spoken boast to Tennessee Ernie Ford commenting on a highly successful career as a chiller.

How did Donald Voorhees of the "Telephone Hour" start his career? Oddly enough, he didn't come from left field somewhere. He started as a conductor directing the Eddie Cantor "Broadway Brevities" show — and he was only 17 at the time!

Did you know Perry Mason is now broadcast in 43 other countries?

Roberta Shore of "The Virginian" became the first girl ever to be named an "Honorary Cadet" of St. John's Military Academy in Delafield, Wisconsin.
